THE powers of government and finance did something about the shrinkage in stock values and public confidence yesterday. A lower income tax was announced. And later came a lowering of the re-discount rate to 4½ per cent. All that will help.

The important thing is for the public to come out of the hysteria and realize that the foolishness of a few gamblers does not justify throwing away securities for less than their value.

Don't gamble, and don't be panic stricken.

Brokers' loans, borrowed for stock investment and speculation, dropped seven hundred million dollars in a week—a good "bull" point.

General Motors declared an extra dividend of 30 cents; that will give stockholders in a few days $12,900,000 more than they would have had ordinarily. That was cheerful news.

All kinds of plus signs appeared in the stock list.

Up 5, up 10¼, up 13¾, up 7, up 17. It was a regular up-up day, a sort of "excelsior" poem in Wall Street.

Those that had mourned rejoiced. And some of the bears that had rejoiced mourned.

By way of comfort, a Wall Street writer tells you:

The panic of 1837 came to an end.

The panic of 1857 came to an end.

The panic of 1873 came to an end.

The panic of 1893 came to an end.

The panic of 1907 came to an end.

And the panic of 1929 will come to an end.

Certainly, it may have ended now. It wasn't a panic based on bad economic conditions that usually cause panics. It was a toppling over of pyramided gambling that had to topple.

Panics come to an end, but unfortunately, human foolishness does not come to an end.

The governments of Turkey and Persia protest against "misrepresentations by American rug and carpet manufacturers, marketing products under Oriental names."

No American merchant of consequence misrepresents goods.

Americans are manufacturing rugs and carpets, superb in color and wearing qualities, that will take the place of Oriental rugs in time.

Ask James Simpson of Chicago for details.

Once, the Romans drank only Greek wines, thinking their own inferior.

Later, French aristocrats accepted only Italian wines, although their own were admirable.

This country's wealthy would drink only French claret and champagne, although we made good wines here, until prohibition came along and sent the country back to the whiskey of Jefferson's day, only worse.

Before long, Americans will realise that their own rugs and carpets are as good as any in the world.

Charles E. Hughes made a good speech on Wednesday, demanding more generous endowment of women's education.

Seven leading women's colleges have not one-tenth the endowment of the seven leading men's colleges.

That is extremely foolish, the mothers of the human race are at least 10 times as important as the fathers.

What women learn, they remember, and tell to their children. What men learn, they forget, and don't tell anybody.

Venizelos, prime minister and ablest man in Greece, knows what airplanes will mean when war comes.

He will establish a separate air ministry, and run it himself.

President Hoover, able engineer, ought to have a separate air ministry as one of three branches of a national defense system, and be his own air minister. Nobody could do the work better. A sub-secretary could look after details.

Just now, as you know, the Red Cross is making a drive for more members and more money. The President urges all to join.

Some busy gentlemen in Wall Street felt uneasy yesterday when a huge Red Cross flag was seen floating over the Stock Exchange. It recalled, painfully, a battle, war and sudden death. However, prices went up, so the flag was a good omen.

The Senate, refusing to adjourn on November 23, by a vote of 51 to 34, will go on working at the tariff.

European countries, afraid of higher duties, had rejoiced to hear of the adjournment, and a more or less feeble move to boycott Uncle Sam was abandoned. It may be taken up again.

GARRETT TO COME BACK ON FORCE

Emphatically Declares He Has No Grudge; Waits Only Good Health

Breaking the silence of months, former Patrolman Oliver B. Garrett, deposed head of the headquarters liquor squad, in an exclusive interview with the Boston Evening American today declared he intends to return to active duty.

Inspired apparently by Senator Joseph J. Mulhern's latest attack on Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson, Garrett emerged from his retirement and demonstrated a Pollyanna-like attitude which amazed the veteran reporter who talked with him.

For many years a stormy petrel, Garrett declared that he had nothing but respect and admiration for everyone in the department, and had never borne any ill will against his superiors.

He said Commissioner Wilson was justified in transferring him from acting head of the liquor squad to duty as a patrolman on Division 2.

His only reason for retirement, he said, was because of his physical condition, which would not permit him to "stand the gaff" as a patrolman, and when his health permits he will return to active duty.

TALKS FREELY

There was no secret about his being pensioned, Garrett declared, and cited the fact that he had received a fractured skull in the line of duty.

Talking freely and voluminously, the former patrolman said he loved his work at headquarters, and particularly missed his "gang" who composed the raiding squad with him.

"There is nothing secret about my pension," he began. "It is generally agreed, and I know it for a fact, that unfortunately I got a

Gunman Is Shot by Officer

In a gun duel on Russell st., Arlington, today, Fedele Ferraro, 42, of Prescott st., was shot in the left leg by Special Officer Albert Zwinck, who then put the injured man in a police patrol and drove him to police headquarters.

His wound was dressed at the police station by Dr. Harold R. Webb, after which he was placed in a cell to await trial on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill.

Six shots were fired, three by Fedele, which went wild and three by Officer Zwinck. Two of Zwinck's bullets went wild.

A resident of Russell st. telephoned to police station that Ferraro was walking along the street brandishing a gun.

1ST NATIONAL IN NEW MERGER

Bridgeport, Ct., Nov. 15 (AP)—The merger of the Davey Brothers Chain Stores, Inc., with the First National Stores, Inc., of Boston, was announced today by Peter M. Davey, president of the former concern. Negotiations for the merger, Mr. Davey said, were completed yesterday in Boston between him and Charles H. Farnsworth, president of the First National Stores.

The Davey Brother Chain Stores Inc., has 120 stores scattered in 27 Connecticut communities. According to its last annual report the firm did business totalling $4,000,000. Its first store was established here 15 years ago. The First National Stores, Inc., has 2000 stores in New England.

COLLIER RAMS CRUISER OFF NANTUCKET

U. S. S. Marblehead Steams to Boston Navy Yard After Crash; Both Craft Damaged

The U. S. S. Marblehead, navy light cruiser, with 460 men aboard, was rammed by the S. S. Evansville, Boston collier, in a dense fog early today 40 miles north-northwest of Nantucket lightship.

Both ships were damaged. The Marblehead broadcast an appeal for aid from the Boston Navy Yard and the naval base at Newport.

Coast Guard boats and a navy tug were dispatched to her assistance but she reached Boston harbor under her own power.

The collier was bound from Boston to Norfolk in ballast. Her bow was shattered by the collision and she proceeded into New York.

The cruiser was rammed amidships portside, her plates buckling to the waterline. A whaleboat was carried away and a power boat damaged in the collision.

General alarm was sounded aboard the navy vessel and all members of the crew took their stations. As the ships drew apart the Marblehead's collision mat was rigged for lowering. It was not lowered because an investigation disclosed the ship was not leaking.

The fog signals of both ships were sounding and the Marblehead was making about 11 knots when the crash occurred near the shoals by Simms Ledge, about 26 miles from the Nantucket shore.

As the ships drew apart they established radio communication, the Evansville reporting to the navy vessel that her bow had been shat-

Afflicted Given Love and Care of Fr. Power

The second chapter of the remarkable story of Rev. Patrick J. Power, whose grave in Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden, has become a shrine of cures for hundreds of thousands of people during the last week, is published today.

CHAPTER II

WHILE he lived he loved children and was beloved by them.

In death, it may be, that bond has reached beyond the grave, drawing closer to the sure faith that was his own the unfortunates of life.

Love he had for all children and for the afflicted a compassion that knew no bounds. Fr. Power's niece, Mrs. Mary Power Gilden of 128 Chestnut st., Brookline, recalls this comment of her father, Michael Power, one of the three brothers of the priest:

"He was greatly interested in crippled and defective children, partly, perhaps, because he was not in good health himself."

That love and compassion were reflected all through his life. The biographer, piecing together facts and anecdotes provided by relatives, the few persons still living who recall him and garnered from such records as are available, is constantly confronted with them.

His devotion to the young of his parish in Chicopee, his tender solicitude for the chil-

LEGION TO FIX NEW HUB DATE

Because of the Jewish New Year being observed on September 22-23, the time for the 1930 National American Legion convention in Boston must be changed.

John W. Reth, chairman of the Massachusetts committee for the 1930 convention today telegraphed this information to the national executive committee now in session in Indianapolis. He advised National Comdr. O. L. Bodenhamer that the Jewish observance will take place on the first three days of the legion gathering, and thousands of veterans of that faith would be unable to attend the exservice men's meetings.

Gains Her Sight at Shrine, Then Prays for Others

Mrs. Mary Gill of Sycamore st., Somerville, obtained relief from faulty vision today at the grave of Father Power in Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden, and she had just put away her strong glasses at the shrine when a woman touched her arm.

"I am Jewish," the woman said. "Would you pray for my sick children?"

Mrs. Gill knelt down with the mother and her two children and recited prayers at the grave. Then she took the mother and children to All Souls' Chapel, where again she prayed with them.

BLIND LAME MAN WALKS IN RAIN AT SHRINE

Multitude, Praying in Downpour, Witnesses Marvelous Cures; Mute Boy Speaks

By PAUL WHELTON

It rained! Drenched the thousands of pilgrims standing in line, trickled from hats and noses, plastered the hair of women, rivuletted over sightless eye-sockets.

But the faith of the supplicants at the grave of the Rev. Patrick J. Power in Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden, was dampened not a bit—and the cures went on while 10,000 watched in the downpour.

It is noon and from some far tower comes the faint sounding of the hour. Only a drizzle now where before it had been deluge followed by deluge.

There sound the cries of women, overwrought, weeping. Umbrellas sink. At the shrine the swelling throng seethes in sudden excitement. The circle opens, forms a lane.

ANOTHER CURED:

"A cure! The man they carried in is cured!" Women running at the edge of the crowd, slip; one falling in the mud. Up again.

Out of the human lane, a man comes. Stepping rapidly, desperately. Stiff-legged strides, like the German goose-steps. Mud drips from his face, from his hair, streaked down over his forehead—rain and earth from the shrine.

Companions seize his arms, but he shakes them off. Strides again through the gasps. Slips and sloughs to the mud, staggers, recovers and bumps a tree—and encircles it with his arms.

Tony Cosci, who is blind and could not walk, is walking again, after two years. But he is still blind.

All the way from New York Cosci was brought by his father-in-law, Vincent Petrullo, and a friend, for the cure.

Father of four children, Cosci, whose home is in Mulberry st., on the East Side, was frustrated two years ago next New Year's, and so badly frozen that he lost his sight and the use of his legs.

Tomorrow Cosci will be at the shrine again, hoping that sight may be restored to his eyes. The eyes he filled with mud scooped from the miracle shrine of the long-dead priest!

Cures! The cure of little Michael Gordino, of Second st., East Cambridge. Mute since birth had been Michael until today when the shrieks of his mother rent the air at the shrine.

Cool is Michael as his head raises from the gravel and he wipes away the mud from his mouth to say, "Talk! Talk!" Thickly he says it, but he forms the words that all his life have refused to come.

Shrieks of the mother above the terest, but that she could proceed without danger with herself.

Capt. Ralph A. Koch, in command of the Marblehead, flashed first word to Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, commandant of Boston Navy Yard, in the following code message, which was not made public until the navy boat had reached Boston harbor:

NO ONE INJURED

"Collided in fog with steamship Evansville, Shipping Board. No injury to personnel of either ship. Extent of damage this ship undetermined. Will require docking. Evansville bound from Boston for Norfolk, Va., reported bow damaged slightly."

The navy tug Notoway was dispatched from Boston Navy Yard to meet the Marblehead.

The source of radio appeal for aid picked up at the New London naval base could not be determined. Capt. Koch denied that a distress signal was sent from Marblehead. Whatever its source it resulted in several Coast Guard craft being sent to the scene.

In command of Capt. Otto Meyer, the Evansville, 3844 tons gross as compared with the Marblehead's 7500, sailed from Boston in ballast with light freight yesterday. She carried a crew of 36 men.

SHIP'S BOW CRUSHED

Some time after the crash she wired her owners, Tracy Bros. of New York, that her stem had been shattered, but that she was proceeding into New York.

The Marblehead left the southern drill grounds on Hampton roads off the Virginia capes, on Wednesday, bound for Boston. She was under orders to steam a measured mile off Provincetown en route, if the maneuver did not interfere with the operations of submarines on that testing ground.

She was built in 1924 and carries the same name as the famous old cruiser that took part in the Spanish-American War. Her normal complement is 21 officers and 470 men.

Capt. Koch went into conference with Adm. Andrews immediately after the cruiser docked at the yard.

AUTOS ARRIVE IN ANTARCTIC

Deception Island, (Antarctica), Nov. 15—Via S. S. Melville and KUP, San Francisco Examiner, Wireless Station. Unloading is in full swing!

We have inspected things ashore in the one fine day that followed the mooring of the S. S. Melville.

Since then the weather has been bad. Fallen snow lay deep over Deception Island.

Conditions looked good. Our airplanes are safe and unscathed except one stabilizer which is slightly strained but can be easily repaired.

The supplies are in perfect shape.

Penguins with trustful familiarity watched with grave dignity the uncovering of the machines. Two seals on the beach, a few yards away, grunted and then, with awkward wrigglings, slithered into the waters.

A half gale sprang up during the second night and the wind force increased throughout the day, bringing rain and sleet conditions. It is miserably cold yet the work goes on.

Today we unloaded the automobiles and to Cheeseman goes the credit for driving the first ordinary passenger automobile in Antarctica. Other vessels have been here before, but none such as was driven from the edge of the barge.

The wind and sleet continue.

Alleged Bigamist Held in Providence

Providence, Nov. 15 (AP)—Joseph Smith of this city, who police say has a wife and child in New York city and another, a Higganum, Ct., girl, in this city, today was sentenced to 30 days in jail on a charge of assaulting his wife here and was bound over in $4000 bail on a bigamy charge.

Under the name of Joseph T. Kazimir, according to Inspector James J. Rogers, Smith married Charlotte M. Symington in New York March 23, 1928. On April 15 he married Josephine Havco of Connecticut.

Garrett to Rejoin Police Force

fractured skull in the line of duty.

"I don't know whether Senator Mulhern known it, but if my health was such that I could go back into service I would be glad to do so. I enjoyed my work at headquarters and I liked the associations, but I am afraid I would not fare so well if I encountered a fight as a beat patrolman.

"You can tell the world it is no pleasure for me to loaf and I would much prefer being back with my gang. If anybody thinks I enjoy this process of recuperation, they are more optimistic about life than I am. I'm toeing as hard as I can to rest up and regain my health, and I sincerely hope I will be able to accommodate my critics by going back to work in the police department some day.

KNEW HIS RACKET

"It has been declared that I was not only in poor health but was irresponsible. That may be true but I'm going to tell you one thing and that is if I didn't know anything else I know my racket as a liquor officer at headquarters.

"There was only one thing that bothered me and that was my physical condition. If the newspapers hadn't hounded me so I would have applied for my pension long ago, but it goes against the grain to quit and I stuck it out as long as I could. I want to say again I liked my job and the gang which was with me. I left the department without saying much but with feeling in my heart for each and every one of them.

"The impression has prevailed apparently that I went away glad to be retired and sore at not only some members of the headquarters unit but also even against Commissioner Wilson. That is wholly untrue. The gang was mighty nice to me and I think we got along ab it as well as people do in any organization. Whatever disagreements we might have had were for the betterment of all concerned.

"Particularly I want to spike the rumor I held any grievances against Capt. Patterson, Sergt. McKenzie or anybody else. As far as the police commissioner is concerned, he saw fit to transfer me to the Joy st. station. If my health was right and I thought I could stand a mauling if it came my way I'd gladly have gone there. I realize a transfer is merely what any policeman might expect in any police department.

"The fact that I was transferred came as a surprise, truly, but it did not upset me in the least.

"I would gladly put on a uniform and pull boxes with the rest if I only had physical confidence in myself. But you know and others know that for some time past I was more or less worried about my health. I was a uniformed policeman long before I went to headquarters. I liked the work that time and I would again if I thought I could stand the gaff. Unfortunately my skull has bothered me more or less and I have favored it to a great extent.

"Commissioner Wilson did no more than his duty in ordering me back in uniform and I have absolutely no criticism to make of him. What happened to me happened at the same time to a number of others and I am sure I have no more right to bear a grievance than they did. After all, it's just part of the game, and I want to tell you that if I could be back in service today, I would be there."

The statement of Senator Mulhern, which inspired Garrett's remarks, was a reply to a letter written by Commissioner Wilson to Governor Allen, and was as follows:

"The contents of the communication directed to Governor Allen are a startling admission on the part of the police commissioner in an official communication to the governor of the Commonwealth, that the people of Boston and of the Commonwealth are viewing the present administration of the Boston police department by Herbert A. Wilson with suspicion. In his own words, he directed this communication to the governor in order to be more enlightening and to dispel the effects on the public mind of the secrecy concerning the pensioning of Officer Garrett.

LETTER DOESN'T EXPLAIN

"In what manner does the contents of this letter further enlighten the public mind? There is not a word contained in it which was not outlined in the report which accompanied Officer Garrett's retirement, made public many days ago. The police commissioner states he feels certain the Governor personally knew there was nothing secretive, nothing mysterious, nothing underhanded, nothing timorous or faint-hearted on his part relative to the Garrett case, and that therefore did not reply to several 'misleading' editorials and statements in the press.

WALSH FIGHTS HIGH TARIFFS

Washington, Nov. 15—Riding roughshod over a small minority, the Senate today adopted a score of sharp increases in tariff rates upon fish and agricultural products, with the citrus fruits of California and Florida sharing largely in the boost.

In the wave of bitter protests of Senators Walsh (D.) of Massachusetts and Copeland (D.) of New York that the cost of living to the poor was being "outrageously increased," some pleas for increases were defeated.

The two cents a pound rate proposed by the finance committee on plums, prunes and prunelles, an increase of 15 per cent over the one-half cent House figure, was adopted, along with the committee's 40 per cent ad valorem duty on crystallized or glaced fruits, an increase of 3 per cent over the House figures.

An increase in rate on lemons from 2 cents a pound to 2½ cents went through with a shout of "Arrest" after Copeland and Walsh had protested loudly against boosting the rates on the "necessities of life."

The Senate rejected an attempt to restore the present rate of 1 cent each on grape fruit and put into the bill the House rate of 1½ cents.

WOMAN IS READY TO FIGHT BACK AT AMSTER

Accused of $178,000 Extortion From Boston Man, She Regains Son in Court

New York, Nov. 15—Rejoicing over regaining her son by court order, Olga Elde Edwards, charged with extorting large amounts of money from Nathan Lamard Amster, Boston financier, told the story of their romance.

Under the law Amster must appear personally against her or the complaint will be quashed. Max D. Steuer, counsel for the financier, asserted the prosecution would be waged to a finish.

An indication that Amster might fail to appear, however, was voiced by his son at the family home, 956 Fifth ave. He said:

"Father has not yet decided whether he will press the case."

After the disputed child, Lee Edwards, was restored to her, the young mother permitted publication of part of the trust fund agreement under which Amster bound himself to pay her $500 monthly for life and to provide for the future of the child if she died or when the son reached his 30th year.

TELLS OF CHILD

In a statement through a representative Miss Edwards said:

"My child was born because Mr. Amster desired me to have a child. Lee was born in San Francisco, after Mr. Amster and I had spent several months in Colorado in a one-room cabin.

"The name Lee Edwards was suggested by Mr. Amster, whose own name is Nathan Leo. All his friends and family call him Lee.

"We met in New York more than 11 years ago. A mutual friend introduced us at a social function. He made promises to me and fulfilled some of them.

"We went to Europe several times, sailing on different steamers. When he joined me on the other side he would reserve a suite in the large hotels and he would register me as his niece. I occupied the suite with him.

"We traveled through Switzerland, France and other countries and for several months I lived in Paris."

DENIED ANNOYING HIM

Concerning the charge that she violated the trust fund agreement by which Amster settled an income of $500 monthly on herself and the child, Miss Edwards said through her representative:

"There was no violation of the agreement. I did not annoy him years after the agreement was signed I discovered that since our child was growing up it would be necessary for me to employ a governess and prepare Lee for private school.

"I never threatened him. I never extorted money from him. What he gave me was for my support and the education of our child."

Held for "Extortion"

Olga N. Edwards, 34, accused by Nathan L. Amster, 60, former Boston financier, of extorting $170,000 from him in the past six years, is shown leaving the courthouse in New York, freed in $5000 bail pending trial. She charges he is the father of her six-year-old child. Amster denies the charge. (International Newsreel photo.)

TEN MILLIONS LOSS IN CRASH OF FIRM

Books and Records of Bankers' Capital Corporation Have Been Seized

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Losses to customers of the Bankers' Capital Corporation and its affiliated corporations, now under investigation for fraud for selling stock securities, will run between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000, it was announced today by Deputy Atty.-Gen. W. H. Milholland.

Mr. Milholland and Asst. Atty. Gen. Watson Washburn examined W. C. Hopkins, comptroller of the corporation, today, and will question Howard H. Gunder, chairman of the board, again on Tuesday.

The $21 dividend which the corporation declared last January, and which led stockholders to expect dividends of 42 per cent a year, was paid out of capital and at a time when the corporation was not making money, U. S. Atty. Charles H. Tuttle said today.

CLIENTS IN MANY STATES

The corporation, which had clients in many states, was petitioned into receivership November 4, and a week later creditors filed a petition in involuntary bankruptcy.

Books and records of the corporation, including some of the Bankers' Capital Company of Connecticut, of which E. J. Sturges, former Connecticut state banking commissioner, was head, have been seized.

Mr. Tuttle said that when deputies attempted to serve subpoenas at offices of the company in Hartford, Bridgeport, Waterbury and New Haven, today they found the offices closed.

TO QUIZ HEAD

Arthur T. Connor, prominent in Connecticut politics and president of the American Fiduciary Corporation, a Bankers' Capital subsidiary, also is in town, Mr. Tuttle said, and would appear today for questioning.

Discussing the financial structure of the corporation, Mr. Tuttle characterized the 13 affiliated concerns as "a pyramid of appreciation society of high finance."

Cruiser Marblehead Damaged in Crash

"bull" market after a succession of "bear" sessions that had hammered prices to the lowest level of the year. A wave of optimism has swept Wall Street as a result.

Profit taking on the eve of the holiday brought numerous issues below their tops for the day in late trading, but buying by swarms of bargain hunters was persistently in evidence up to the finish.

Many other well-known issues closed the day with good gains. Woolworth finished at 67¼, up 6½; Canadian Pacific at 203, up 4, and Union Carbide 73¼, up 4¼. A stream of stocks closed from a fraction to 4 points higher.

The closing prices ranged from a fraction to 12½ higher for Cerro De Pasco.

Tomorrow will be a holiday on the Exchange, this having been decided a week ago in view of the heavy trading that overtaxed the physical facilities of the market. The committee on arrangements of the Exchange ruled today, however, that offices of members must be open tomorrow from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. for the purpose of clearing up open sales.

Sales today for the three-hour session totaled 4,329,000 shares compared with 5,568,000 yesterday.

It was reported from the floor of the Stock Exchange this morning that a standing order had been placed in the market for 200,000 shares of U. S. Steel Corp. common stock at $150 a share, the low point reached on Wednesday's reaction. The stock opened today at $162 a share, an overnight gain of $12.

The New York Curb Exchange today followed the action of the New York Stock Exchange in sending out a questionnaire demanding a daily statement of each firm's position, in an apparent effort to trace the source of the recent bear selling.

There were again three principal sources of buying, an accumulation of overnight orders from banking and institutional sources, a heavy covering by shorts who realized that the call for a statement of position from Stock Exchange officials was directed at them, and a large volume of investment, semi-investment and speculative buying by the public who had been awaiting the upturn before buying in attractively priced issues.

Initial transactions were not as large as those of yesterday, although blocks of 5000 shares or more were quite common.

Some of the large opening transactions were:

5,900 General Foods, $46.12, up $1.50.
5,500 Gold Dust $41.87, up $2.37.
10,000 International Nickel, $33.50, up $1.25.
2000 Radio $33.75, up $.75.
5000 Curtiss-Wright, $9.12, up $.12.
12,000 Westinghouse Electric $135.75, up $4.25.
7000 United Aircraft $43, up $4.
5000 Pennsylvania Railroad $81, up $2.50.
7000 Packard $15.50, up $.50.
3000 Texas Corp. $54.75, up $3.53.
9000 Alleghany Corp. $23.87, up $.87.
5000 Shell Union $23, up $1.
5000 Du Pont $185, up $7.25.

Find Charlestown a Good Place to Live

Charlestown was praised as one of the best communities in which to live by several speakers who attended a banquet of the recently organized Bunker Hill Social and Athletic Club, held in their clubhouse at Bunker Hill and Sprague streets.

The speakers included District Attorney William J. Foley, Judge Charles S. Sullivan of Charlestown Municipal Court and Capt. William V. Livingston of City sq. police station.

Graf Zepp on Last Flight of Season

Friedrichshafen, Nov. 15 (INS)—The Globe-girdling Graf Zeppelin today made its 50th and, incidentally, last flight of the season. The huge craft will be laid up in its hangar through the winter while mechanics thoroughly overhaul it.

WAR ON LONG SKIRTS TO BE FOUGHT AT WOMEN'S CONVENTION

Boston Firemen Bear Bed-Ridden Friend to Grave of Fr. Power as Woman Regains Sight After Prayer

After praying at the grave of the Rev. Fr. Power, Mrs. Mary Signe of Valley st., Lawrence, who was stricken with blindness a year and a half ago, cried out, "I can see." Mrs. Signe then recognized a priest in the crowd and went and related her good fortune to him. Jubilant over her alleged cure, she then went to the chapel to offer a prayer of thanksgiving. (Staff photo.)

Bedridden for 12 years, his body tortured and twisted by pain, George Driscoll of Charlestown was taken to the shrine of Fr. Power in Malden by a group of eight Boston firemen, who bore him on a stretcher to the grave and laid him on the marble slab while they and their friends prayed for his recovery. He has been a victim of arthritis and paralysis for years. Driscoll expressed a desire to visit the shrine and the firemen, many of whom had known him in the virility of his young manhood, before he was stricken, volunteered to bear him there. He was taken to the cemetery in a limousine and then carried by the men to the grave. (Staff photo.)

War on Long Skirts at Women's Convention

Hartford, Ct., Nov. 15 (AP)—Estelle Hill of Redding, a leader in the National Woman's Party, today predicted the fight against long skirts and tight waists, unsuccessfully launched here at the convention of the Connecticut League of Women Voters by Mrs. Ruth M. Dadourain, wife of Prof. H. M. Dadourain of Trinity College, would probably be taken up by the National Woman's Party at its convention in Washington December 7.

Miss Hill, wife of Prof. Albert Levitt of the Brooklyn Law School, said she agreed with Mrs. Dadourian that something ought to be done to combat the attempt to force women into long skirts and tight waists, she proposes a ban by all women against the style changes.

"I think a boycott by individual women against buying dresses with long skirts would be more effective than anything else," Miss Hill said.

"Women will take to the style that most becomes them. That may mean, in some cases, a skirt three inches longer than what has been the prevailing length, but we have gone too far from the days when I was in Vassar 23 years ago when we made ourselves conspicuous because we didn't follow the styles and wear gowns that trailed in the dust.

"Women enjoy draperies," she concluded, "but the place for them is as curtains or as hangings, and not as gowns."

The Connecticut League of Women Voters yesterday defeated Mrs. Dadourain's resolution asking it "to use its influence against the dictation of the new style."

The league regarded the subject as outside of its province.

Lady Astor Dodges New Dirigible Trip

London, Nov. 15 (INS)—Lady Astor, British parliamentarian, and the former Nancy Wanghorne of Virginia stood accused today of having "cold feet."

Lady Astor was one of the 100 members of Parliament who drew tickets for a flight aboard the new giant British dirigible R-101. She withdrew because of business appointments, and was immediately set upon by opponents, who teased her for being "afraid" to travel in the airship.

Thanksgiving Turkeys to Be 45 Cents Lb.

Chicago, Nov. 15 (AP)—Turkey preferred has found a bear market this year. Quotations for turkey on today's market were 15 per cent under the 1928 levels, the retail price being about 45 cents a pound.

The explanation of poultry men was that several western states have entered the market this year, providing a much greater supply.

Italy ex-Cabinet Member Jailed

Rome, Nov. 15 (AP)—Lavoro d'Italia's Savona correspondent says Prof. Giacomo Cortese has been arrested on charges of falsification and swindling. He was taken in custody near Savona on his return to Italy after a residence abroad. Prof. Cortese was an undersecretary in the ministry of education in one of the Giolitti cabinets and was a deputy in two legislatures.

Freshmen Present 'The Monkey's Paw'

Freshmen at Boston University's college of liberal arts demonstrated their dramatic ability when they presented their annual play in Jacob Sleeper Hall.

The production, "The Monkey's Paw," by Louis N. Parker, was played by Harry Kimel, Lawrence; Helen Sloan, Worcester; Clifford Foote, Lynn; William Ford, Quincy, and Calvin Wood, Swampscott. The play was coached by Edward Sampson of Brookline, president of the C. L. A. Dramatic Club.

Gem Prisoner to Get All Wet at Next Fire

Salem, Nov. 15 (AP)—The next time Byron Jones, sometimes Byron Beaucaire, plays with matches in his cell at the Salem jail he is going to get all wet.

His jailors today mounted a fire hose outside Byron's cell. Byron could look right into its menacing nozzle. It seems thattime had been hanging heavily on the New York negro's hands while he has been awaiting trial for the $115,000 jewel robbery at the Beverly Farms summer home of Sydney Hutchinson.

First, Byron amused himself by working on the bars of his cell with seven saw blades. He had all but taken the cell apart when interrupted Monday. He was moved to a new cell.

So Byron turned his attention to conflagrations in a small way. As often as he could gather enough paper and other waste together there was a fire. No one seems to know where he got his matches.

Today the jailers grw weary of the game and refused to play firemen any more. Next time the will simply turn a valve down at the end of the hall and if Byron gets wet—well, that's his lookout.

ENGLAND BARES MERCY MURDER

London, Nov. 15 (INS)—Another "Mercy Murder," similar in some respects to that in which Richard Corbett, 30-year-old Englishman, shot and killed his mother in order to end her suffering from cancer, came to light here today.

Writing in the London Daily Express, Miss Dora Christie Murray, daughter of the late David Christie Murray, prominent British novelist, declared that her father had taken the life of another person in his own hands and ended the latter's suffering with an overdose of an opiate.

The sufferer was a Belgian peasant boy Murray had adopted because of his artistic genius, Miss Murray declares. Soon after the adoption the boy became bed-ridden and was tortured by an incurable illness.

His death within a short time was inevitable, the writer declares, and when the illness had reached its most agonizing stage the attending doctor said to Murray:

"When the pain becomes very acute, you may give Henri three drops of this medicine. More would be fatal."

GOOD RALLIES AFTER SLEEP

Washington, Nov. 15 (INS)—Considerable improvement in the condition of Secretary of War James W. Good, who is fighting desperately for life following an appendicitis operation, was reported by his physicians at 10:30 a. m. today.

Last night, the war secretary lapsed into semi-consciousness and it was feared that he would not survive another day, but he rallied and after examination this morning the physicians reported "definite improvement."

His condition, however, is still very serious.

This morning the patient took his first nourishment since the operation on Wednesday.

The improvement was ascribed to the fact that Good was able to get some sound sleep during the night, from 9 to 12, and from 2:30 to 5:30.

R. I. Prison Convicts Given Radio Set

Providence, R. I., Nov. 15 (AP)—Inmates of State prison are soon to be cheered, or afflicted, with radio programs, it was made known today by Warden Charles E. Linscott. A wealthy man, wishing to contribute to the welfare of the prisoners, is to provide the radio set. From 6 to 9 p. m. the prisoners will listen to the program. The donor, through modesty or caution, has remained anonymous.

Seize Big Liquor Plant in Chicopee

Chicopee, Nov. 15 (AP)—One of the largest and most complete liquor manufacturing plants ever found here was seized today by police and prohibition enforcement officers, when three arrests were made.

The plant was located in a two-family dwelling, virtually all of which was devoted to three 500-gallon stills, supplies and finished product. The stills were in operation. Timotio Craseiro and Jack Santos of Ludlow and Alfred Bertoni of Springfield were arrested.

Daily She Clings to the Cross in Fervent Prayer

LOSES FIGHT TO KEEP FORTUNE

Providence, Nov. 15—Forced by the Supreme court today to return $25,000 to the estate of her father who had given her a joint bank account, Mrs. Mary Revens Berth of Providence lost her fight to keep from her two brothers the fortune of their parent.

Mrs. Berth will be obliged to divide that amount, and $18,000 worth of real estate, with the two brothers who had fought her in court cases extending nearly three years. Today the Supreme court confirmed a judgment of the lower courts ordering the daughter to refund the amount she had withdrawn from the account.

Her defense had been that the father had wanted her to have all the money, "as he had no use for his two sons." One of them, John J. Revens, brought the law suits.

The father was drowned three years ago at the age of 84.

Boy, 19, in Jail, Makes Fifteenth Escape

Lawrence, Nov. 15—For the 15th time, Frank Valkavitch, 19, escaped today from an institution in which the law had confined him. Valkavitch fled the Essex County jail on Auburn st., where he is serving a year's sentence for breaking and entering and larceny. He was last seen scrubbing a corridor floor. Despite his youth he has been continually in jail or the courts for the past several years.

Alma Rubens Soon Leaves Hospital

Los Angeles, Nov. 15 (AP)—Alma Rubens, stage and film actress, may be released within a week from the Patton State Hospital where she has been confined for four months undergoing treatment for narcotic addition.

Plans for her release were announced yesterday in word received here from Earle Jensen, director of state institutions at Sacramento.

GASTONIA TRIAL UNDERWAY

Marion, N. C., Nov. 15—Sheriff Oscar F. Adkins of McDowell county took the stand in superior court here as the first witness in the trial of Alfred Hoffman, organizer for the United Textile Workers of America, and four others charged with rebellion against the state and conspiracy to riot, and related details of strike disorders which led to the charges.

Sheriff Adkins said he was called to the scene and a group of strikers surrounded him. Wes Fowler, one of the defendants, told him, "You have played Hell by coming here," Adkins stated. The sheriff said the strikers threatened him and Fowler said his (Adkins') gun "hasn't got any nerve at the handle of it."

Del Lewis, Lawrence Hogan and J. Hugh Hall are being tried jointly with Hoffman and Fowler. A sixth man, Will Russell, was indicted with the five now on trial, but he failed to appear in court for trial. His bond was forfeited.

Cold Spell May Halt Alabama Flood

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 15 (AP)—A forecast of clear cold weather today brought hope for the abatement of flood conditions in Birmingham, which have resulted in property damage unofficially estimated at $100,000 and the evacuation of more than 200 negro families from their homes.

Rains continued since Sunday, stopped shortly before midnight last night after a four-day precipitation of approximately 11 inches.

Crowd at Shrine, Intent on Finding Cure, Ignores Rain

By Rev. ALBERT E. GEORGE

Kneeling in the pelting rain—yes, in the mud, hundreds of pilgrims today bent their forms in prayer over the grave of Rev. Patrick J. Power in Malden and reverently left their offering. Rising from their knees, they were helped along to some kind of shelter and some to the chapel nearby. If it had been three times as large as it is, it could not have held them.

The long lines of supplicants were there. Many of them wet through. As I passed along this line no one was complaining. Every thought was upon the time when they would arrive at the shrine. It was pathetic to find mothers holding little children with no mercy from the rain, but the great thought of getting relief when their turn came.

A mother with a little three-year-old was numbered among those who were leaving.

"May I carry that baby for you? It is a long distance for you to carry that child to the cars?" I asked this weary young mother whose clothing was dripping with rain.

The little one was sacked. I carried the little one some distance. The mother said:

"I hope and pray that my child may be better. He can't use the right hand. There is something the matter with it. I put him down on that grave asking God in my prayers that He would help my dear child!."

"I cannot tell how much I have thought of this place. All last night, I thought of my coming here this morning. I got up early and made every effort to get away. Only for the rain, I would feel better. This is my only child and I feel that he will be better."

She, like others, carried away the hope of getting better. It could rain an inch it pleased, but the thought of getting relief was prominent in all minds of those two lines veering towards the sacred spot.

While standing over the shrine and seeing many coming and going, two small boys bent, yes, prostrated themselves with earnest beseiging over the shrine. The rain just came in torrents, yet the cries of these two rent the air and made everyone feel that it was time for them to pray too. I have no doubt that many a one there in silence uttered a prayer for th erelief of those two boys.

I greeted an aged man linked with two, who had assisted him along. His face lit up when I put several questions to him. He was somewhat out of breath and did not reply at once. But as I walked along with him, he finally told me that he came a long distance and believed that the pain in the back would stop. "Anyway, if it does not stop, it's God's will anyway," he said. I was obliged to go back to look at two rolled-chair patients, resting over the grave.

I wish people could see and study the faces of these victims of some disease that mars their happiness in life.

What is it that moves them to assemble here in such crowds? What is it that makes them stand for hours in pouring rain thinking of what will come to them rather than the incident of rain itself. They have no doubts or if they have them, they do not harbor them. They have one idea of being helped by Divine Power through the outward form of a sacred spot that has appealed to them because of its results upon others.

It would be well for some ministers who stand aloof from these scenes and cannot enter in their meaning to visit this Mecca of Healing. You cannot judge such events without witnessing them. It is not to be expected that all would be healed, but all have been helped in some way. There is a mystery about this. As a bystander said to me, with rain pouring like guns upon him:

"There's much to be learned here. I was one of those sceptics, looking at this from afar. But you get other impressions when you stand over that grave and see hundreds of people kneel there and seek relief.

"This is what has changed my whole attitude towards it. I came to this cemetery feeling that it was superstition driving people here.

"I feel differently about this now that I have stood and watched the sights here. They give you another angle on life. I believe more spots like this would give many people a new hold on faith."

He would not allow his name to be mentioned. When some asked, "Can there come any good out of Nazereth?" (Nathaniel's question in the Bible, the reply was, "Come and see." This should be applied to Holy Cross Cemetery.

Boston Auto Dealer Killed in Crash

Plainville, Nov. 15 (AP)—Edward D. Hogan, 35, a vice-president of the Willys-Overland Company of Boston and Providence, R. I., was fatally injured today when an ice truck skidded and struck his automobile. His skull was fractured and he died while being taken to a North Attleboro Hospital.

Hogan, who lived in Boston, was traveling toward Providence. The ice truck, driven by Reginald Zasso of North Attleboro, was moving in an opposite direction. State police of the Wrentham barracks began an investigation.

NEW MIRACLE CURES MADE IN RAIN

Mute Cambridge Boy Speaks; a Little Lame Girl Discards Her Last Brace

sound of pouring rain.. Tears of Michael's brother, Tony, 10, hoping for straight eyes, but happy now that Mike can talk.

"Drink, Mike—the holy water." And Mike drinks—from an eight-ounce nursing bottle. The crowd presses close and weeping women struggle to touch his head, his lips, his face, his clothing.

Cures! The cure of Dorothea Parker, who is 10. A gradual cure, almost in the final stages.

Every day for nearly three weeks, Dorothea has been visiting the shrine. Three cruel braces were on her pitifully thin legs at first. Then two. Today the second one is off.

"When I come again I shall wear no brace at all." The little girl smiles up first at her mother and then at her father.

Cures—and disappointments. But always hope. Tomorrow—and then tomorrow.

WOMAN IS PATIENT

Clasping a granite cross is a woman, whose knees set queerly on the base as she kneels. Rain descending. Four women kneel behind her. Behind the cross on which is carved "IHS" and "Les Soueurs Franciscaines Missionaires de Marie."

"Sisters of the Franciscan Missionaries of Mary."

Beneath the dress at the back rests the hand of one of the women. She rubs ceaselessly, stopping only to pour holy water into her palm.

"Lord have mercy," the women chant. "Christ have mercy." The rain runs in rivulets from their hats, from the granite cross. There is a man's pipe on the arm of the cross. Incongruous, but unnoticed.

Every day the woman hanging to the cross has been a supplicant, but still she is unidentified. She can walk, but only with two attendants.

When the downpour ceases the other woman is still rubbing. When it begins again, she is still rubbing.

"God, Father in Heaven, have mercy on us. God, the Son, Redeemer of the world, have mercy on us. God, the Holy Ghost, have mercy on us," the women chant.

PRAYS FOR SIGHT.

As the cross the woman cringes, her lips move in constant prayer.

Cures! The cure of Mrs. Mary [illegible] of Sycamore st., Somerville. Lost of vision, she has been wearing strong glasses in an attempt to cure her sight. All in vain.

She is at the shrine. Though it rains; into the mud. Clothing and comfort matter not here. Kneeling, praying.

"All persons who are well, please reach your hand to the stone and pass along." The voice of a policeman.

As if in answer Mrs. Gill removes her strong glasses, places them carefully in her pocket and prays. Then rises.

Hand on her sleeve. She turns to find a woman with two children beside her, speaks.

"I am Jewish. Would you pray for my sick children?"

Back in the mud, Mrs. Gill prays. "Our Father, Who art in Heaven . . ."

"Our Father, Who art in Heaven . . ." The mother nudges the nearest child. Say them with the lady."

Afterward, they go to the chapel, Mrs. Gill, the Jewish woman and the two sick children.

THE RICH THERE, TOO

Disappointments! Crippled child of wealth in an Ohio car—a Rolls. Liveried chauffeur at the wheel. Cruel leg irons that money could not remove, but toward whose removal faith was attempting.

Faith! The man shot while a bystander in Chicago—victim of gang warfare. A daily supplicant at the shrine.

He kneels on a rise overlooking the grave. Kneels in the downpour, the collar of his long black coat turned up. His hat off, Ironbraced legs straight out behind.

One hour he kneels, looking

Family in Need, Man Near Death Again to Visit Shrine

With his wife and four children facing starvation, Ira T. Royer of Bridge st., Manchester, N. H., is pinning his hopes for a lease of life on another trip to the grave of the Rev. Patrick J. Power in Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden.

Royer's first visit was made as he was on his way from the county hospital to his home. He was going home to die. His visit brought relief, he said. He is awaiting strength for a second trip to the "shrine."

ing. Reciting the rosary. Two hours. Three hours. Drenched to the skin. No cloth could fend off that rain.

"Priest." Whisper of those passing. He has a priestly look and the turned-up collar seems to accentuate the resemblance.

Since midnight some of those gathered have been at the shrine.

Midnight in a graveyard! Supplicants through every hour, kneeling in the flickering illumination of many vigil lights. Policemen in raincoats. Glistening and rustling.

Ambulances drawing up. Prayer. Swiftly gliding away again with its sufferer.

A child, muffled in blankets, seated on the grave. A mother rubbing the shrivelled leg. Rubbing and rubbing—rubbing in the rain-wet earth.

"Won't someone say the rosary?" There is a sob in the mother's voice and quick tears spring into eyes watching from the encircling darkness.

"Our Father, Who Art in Heaven. . . ." A girl spectator kneels as she begins the recital aloud.

"Give us this day our daily bread and forgive us our trespasses. . . ." Rustle of raincoats as the watching kneel out there in the darkness and start the response.

The day has begun!

Dies in Plane Fall

Riverside, Cal., Nov. 15—Cadet Clark Byrne, student flier at March Field, government aviation training school near here, was killed as he fell with his plane from a high altitude.

BALKED, JAPAN MAY QUIT PARLEY

Tokio, Nov. 15 (AP)—Although official comment was withheld, authoritative quarters today intimated a critical stage has been reached in conversations with Great Britain and America preliminary to the London naval reduction conference in January.

Premier Hamaguchi, Foreign Minister Shidehara, Naval Minister Takarabee and M. Wakatsuki, who will be first delegate at London, conferred lengthily, after which the naval minister reported the situation in detail to the cabinet.

It was believed their conference took up the discouraging reception which is reported to have been given in Washington and London to Japan's proposals for a 10-10-7 eight-inch gun cruiser ratio with Great Britain and the United States.

ENTHUSIASM FADES.

Reports of Ambassadors Debuchi and Matsudaira on conversations with Secretary Stimson and Premier MacDonald were understood to be at hand.

Inquiries in official and non-official quarters gave reason to believe Japanese enthusiasm toward the London naval conference is diminishing as the prospect of preliminary ratio understandings with Great Britain and America have lessened. Japan has considered this preliminary understanding of vital importance.

All authoritative quarters denied that Japan would withdraw from the conference, but gloomy forecasts as to its probable failure to reach a cruiser agreement were plentiful.

HINT WITHDRAWAL

There was discussion whether the conference might not, however reach an agreement for a further holiday on capital ships if a cruiser agreement is lacking.

In less authoritative quarters there was more open pessimism and some asserted they saw no way out of the impasse which has arisen and hinted Japan might withdraw from the conference if her demands are refused.

Press comment so far as naval matters are concerned was confined largely to the Singapore naval base and President Hoover's Armistice Day speech.

15 Cripples Leave Crutches, Braces in the Chapel

Mute evidence of cures effected at the grave of Rev. Patrick Power rests in All Souls' chapel of Holy Cross cemetery, Malden.

They include, now, four canes, eight crutches, eight pairs of spectacles, four leg braces, two arm braces and one body cast.

SEVEN HURT IN 3 CRASHES

Seven persons were injured, two of whom were taken to the St. Elizabeth's hospital, in three different automobile crashes in Brighton today.

Mrs. Ida W. Dickhaut, of Prince st., Brighton, was injured about the legs and body when a car in which she was riding collided with an automobile operated by Cornelius Murphy of Lothrop st., Brighton, on Cambridge st.

While John J. King, 31, married, of Crest Hill rd., Brighton, was getting out of his automobile at North Beacon and Arbor sts., he was struck and knocked against the side of his machine by a car operated by John J. Slaine, of Morton st., Watertown.

King was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, where it was found he was suffering from lacerations to the right leg and abrasions and contusions of the body.

The third accident occurred at Commonwealth ave. and St. Paul st. when a sedan operated by Wilfred L. Taylor of Dale st., Waltham, crashed into a touring car operated by James W. Jacques, 22, of Edison green, Dorchester.

Jacques was injured about the legs and chest. Taylor was hurt about the head and face.

ARMED YOUTHS GET $20 IN ROSLINDALE

Two youths, one flourishing a small nickle-plated revolver, threatened George F. Campbell of Westbourne ter., Roslindale, in his drug store, on Hyde Park ave., Roslindale, and robbed the cash register of its total content, about $20 in cash.

Campbell was alone in the store when the youths walked into the store and ordered him to "Stick 'em up." Campbell complied and while the first young man covered him with the revolver, the other went through the till. As soon as they secured the cash, the two men fled.

Campbell described the holder of the revolver as being about 18 to 20 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighing about 130, and dressed in a light brown suit and gray cap.

The one who took the cash, he said, was about 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighing 130 pounds, between 18 and 20 years old and wearing a black sweater and light cap.

Declines to Talk of United Fruit Merger

Asked regarding reports of a merger of the United Fruit Company with the Cuyamel Fruit Company, President Victor M. Cutter of the United Fruit organization today declined to comment. Business and banking circles in New York and New Orleans for several weeks have been of the opinion that the merger plans are well advanced.

Rap New U. S. Notes

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 15—Uncle Sam's new currency notes crumple, tear and soil more easily than the old-style, said 20 bank tellers quoted in the Memphis Press-Scimitar today.

The domestic help problem is solved by taking a kitchenette apartment and the best are advertised daily in the For Rent columns.

Speculators Trying to Capitalize on Shrine Cures

At least a dozen speculators have been attempting to buy up property opposite or immediately adjoining Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden, it was learned today from property owners.

So eager have been some of the speculators that they have insisted that the owners name their own prices.

Thus far, however, none of the owners is known to have sold.

OFFICER HELD IN AUTO FATALITY

John E. Gallagher, 26, a special officer, was locked up in Salem on a charge of manslaughter after his auto knocked down and killed Ernest Phillips, 45, of Wentworth pl. Lynn, an electrician, on Canal st., Salem, according to police.

Gallagher drove away after the accident, it is charged, but was followed by George Ball of Bridge st., Salem, and Ball's son, in another car. A half-mile away they caught up with Gallagher's car and notified the special officer of the accident. Gallagher then returned to the scene.

Gallagher, whose home is on Flash rd., Nahant, told police e did not know he had struck Phillips.

FR. POWER DEDICATED LIFE TO CARE OF AFFLICTED

SACRIFICED HIS HEALTH TO DUTY

dren of his neighbors, the tribute of the children when, 60 years ago, on a day made holy as the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, he died—all these in due course will be related.

WE saw him last entraining for Troy, N. Y., where, in St. Joseph's Seminary he was to receive his first instructions in preparation for the priesthood. He carried with him the blessings of his oldest brother, John, with whom in Brookline he made his home, and of Rev. James Fitton, S. J., who had taken a personal interest in him.

It was at Troy that the first warning of his weakened condition was given. His devotion to his studies bore down upon him with an increasing weight, but he plunged enthusiastically and regardless of his health, into the task of preparing himself for a life's work that was to be all too short.

BRILLIANT STUDENT

At the seminary his power to grasp quickly and assimilate not only the fundamental spiritual and physical requirements of the faith in which he had moved since childhood, but to master and retain as well the most complex treatments of philosophy, chemistry, botany, astronomy and mathematics in several languages, astounded his teachers.

THIS extraordinary ability was a paradox of asset and liability, for while it allowed him to master in a short space of time all requirements that he sought it was the driving force that led him to undertake work beyond the powers of his physique.

We do not find that he participated in any of the seminary's outdoor activities. We do find him returning home at the conclusion of his studies, marvelously broadened as to his education and intellect, but weakened in body.

Yet, greater learning beckoned him on. Fr. Fitton sent him to Laval University, at Quebec, and there, with an ardor undiminished, Patrick Power threw himself into the self-lengthened task of preparing his mind and his soul for the work of God.

INTERESTED IN BOTANY

TWO old books now in the possession of Edmund Power are illustrative of the mental capacity of the young seminarian. They were written and bound by Patrick Power while he was still a student at Laval, and they contain treatises in French on theology, astronomy, higher mathematics and a half dozen other subjects.

They are written in pen, in a fine, clear hand. And with them are some 200 pen and ink sketches, finely executed.

So much for Patrick Power's studies at Laval University. Of his recreation there the same books contain mute evidence—the leaves of many different trees and plants, dried and yellowed sprigs of clover that, in their fresh green of life, may have reminded the student of the shamrock of his homeland.

There was born in him on the stormy south coast of Ireland a love of nature that grew stronger through the years. One sees him at Laval, a book in hand always, strolling along some quiet woodland path, finding the joy and some surcease from his everlasting "cramming" in a short communion with fresh earth, trees and birds, the green and the wild things that loved.

HIS studies at the university were completed, he came home again to his brother, John, and to the priest whom he had served as an altar boy. As a seminarian he had a grasp of the future's requirements far stronger than the average. But upon his health his grasp was not so sure.

In the Holy Cross Cathedral in Boston Patrick J. Power was ordained to the priesthood of the Catholic Church in 1867 by the beloved Bishop John J. Williams, who later became archbishop of the diocese.

REV. PATRICK J. POWER at the age of 23 With a seminary and university education behind him, and but two short years ahead in which to carry on the work his frail shoulders had undertaken.

But his study was not to end. Almost immediately he sailed abroad and at Louvain, Belgium, completed his theological training.

Of his studies abroad and their duration there is no available record. He was probably at Louvain a year or more, returning to the United States at the age of 24, or early in his 25th year.

His first and last parish in the diocese—in any diocese—was at Chicopee, to which, as an assistant to Rev. Patrick Healy, he was appointed upon his return from Belgium.

St. Matthew's Church, now the Holy Name Church, received him and there today are on record baptismal and marriage records written in his own hand.

Rt. Rev. Mgr. John F. Cosdin, now pastor of the church, points to these records as proof that Fr. Power's incumbency was at St. Matthews, not at St. Michael's, in Springfield, as was originally reported.

YET the young priest was an active figure in the Springfield parish as well, for Edward A. Hall of Springfield, now 80 years old, and head of the St. Vincent de Paul Society of St. Michael's, recalls his visits there and his talks with the children

Mr. Hall was 20 when he met Fr. Power. He recalls how the young priest used to ride with Fr. Healy between Chicopee and Springfield in a one-horse buggy that never broke a speed limit.

"I remember Fr. Power," said Mr. Hall. "I saw him several times. He used to ride to Springfield from Chicopee in a one-horse buggy with Fr. Healey. He visited the Sunday school at St. Michael's Church and there talked with the boys and girls."

(The third chapter of Fr. Power's life will be printed in tomorrow's Boston Evening American.)

Eulogy Written to Fr. Power After Death

Worcester, Nov. 15 — A eulogy written by an unknown priest shortly after the death of the Rev. Fr. Patrick J. Power, has been made public by Edmund J. Power, a nephew of the late Fr. Power.

The eulogy follows:

Death's angels pale another soldier soul,
Has rescued from the story sea of life
To treasures in an Eden where no race
Or tribulations for the goods of earth
Can find an entrance in the bloom of youth.
With golden honors clustering around
His brow and giving expectations bright
Of guerdons ——redolent of priestly worth,
Our friend has passed away meekly and true.
Of symmetric nature, pure; refined,
Childlike and gentle in his every act,
His very smile gained friends and tried as gold
In crucible of sirthestist. His worth Shines brighter from the silent pangs endured
In his long lingering disease which cost
His baleful shade o'er him. Hopeful still,
Pure in his conscience, to no man a foe,
He calmly passed from earth while
Mary's fame
In vast cathedral pile and cloistered
Was sweet recited by her children
dear,
And caught in strains of melody sublime.
He seraph hosts and cherubim above,
Beneath the stars dear Father Power
now rests in placid calm.
No more his graceful form on earth
be seen,
No more his voice be heard in consecrated sweet;
No more in sanctuary will silver notes
Swell through the frested aisles in God's great praise.
For stilled forever in this fading
earth
Must rest that tongue all eloquent in song
Peace to his ashes! Grant him glory, love,
In thy own martyr hand enroll our dead
Mary, fair patroness, thy child receive
As on the day he died, angelic chimes
Another soul is added to your host.
Farewell, dear past, for here below
And have us join thee in thy brilliant throng
That waits upon the lamb.

QUIZ POLICE SLEUTH IN ALKY MYSTERY

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—The mystery of how 12 five-gallon cans of pure grain alcohol turned to 12 five-gallon cans of pure water while reposing under the lieutenant's desk in an uptown police station might sound like a good joke—to anybody except Police Lieut. Benjamin J. Brady.

Lieut. Brady went on trial today before Deputy Commissioner Nelson Ruttenberg, charged with neglect of duty because of the incident.

The alcohol was seized in a raid one night of October 15 and the containers, all with screw-on metal tops and sealed besides, were placed under the lieutenant's desk for safe-keeping.

Lieutenant Brady was on duty that night, and he says the only time he left his post was about 2 a. m., when he wept out into the back room to make himself a pot of tea.

At 7.30 the following morning Lieut. Harry Burnell, who relieved Brady, said he noticed that the containers had, not screw-on metal tops, but corks.

And a chemical analysis later in the forenoon revealed the contents to be, not alcohol, but water—nice, clean, entirely uncontaminated water. The sample the policeman who made the seizure had taken was analyzed as grain alcohol.

Deputy commissioner Ruttenberg reserved his decision.

DANIELS SEES U. S. IN LEAGUE

Detroit, Nov. 15 (AP)—Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy in the Wilson Cabinet, today expressed the belief that America had discarded its traditional policy of "alliances with none," and by successive steps is approaching the door of the League of Nations.

Although official leaders have felt committed since 1920 not to re-urge entry into the League, he said in an address prepared for delivery before the Civic Club here, America has been constantly associated with all international efforts to achieve the goal of the League, permanent peace.

Britain Tells Khan He Is Afghan King

London, Nov. 15 (AP)—The British government has telegraphed the Afghan foreign office in Kabul extending recognition in behalf of Britain and the governments throughout the empire to the government of Nadir Khan.

Nadir Khan was elected King of Afghanistan last month after he had driven out the usurper, Bacha Saqao, "son of the water boy."

Balkan Nations to Sign Treaty

Rome, Nov. 15 (AP)—The newspaper Messaggero today printed a dispatch from Prague, Czechoslovakia, saying negotiations for a treaty between Bulgaria and Yugoslavia were near completion. Political circles in Prague report that a similar treaty between Bulgaria and Jugoslavia will follow.

$600,000,000 for Santa to Spend

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Whatever happens to stocks there will be a Santa Claus. Christmas clubs of the nation shortly will distribute a total of $600,000,000 which members have saved up during the year. The average check will be $59.50 and payments will range as high as $1000.

Takes Alimony Paid in Pennies to Court

West Palm Beach, Nov. 15—Mrs. Cora L. Ferguson has been receiving 3000 pennies a week as alimony. She has cited her divorced husband to court to explain why he is not in contempt for his method of remitting. Exhibit A is 6000 pennies

ELOPERS MUST DISPEL WRATH, SAYS CAPRON

The Great Adventure — marriage! Paul Capron, Jr., former cadet who resigned from West Point after his elopement, chooses that title for his fourth article today. Capron, who has joined the staff of the New York Evening Journal, writes of the Great Adventure so that you who are going till see yourselves portrayed and you who are old will have memories.

By PAUL CAPRON JR

It is over. You are married, and you are on the way home to tell your family about it.

You grin. You can't seem to help grinning foolishly all the time. You look at each other and say, "We did it. We're married!" Perhaps you cheer.

You pass through a small town and see a cop standing on the corner.

Without thinking you stick your head out of the window of the car and yell, "Hurry," or something equally foolish. He stares and looks at you with his mouth open.

It is not until you begin to get pretty close to home that you begin to wonder what people will say and how best to tell them about it.

You don't really care much what they say, anyway. Whatever they say can't make much lasting difference. It's done, and that's all that matters.

BREAKING THE NEWS

Breaking the news takes care of itself. Large grins are better than words to turn away wrath, and you can't help grinning, no matter how serious everyone is.

Some people look at you severely, and you pity them. Others are sweetly sympathetic, and you laugh at them politely.

Eventually some one has occasion to introduce you as Mr. and Mrs. The strange sound of it makes you look at each other in surprise and laugh.

When the tumult and the shouting die a little you begin to think of getting away. You pack in a daze and take a train—any train—somewhere.

Arriving, you go to a hotel and register in a bold, flourishing hand, "Mr. and Mrs. So and So." The clerk grins at you and you grin back a little sheepishly.

They are wise boys, those hotel clerks. You wonder how long it takes to begin to look married. "The next few days convince you that it takes longer than that.

After a while the question begins to trouble you, "What shall I do next?"

MUST GET A JOB.

You find that your careful plans are ended with the simple sentence, "Then I'll get a job." It sounds easy. It is easy to say, but after a few days of looking for one you begin to wonder why there isn't as much said about America's unemployment situation as there is about England's.

When something eventually does turn up, you begin to shop around for a place to live. What you are probably looking for is a one-room apartment with a gas stove and a bathroom, very cheap.

There are a good many of them, but there is always something wrong with the first ten or twelve you look at.

Finally you find one that is exactly it. One room with an alcove, a tiny table that pulls out of the wall, even a miniature kitchen sink. And the gas stove, of course, not to mention a doll house bathroom. You wouldn't swap that apartment for a farm.

FIRST "HOME" MEAL.

The first home cooked meal is an experience. It is likely to be more of an experience than a meal. You sit down and eat very good soup—canned soup—then you sniff expectantly. Is there or is there not a faint pungent odor of burning? There is.

Your wife leaps up and dashes for the kitchen—or kitchenette. Pained cries tell you that it was, as you expected, the meat.

"Oh, I'm so sorry. But I'll scrape it off a little and you'll never know it was burned. It'll taste all right."

"Sure it will" It doesn't, but you smile and eat heartily. The funny thing about it is that weird meal though it may be, you enjoy it.

There are so many things to talk about, so many little adjustments to make. Your wife may not like people who whistle in the early morning, in which case you will abandon the practice.

You may not like people who laugh merrily at you when you can't find your shoes, but you will learn to.

You will get so that you wear your hat at a certain angle all the time. It won't feel comfortable any other way.

BOTH NEED TOLERANCE.

Both of you need tolerance. For instance, you will probably never learn to remember to take off your hat in the elevator, or something, but your wife will always remind you with a patient smile.

These little things will never bring any real friction. They are only marks of individuality, and your individualities must have been attractive to each other, or you would never have been drawn together in the first place.

The future stretches ahead a long way—a pleasant way, it seems. The two look ahead and grin, seeing that they've just begun.

(Editor's note: In response to the widespread interest aroused by ex-Cadet Capron's articles on youthful marriage, the series will continue.)

Newlyweds in Daze Until They Realize Problems

In today's article Paul Capron, Jr., who was a West pointer until he married the daughter of Col. Alexander Gillespie, instructor at the military academy which forced him to resign, tells of the thrills and experiences of "just married." He could and does yell "Hurray!", out of sheer exuberance. He finds for a time merely promises instead of positions. And he finds the first meal rather overdone —but he enjoys it.

N. Y. Society People Hold Poverty Party

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—With the stock market collapse as their inspiration, a group of Park ave. society folk held a "poverty party" at the Club Plaza last night, at which guests wore old clothes and ate frankfurters and sauerkraut.

Their clothing, however, merely was "old" in a relative way. Dowagers appeared in gowns of a year ago; the younger women in gowns of last month, and men, who apparently had no old clothing, more ordinary business suits instead.

The food, which at the better Park ave. affairs would be something startling in buffet, was served from ordinary tables covered by red cotton cloths. Light was by candle.

The sponsors of the affair explained its purpose was not to have a bit of pleasantry at the expense of poverty, but just an occasion for a bit of good, clean fun. It was observed, records the New York Times, that at midnight the guests were pelting each other with French bread.

Family Welfare Society Reports

According to reports presented to the directors at their regular monthly meeting at 41 Hawkins st, the Family Welfare Society aided 1392 families and old persons and in so doing expended $12,145 for relief and $10,179 for service during October. Of the new applications received, sickness was the primary cause of need in about one-fourth, while domestic difficulties were next in number.

Fund Donated for Playground Fence

Mayor Bauer of Lynn today accepted a donation of $500 to build a fence around the proposed playground in the "Brick Yards" section of the city. The money was given by the former owners of the property, Joseph Lamper and Micajah P. Clough, Lynn business men, and the Lynn Gas & Electric Co., from whom the city purchased the land at its assessed valuation of $40,000.

Poorly Addressed Mail Costs U. S. 5 Millions

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—The cost of their own prominence.

Postoffice department lost approximately $5,000,000 last year on carelessly addressed mail, a large part being the direct result of business firms having an exaggerated idea

Many firms doing a large advertising business have labored under the impression that not having a street address indicated great importance in the home town and impressed customers with the fact that "even in New York and Chicago we are so well known the postman needs no help in finding us."

The result has been millions of letters delayed for "directory service."

Lisbon, Portugal, Nov. 15 (AP)—President Carmona, who contracted a slight chill at the Armistice Day celebrations, has been temporarily confined to his home.

CURTISS STAFF ANNOUNCED BY COPLAND

By GEORGE HAMBLIN

When Harry Depew Copland was appointed operations manager of the Boston station of Curtiss-Wright, he announced that he would have a complete list of heads of departments ready as soon as he found out what made the wheels go around.

Harry now comes to bat with the following data: William "Bill" Harris in charge of all information at the airport, with a desk right inside the front door; H. E. "Doc" Martin as assistant to Eddie Dungan in the Curtiss "store" at the airport; Bob Foote shifted from Boston office to airport, in charge of traffic and sales; Parker McGreevy, chief of maintenance, replacing Al Sharman, who is back on flying status: Doug Husted, in charge of the shop; O. C. "Ossie" Leonard, line chief, and, last but not least Miss Mary Cameron as stenographer and telephone operator. Ralph T. Wickford continues as chief pilot, and Adolph M. Backstrom is chief of student instruction.

There's the whole works, each man an expert in his line, and Harry thinks the entire shebang will run like clock-work.

R. G. "Gil" Ervin, general-manager for New England, and F. H. Spencer, head of the New England sales department, climbed into the 300 horsepower Whirlwind Cessna and took off for Bridgeport, the first port of call on a tour of the New England stations. The two boys make the rounds every so often, and this time they will be gone until Saturday or Sunday.

TWO EARLY BIRDS

While on the subject of Curtiss and Copland, Harry loaned us the current issue of the Early Birds magazine. This organization is composed solely of boys who flew solo prior to December 17, 1916. This solo flight could be made in an airplane, glider, airship or gas-balloon.

We have two members of the Early Birds at the Boston airport, both employed by Curtiss-Wright. They are none other than Harry Depew Copland, himself, and Percival H. "Spence" Spencer, who formerly held New England's only official record, that of the OX-5 altitude mark.

In the future, when we write about either one of these two chaps, we will call them "Birds," because that is what they are known by in the E. B. organization.

EDSON ACTIVE

Along with J. Paul Herman and Russell Pierce, Copland climbed up to the very top of the observation tower atop the administration building, and there watched Airport Super "Eddie" Edson correct a whole flock of planes which were landing down-wind after a sudden shift in the direction of said wind.

"Eddie," in his brand new flivver coupe, was racing back and forth, chasing planes that landed to tell the pilots that the wind had shifted, and flagging pilots who were ready to take off. This boy Edson sees everything that goes on at the airport, and is right on the spot to set things right.

He was so wide awake that he saw the three of us sitting on the roof of the control tower, from the other side of the airport, and immediately came over and gave us all the bum's rush down out of there. A great place to watch the whole airport, and the highest spot on the field.

N. J. to Pluck Careless Driver Off Road

Newark, Nov. 15 (AP)—A law designed to remove the careless auto driver from the road or make him prove financial responsibility went into effect in New Jersey today.

One hundred violations of the State's general motor vehicle laws would bring the operator and owner of an auto under the operation of the new act. Attorneys point out that the violator will be unable to resort to the subterfuge of placing a car in his wife's name.

The motorist becoming involved in any of the infractions will be obliged to produce a certificate showing he is able to pay damages of $5000 in the event of fatal injury to one person or $10,000 for more than one.

$54,335 Rebate to Brookline Estate

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—An abatement of $54,335 to the estate of James F. Rhodes, of Brookline, Mass., for overassessment of estate tax was announced today by the Internal Revenue Bureau.

The overassessment was caused through allowance for credit for estate inheritance taxes paid subsequent to filing the Federal returns.

Barre, Vt., Pulpit for Rev. Chayer

Barre, Vt., Nov. 15 (AP)—The appointment of the Rev. Charles C. Chayer, superintendent of the St. Johnsbury district of the Vermont Methodist Conference, as pastor of Hedding Methodist Episcopal Church in this city was announced today by Bishop William F. Anderson of Boston.

Rev. Chayer will begin his pastoral duties next Sunday. He succeeds Rev. Charles M. Charlton, who resigned to accept a Providence, R. I., pastorship. Rev. H. G. Lipsky, formerly of this city and now of Springfield, will be superintendent of the St. Johnsbury district.

Would Let Hoover Lease Muscle Shoals

Washington, Nov. 15 (INS)—Full authority to lease the great nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals would be conferred upon the President under amendments to the Norris resolution, introduced by Senator Black (D.) of Alabama today.

If no satisfactory bid is offered in three months, the President would be directed to institute governmental operation.

LAWRENCE MAN CHARGED WITH R. I. ROBBERY

Toy Pistol Holdup Victim's $1500 Ring Recovered by Speedy Police Efforts

Pawtucket, R. I., Nov. 15—After alert detective work, William A. Lessard of Clark st., Lawrence, was charged here today with highway robbery in the holdup of Thomas J. Moran, shoe merchant.

Moran was held up with a toy pistol in the driveway of his home in Summit st. after arriving in a taxicab.

In a rough and tumble fight a $1500 diamond ring was stolen from his hand.

Moran telephoned police. Inspector Blue was told by the taxi driver that another car had followed his and that one of the men in it was John J. Lessard, who formerly lived here.

Blue found Lessard's wife, who is still living here and got the number of an auto her husband was known to have driven. The number was broadcast and later Patrolman Charles Chase saw the car in front of the Depot House, Barton st. He called headquarters and a squad of police surrounded the house.

William and John Lessard, brothers, and George Rowan of Lockmair, N. H., were arrested. Moran identified William as the robber.

Moran and William were left alone in a room at the police station. Police watched and say they saw Lessard take off a shoe and pass the ring to Moran. They then charged William with the robbery. Judge L. J. Tuck held him without bail.

The other two are held for investigation.

Racial "War" May Close University

Warsaw, Poland, Nov. 15 (AP)—Friction between Christian and Jewish students at the University of Cracow has caused the minister of education to inform the rector that the university will be closed for six months if the incidents continue.

The trouble has been most intense among students in the medical college. There have been seven encounters in which police intervention was necessary.

Vets' Fathers Form a "Daddies' Club"

A Daddies' Club of Watertown Post, American Legion, composed of fathers of World War veterans, has been formed with 16 charter members. Richard Jackson is president of the club and the other officers are Patrick H. O'Halloran, vice-president; P. H. O'Connell, secretary; Thomas Ford, treasurer; John W. Lowe, chaplain; Oscar McElhiney, sergeant-at-arms.

Charlestown Tot Is Injured by Auto

While crossing Pleasant st., Charlestown, today, Mary O'Donnell, 5, of 29 Pleasant st., Charlestown, was injured by an auto operated by William J. Mahoney of Wendover st., Dorchester.

Mahoney picked up the child and conveyed her to the Haymarket Sq. Relief hospital, where she was found to be suffering from a fractured leg. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter O'Donnell.

2 American Wives Get Paris Divorces

Paris, Nov. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Ellis Bebner Forkum was granted a divorce today from Ralph Leroy Forkum, widely known commercial artist. They were married in St. Charles, Mo., March 15, 1913. The divorce was granted on grounds of abandonment.

Walter Rummel, pianist and grandson of Samuel F. B. Morse, inventor of the telegraph, filed suit for divorce against Clara Hetherington Rummel.

King and Queen at Sandringham

London, Nov. 15 (AP)—King George and Queen Mary returned to Sandringham by train today after a three weeks' stay in London. The Prince of Wales drove to Buckingham Palace to bid his parents goodbye.

A large crowd outside the palace gave hearty cheers when their Majesties departed. During the King's stay in London, he interviewed Prime Minister MacDonald and nearly all the cabinet ministers, visited several theaters and wound up by seeing the war play "Journey's End."

"MY NERVES WERE IN TERRIBLE CONDITION"

Also Tells How She Suffered With Stomach Trouble —And the Relief Bon-Tone Brought

There is no need of your suffering just because the functioning of your internal organs has slowed down! Those headaches that pain you; that ache in your back; those nauseating attacks; those dizzy spells; and all the other symptoms of a sluggish stomach and intestines can be pleasantly done away with. Bon-Tone has been recommended for its marvelous results. People who have suffered for years because of sluggish organs have found relief in this tonic. Get a bottle of Bon-Tone today, and watch it make your internal organs function properly.

Mrs. Lena A. Durfee, of 96 Kimball Avenue, Revere, Mass., states: "My stomach bothered me for the last three years. Everything I ate seemed to turn sour, and lay like a lump of iron in my stomach. My nerves were also in terrible condition—the least noise would make me want to scream; and at the least excitement the nerves in my stomach would start to jump something terrible. And, between the bloated feeling I would have after eating, and the awful belching of gas, life was certainly anything but pleasant. Constipation had me taking laxatives about all the time, and I suffered at times from dizzy spells.

"When a friend of mine recommended Bon-Tone, I had but very little faith in it, to speak truthfully, as I had taken so many other medicines, I thought they were all alike. But after having taken two bottles of Bon-Tone, I could notice a marked improvement in my condition. Now after having taken six bottles of this remedy, I can honestly say that I have never felt better in all my life! I can eat almost anything with no distress afterwards; and my nerves are in wonderful shape—my bowels are regular, and I sleep fine. I most heartily recommend Bon-Tone to anyone with stomach or nervous trouble, as there is no question but that they will receive results."

Go to Epstein Drug Store, Scollay Square, Boston, and meet our representative. He will explain more about Bon-Tone.

For your convenience Bon-Tone is for sale in South Boston at John S. Austin's Drug Store, Perkins Square, and in Cambridge at the Cole Drug Co., 636 Mass. Ave., Central Square.

HOMEMAKERS GIVEN TIPS ON BIG DINNER

Martha Lee School of Practical Cookery Devotes Much Time to Features for Fine Thanksgiving Dinner Menu

"What smells so good?" is the first question of the visitor to the Martha Lee Kosy Korner Kitchen these days. And the answer is sure to be either in a new and savory stuffing for the Thanksgiving bird, a fluffy golden sauce for the steamed pudding or a spicy cake to hide under lock and key.

This week's lesson in the Martha Lee School of Practical Cookery has centered 'round a foundation for a holiday dinner—not the complete menu, but the sort of dinner one can serve almost any Sunday, and upon which one can build an entirely satisfactory holiday feast.

Firstly, sisteren, remember rule No. 1—a thin soup for a heavy dinner! Serve one of the fashionably large bread croutons, buttered, rolled in grated cheese and browned, in your clear soup if you must, but don't dull that precious Thanksgiving day appetite with too hearty cocktails and soups.

HOW TO BUY TURKEY

The lesson on the purchasing, trussing and dressing of poultry was given on a chicken, although practically the same rules apply to turkeys. Select a bird with firm flesh, thin tender skin and short plump legs. The feet should be smooth and yellow and the claws supple.

Wipe dry, rub with salt and fill loosely with your favorite stuffing. The mushroom dressing made in the Martha Lee School this week deserves more complimentary adjectives than we can find in our dictionary. It is a luscious combination of bread and cracker crumbs, butter, green pepper, parsley, a dash of onion, mushrooms, and seasonings.

Sunflower potatoes bring ordinary sweet potatoes right into the high art class. The potato petals are arranged sunflower fashion with mashed sweet potato in the center, scored to represent the seeds. Then the entire dish is dotted with butter, brown sugar and a trickling of maple syrup and baked slowly ¾ hour until transparent.

A quicker way to candy potatoes and one that's very satisfactory was shown by Martha Lee. A large lump of butter—perhaps a generous ¼ cup—was melted in a heavy frying pan with 1½ cups of brown sugar. Thick slices of sweet potato were laid on this and placed over a very low flame, allowing the sugar and butter to caramelize slowly. The potatoes were turned occasionally and in half an hour were beautifully candied and served to an appreciative audience.

GET YOUR NEW CARDS

Somehow we look for onions on Thanksgiving Day—plain boiled or creamed—or better yet onions with the nut stuffing which was included in Martha Lee's demonstration lecture. Cranberry jelly with diced celery and fig pudding with a golden sauce that deserves a special paragraph all its own, completed this foundation dinner. (You're very welcome to a copy of this lesson sheet—which, by the way, is Lesson 5 of Class VII—if you'll drop Martha Lee a line, giving the number of your membership card in the Martha Lee Women's Club.)

Which reminds me to speak again about the new issue of membership cards in this up-to-date women's organization of no dues but many privileges. If you are not already a member, simply write to Martha Lee, giving your name and address, and a membership card will be sent to you. With it will go a package of interesting, up-to-date recipe leaflets and books and a cordial welcome in our cooking classes.

The Tuesday evening class for Brides and Business Girls, as well as the Homemakers' Wednesday afternoon class were crowded to capacity this week. And next week's lesson on Thanksgiving specialties is sure to be equally popular. Remember, visitors are always welcome at either of these classes. Remember, too, that the number of vacancies remaining in the January evening and afternoon classes is getting smaller and smaller.

TRY THIS IN TURKEY TIME

After you've eaten all the turkey you can possibly hold, try a serving of this cranberry ice and surprise yourself by renewed interest in the remainder of the holiday dinner.

CRANBERRY ICE

1 lb. cranberries
1½ cups sugar
1 lemon (juice)
4 cups water
Pinch of salt

Cover and cook the cranberries until soft in the quart of water. While hot rub through a sieve and add the other ingredients. Freeze, using 6 parts of ice to one of salt, or in a mechanical ice box, stirring occasionally. Garnish with whole cranberries, cooked in sugar syrup until clear.

TRY CLAM BISQUE

To whet finicky appetites, try this Clam Bisque with popped corn.

CLAM BISQUE

2 doz. soft-shelled clams
½ cup water
1 sliced onion
Sprig parsley
Salt and pepper
2 cloves
Blade mace
2 tbsp. cornstarch
2 tbsp. cold water
1 qt. milk

Wash clams, cover with water, bring to the boiling point, and cook until shells open. Chop clams fine and add liquor; then add onion, parsley, clams and mace; simmer 30 minutes. Bring milk to scalding point and thicken with cornstarch diluted with cold water. Simmer 10 minutes and add clam water, strained through a double cheesecloth. Season with salt and pepper, and serve with popped corn, or whipped cream.

Lyonnaise Potato Balls

Melt three tbsps. butter in a frying pan; add 2 tbsps. fine-chopped onion; stir and cook until the onion is softened and yellow; add to 3 c. of chopped, boiled potatoes three-fourths of a tsp. salt, a dash of pepper, and one tbsp. chopped parsley, mixed thoroughly; shape into balls and brown in a hot frying pan.

What to Look For in Buying Your Turkey

When you pick out the Thanksgiving bird, examine the feet carefully for telltale signs of old age. The young bird's feet are soft and yellow and the claws are supple. The skin should be smooth and thin, well-peppered with pin feathers. Long hairs on the skin are an unfailing sign of ripe old age.

NUTRITIONIST PROVES IT CAN BE DONE

Miss Dimond, Community Health Association Expert, Prepares Economical and Well-Balanced Schedule

You who write me "how can I keep my grocery bill for three under $15."—Yes, and even $18 and $20, may find it hard to believe that a typical American family of five, a man, woman, boy, 13, girl, 7 and boy, 3, can live for a week on $10.73 worth.

Miss Blanche F. Dimond, supervisor of nutrition for the Community Health Association of Boston asserts that they can, and still receive adequate nourishment. She proves her contention by a schedule of meals, economical and yet well balanced for health, for a family of five, based on a $10.73 weekly grocery order.

This seems to be the logical answer to the many appeals which have been telephoned and mailed in to the Health Association at 502 Park Square Building, Boston, on the diet problem. Most of these requests come from mothers, but the men folks have their diet problems too, judging from the number of letters received from the sterner sex. "Big sisters" and "little mothers" on whom the cares of households rest, complain too, of brothers' ravenous appetites and ask for recipes for cheaper dishes that will satisfy them.

100 TRAINED NURSES

The Community Health Association has 150 visiting trained nurses and nutrition advisers working from 14 district offices throughout Boston and are always glad to help solve your health problem.

In the breakfasts on the following schedule for a week there is orange juice for the three-year-old child, milk for the children, with coffee with milk and sugar for adults, bread and butter and cereal for all. The cereal may be alternated for variety—for instance Farina with milk and sugar on Sunday and Thursday and cornmeal mush (except for the three-year-old) on Monday and Wednesday (the three-year-old should have Farina) and oatmeal for Tuesday and Friday.

Here are the dinner and supper menus for each day:

SUNDAY
Dinner
Beef stew with potato, onions, carrots
Bread and butter
Gingerbread
Milk for the 3-year-old
Supper
Milk toast
Stewed prunes
Cocoa for children
Tea for adults

MONDAY
Dinner
Beef and rice
Creamed carrots
Bread and butter
Bread Pudding and milk

White Plum Pudding

Put 12 ounces of powdered crackers in a bowl, add 1 lb. of raisins. Pour over this 1 qt. of boiling milk. Mix well. Then make a custard of 1 qt. of milk, 6 eggs, 1 c. of sugar, little nutmeg, cinnamon and salt. Grated rind of 1 lemon. Stir this into crackers. Put in baking dish and dot with bits of butter. Bake and serve with hot sauce.

Music Urged to Increase Output of Workers

"SPRAY your employes with good music while they work if you would speed up production; keep them happy, and create good-will advertising for your firm."

This was the suggestion of Kenneth S. Clark of the National Bureau for the Advancement of Music at a conference of the music department of the State Federation of Woman's Clubs at the Hotel Statler, where delegates from all over the State dedicated themselves to a campaign for more music in industry.

"Employes benefit by industrial music because it increases production in the same way that cotton pickers, boatmen, sailors and others learned long ago and practiced voluntarily. Also, it provides a common meeting ground for employer and workers, it improves morale, and cuts down the turnover of employes, while creating good-will advertising for the firm," Clark told the convention.

The worker benefits through having the effects of fatigue counteracted by soothing, inspiring music, through finding new avenues of self expression and widened friendships in the atmosphere provided by a good concert, the speaker pointed out.

"In many big industrial plants where a musical hour has been introduced the results have been so beneficial to all concerned that the concerts are being given more frequently, with marvelous results," Clark said.

"The effect of good music has a value beyond money. Community music is any use of music in which the emphasis is not merely upon the music itself, but upon its effect upon the lives of those participating in it, and one of the best places to stir up more active participation is in industry."

Music should be taught in the public schools as one of the basic subjects, along with reading, writing and arithmetic, Clark added.

WOMEN'S CITY CLUB

That more women probation officers are the only practical solution for the wayward girl problem was the contention of Mrs. Winona Osborne Pinkham, addressing a luncheon meeting of the Women's City Club.

"The reason that so many girls on probation fail is that they have to report to men officers," Mrs. Pinkham charged. "This is a situation that must be remedied with women probation officers. The establishment of a domestic relations and juvenile court interlocking would take care of another crying need so often met by the welfare committee of the Massachusetts Civic League, that of neglected children."

SALEM WOMAN'S CLUB

"We Go to Alaska" is the title of the address to be given by Mrs. Jessie Carter White before the club members on Nov. 20 at Academy Hall at 3 p. m. Cecile Michaud will be at the piano. Mrs. Arthur W. Moser, chairman of the education committee is in charge of the meeting.

WOMEN'S ORGANIZATION OF B. A. R. D.

On Nov. 18 a luncheon at Foodcraft Shop, 224 Boylston st., will take the place of the monthly meeting. Bridge and a short business meeting will follow.

IPSWICH WOMAN'S CLUB

An afternoon meeting will be held Monday at 2:45 p. m., when Mrs. Elmer Huston will report the State Federation meeting at Brockton, and Miss Alice Smith will tell of her travels through France.

KALMIA CLUB

Charles Brandon Booth, regional director of the Big Brother and Big Sister Federation, and son of Gen. and Mrs. Ballington Booth, will talk on "The Child That Nobody Understands" at the next meeting of the club at North Attleboro Monday.

JEWISH WOMEN

The Boston section, National Council of Jewish Women, will hear an interesting address by Herbert C. Parsons, commissioner of probation, at its next meeting on Monday at Temple Israel Meeting House, Longwood ave., Brookline, at 2 p. m. Parsons is a member of the special children's commission appointed to study laws pertaining to dependent and neglected children. Miss Sophie Friedman will be hostess for the afternoon.

W. ROXBURY WOMAN'S CLUB

The American Home Department, Mrs. Norman Hastings, chairman, has arranged a social afternoon in the form of a luncheon and bridge at the Foodcraft Shop, 234 Boylston st., for next Wednesday. As a result of guest invites distributed last spring under the direction of Mrs. Guy Mitchell, 500 members are now catalogued in regard to the branch of club work in which they are most interested.

DAUGHTERS OF MAINE

Federation day will be observed at Hotel Brunswick next Thursday at 2 p. m., when the guests will include Mrs. Azel A. Packard, president, and Mrs. Frederick G. Smith, membership chairman of the general federation; Mrs. Carl L. Watson, president Boston city federation, and Mrs. William J. McDonald, sixth district director. A musicale is in charge of Mrs. Stacey Hall, music chairman.

ASHBURNDALE WOMEN'S CLUBS

Dramatics, with home talent, will be the program for next Thursday, directed by Mrs. Edwin M. Preilwitz.

BENEFIT BY SALT BATH

Do you miss last summer's refreshing ocean dips? Foolish question No. 762. But do you know that you can get much of the joyous invigoration and tonic benefit of ocean bathing right in your own bathroom at the cost of only a few cents? Make every bath a salt bath, and the salt water will penetrate your skin and pores and cleanse them of impurities.

This vital salt solution will soothe and quiet your nerves, too, especially after a hard and exacting day's work. Indeed, your evening bath will do much of the work of a week-end vacation, if you'll give it a chance. And you'll wake up in the morning feeling fresh and fit, your mind clear and your system cleansed of impurities. Because when salt is applied to the skin the tissues will absorb it from the outside and it will wash off and carry away waste products and dirt from the skin.

Draw half a tub of water, using a thermometer to obtain summer ocean temperature (62 to 72), or for those above 80, a temperature of 98 to 100 is suggested. Pour into the water one carton of pure salt, leaving enough salt in the carton to massage the muscles and feet as a finish to your bath. Before stepping out of the tub thoroughly rinse the grains of salt from the body. You'll be delighted with the sound sleep that follows and the invigorated and youthful feeling next morning.

For shower baths, wet the body and apply the salt by hand, rubbing it well over the skin as athletes do before and after a contest. Note the tingle of invigoration and exhilaration. These salt baths are also helpful in treating rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia and lumbago.

A Cheese Dish That Is Different

2 eggs.
½ cup grated cheese.
1 tbsp. butter.
1-3 tsp. mustard.
Cayenne pepper and salt to taste.

Cook ralston and milk five minutes; add butter, yolks of eggs, mustard, salt, cayenne pepper and cheese; then fold in carefully the well beaten whites of eggs, pour into a greased baking dish and bake in a quick oven 20 minutes.

Police Ball Feb. 12

The Medford police officers will lay aside their uniforms and make merry on the night of Feb. 12, upon which date their annual police ball is to be held in the Lawrence Light Guard Armory, that city.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

Wants Space Justice in Parking Areas

Editor Boston American:

In free and unlimited parking space for autos in Boston I object to a few hogging more space than they need between parked cars.

If these offenders will not yield to the common rule of giving the other fellow a chance to park, than they need between parked out to direct the space absorbers.

We don't ask for mercy to our cars, but justice in getting them parked, where there is plenty of room. We expect them to be stolen, tops crushed, as I have had in one instance and a friend of mine had his front window pierced by a stone—I say we expect all this—but by all powers that be, we want space-justice, as we are taxpayers.

For Commandment Against Lying

Editor Boston American:

Some time ago in your Readers' column you said something against perjury and the increasing habit of lying. There is no doubt about that. A lie has no legs. This is an old adage. It is being verified daily in Boston and other places.

But what about the Ten Commandments, for in the same issue your paper publishes a sentence of a sermon advising people to obey the Ten Commandments.

But there is no law against lying in the Ten Commandments. The ninth commandment may have this flavoring in it, but is far fetched. Personally we should add another commandment to the "Tables of Stone." I commend this one: "Thou Shalt Not Lie."

People Call for More of New Anesthetic

Editor Boston American:

Drs. J. S. Lundy of the Mayo Clinic and R. M. Isenberger of the University of Kansas have discovered a new anesthetic which puts patients to sleep and they call for more. This is what this doctor claim.

It is called "Iso-Anylethyl Barbituric acid." That name is enough to put anyone to sleep. If it proved to be what it is, the Massachusetts General Hospital may soon experiment with it. It was in this hospital that ether was first used by Dr. Mc Lon.

If this new anesthetic will stand for all that it claims to be it will encourage more people to have operations and then want more of it to enjoy the spell. This is getting to be a great world. MEDICAL STUDENT.

Does President Hoover Precede His Wife?

Editor Boston American:

Who goes first at the White House social functions, President Hoover or Mrs. Hoover?

A man bet me a fountain pen against a shoe horn that President Hoover always preceded his wife as was the case with former President Coolidge. I said that President Hoover always permits Mrs. Hoover to go first on all occasions. A man should never forget that his wife is boss, and this is one outward sign of this inward conviction. Who's boss at the White House?

Cotton Exchange Probers Organize

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—A Senate agriculture sub-committee ordered to investigate the New York, Chicago and New Orleans cotton exchanges organized today by electing Senator Townsend, Republican, Delaware, chairman, and adjourned until Tuesday.

At the meeting Townsend said plans would be made and witnesses summoned. It was probable, he added, presidents of three exchanges would be called.

Noodle Ring With Creamed Crab Meat

Cook ½ cup noodles, broken in small pieces in rapidly boiling, salted water until tender (about 15 minutes), drain in a colander. Beat 6 eggs until light, add ¼ tsp. salt, a few drops onion juice, 2 tbsps. grated cheese and ½ cup rich cream; beat slightly and add the noodles. Blend the ingredients with a fork and turn into a buttered border mould. Set the mould in a pan of boiling water and bake at 325 deg. F. for 35 minutes. Turn from the mould on to a serving platter and fill the center with creamed chicken, crab meat or mushrooms.

Oysters or Chestnuts for Turkey Stuffing

Have you taken the family vote as to what the turkey stuffing shall be this year? Ten chances to one the choice lies between oyster or chestnut stuffing, with perhaps a few votes for sausage.

Just a word of warning—while your stuffing should be flavorful, it should not be so spicy as to overshadow the turkey flavor. Be stingy with the sage, but generous with salt and pepper. Here's a reliable rule for oyster stuffing.

Oyster Stuffing

Mix 1½ cups stale breadcrumbs and 1¼ cups finely ground cracker crumbs. Melt ½ cup butter and add it to the crumbs. Drain a pint of oysters and add ¼ cup of the liquid and 2½ tsps. salt, ⅛ tsp. pepper and a pinch of mace to the crumb mixture. Stir thoroughly, then add 2 cups of small oysters or large ones cut in pieces.

Chestnut Stuffing

Shell and blanch 2 cups chestnuts. Cook in boiling salted water until soft. Drain and mash, using a potato ricer. Add ¾ cup butter, 1 tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. pepper and ½ cup cream. Melt ¼ cup butter, mix with 1 cup cracker crumbs, then combine mixtures.

Sausage Stuffing

Chop a small onion fine. Cook for 3 minutes in 3 tbsps. butter. Add ¼ lb. sausage meat and season with 2 tsps. salt, ¼ tsp. pepper, 2 tsps. minced parsley, and 2 ounces (4 tbsps.) of fresh bread crumbs.

Pineapple Cream Pie

Cream ¼ cup butter and gradually add 1¼ cups sugar, creaming them well together. Add the beaten yolks of 2 eggs and 1 cup syrup drained from crushed or grated pineapple. Mix and sift 2¼ cups flour, ¼ tsp. salt and 4 tsps. baking powder and gradually add to the mixture, beating constantly. Fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites and pour in 2 greased and floured layer cake pans.

Bake in a moderate oven 15 to 20 minutes.

Make a custard sauce using 2 egg yolks. Beat the 2 egg whites until stiff and add 2 tbsps. powdered sugar. When the cake is cool put the layers together with a thick layer of well-drained crushed or grated pineapple sprinkled with powdered sugar and on the top layer spread the meringue. Brown quickly in a hot oven and serve with cold custard sauce poured around it.

Pumpkin Meringue Pie

Into one cup and a half of sifted cooked pumpkin stir one cup of milk, half a cup thick cream, 2-3 cup of brown sugar, 2 tbsp. of molasses, ½ tsp. salt, 1 tsp. of ground ginger, cinnamon and nutmeg to taste and 1 whole egg and 1 egg yolk beaten lightly together. Have ready a deep pie plate lined with pastry and finished with fluted border. Brush over the inside with beaten white of egg and let dry off for a few minutes.

Then turn in the pumpkin custard mixture and set in a hot oven for 10 minutes. Then reduce the heat and bake for 20 minutes longer. Take from the oven and cover with thick meringue made from the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs and 2 tbsp. of sugar and set in a very slow oven to brown.

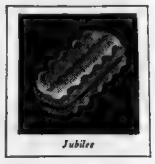
GOOD FOR GUESTS

For 6 people, use 6 medium-sized sweet potatoes, 2 tbsps. butter, ¼ cup pineapple syrup from the can, brown sugar to taste, 3 or 4 slices pineapple, 6 or 8 marshmallows. Boil and mash the potatoes. Add the butter and pineapple juice and beat until light and smooth. Half fill a buttered baking dish with the potato. Cover with a layer of wedge-shaped pieces of pineapple.

Fill in the rest of the potato and the rest of the pineapple arranged on top. Sprinkle with brown sugar and place the marshmallows on top of the pineapple. Bake in a moderate oven until the marshmallows are browned and slightly melted. Don't bake too long or you'll find your marshmallows will puff up and disappear entirely from mortal view, leaving just a flat film.

ENGLAND'S most charming dainties



Jubilee

LATE afternoon in London finds a host of charming people gay over their fragrant tea and biscuits —"English biscuits," confections made of the fine flours of the world, blended with a special, English pastry butter and flavors such as honey, lime or chocolate. So tasty are these traditional biscuits or cakes that Americans have often, at considerable expense, imported them even though their freshness faded on the long voyage over. But now Americans may obtain them fresh, and with no extra expense! For they are now baking them in America, with English methods and tradition! You may buy Weston's English Quality Biscuits at your store.

DUCK AND ORANGE SAUCE

Wash the duck, remove the pin feathers and singe well. Be sure the inside is entirely clean. Fill with apple stuffing. Then tie the tail securely with a long string and fasten to the crossed drum sticks (unless you use the metal skewers which I myself much prefer).

Dredge with flour and seasonings and put in a hot oven 475 degrees for 30 minutes. Then reduce heat to moderate 350 degrees and finish the roasting, allowing 20 minutes for each pound. Baste every 10 minutes during last half hour of baking and serve with this orange sauce.

ORANGE SAUCE

3 tbsps. of butter
1 tbsp. flour
1 cup stock
½ tsp. sugar
2 grains cayenne
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. paprika
Juice of 1 orange.

Put butter in saucepan and when melted add flour and cook until brown and smooth. Add stock and seasonings and simmer 10 minutes. Remove from fire and add grated rind and juice of one orange.

Hit-and-Run Driver Left Boy on Road

Concord, Nov. 15—Edwin Hall, 11, of Lowell rd, Acton, was brought to the Emerson Hospital here after being struck and left by the side of the highway by a hit-and-run driver.

The boy was walking the State highway, near the Four Corners. At the hospital it was found he had a fractured left shoulder and possible internal injuries.

Wines and Brandy Under Volstead Approval

If you are one of the hundreds of New England housewives who mourned the passing of good old cooking sherry for the shanks giving mince meat, and brandy for the hard sauce, perk up. All the old-time flavors are available in cordials of concentrated delicousness made right under the United States Internal Revenue Permit. The flavors include grenadine with a wine base and fruit juices with pomegranates predominating, apricot brandy, peach brandy, imported brandy, claret punch, port flavoring, sherry flavoring, claret sauce, creme de menthe and vermouth.

The grenadine is especially delicious served on grapefruit or fruit cocktails, in salad dressing, in whipped cream, pudding sauces and in cake icings. A tbsp. of grenadine to a glass of pale dry gingerale makes a delicious as well as beautiful drink. And for an especially handsome dessert try pears, jelled in grenadine aspic. (Recipe on request.)

The imported brandy flavoring gives the old-time touch to hard sauce made by creaming 1-3 c. of butter with 1 c. confectioners' sugar and 2 tbsps. of the brandy flavoring.

And the rum sauce or sherry flavoring added to fruit cakes, mince meat, or plum pudding will bring almost forgotten deliciousness back to these seasonable favorites.

Apricot brandy on waffles and pancakes and fritters in place of maple syrup delight the epicure, and a pans made with old-style sherry or port wine flavoring and flour spread over ham before baking seals the flavor.

In the Golden Pudding Sauce made in the Martha Lee Kitchen this week sherry flavoring played an important part. Would you like the recipe?

TO RUSH MAIL FROM AIRPORT

In anticipation of the heavy parcel post traffic during the Christmas season, Boston postal authorities will establish temporary parcel post headquarters in a building to be turned over for their use at the East Boston airport, it was announced by John J. O'Brien, superintendent of deliveries for the Boston postal district.

During the Christmas rush, when present quarters will be inadequate, the temporary quarters at the air base will serve as a clearing house and distributing point.

A large part of the parcel post will be delivered direct from the temporary quarters and the remainder to the various postal offices.

Duce Receives Former Hub Woman

Rome, Nov. 15—Premier Mussolini received Capt. Francesco Guardabassi and his wife, who was Rosalind Wood and is the daughter of the late William A. Wood of Boston, Mass., founder of the American Woolen Company.

Signora Guardabassi gave the Duce a large sum for the Italian National Institute of Scientific Research, and Capt. Guardabassi gave 50,000 lire to each of two other institutions.

SEES MAINE IN GRIP OF TRUST

Augusta, Me., Nov. 15—"Frankly, it would seem impossible to persuade you that democracy is threatened if, you are not aroused to the fact that a great combination of utilities, banks, newspapers and industries has in substance complete domination over our present State government," declared Mayor John Wilson of Bangor in addressing members of the Augusta Kiwanis Club.

"You can't help recognizing that the interests of the people are lost or subordinated to those of this great combine," Mayor Wilson continued, "with its notorious lobby, its slush funds, its unlimited money, from a source unknown and for a use unmentionable; its false and intentionally misleading statements, the fraudulent or accidental miscount of votes in its favor on a wholesale scale."

Illeana-Boris Match Nothing But Rumor

Sofia, Nov. 15—Rumors concerning the probability of a marriage between King Boris and Princess Ileana of Rumania have bobbed up again, but have been squelched by the Bulgarian government.

Officials here declare that the reports were without foundation.

Since the opposition of the Vatican wrecked the project of an alliance between the Bulgarian ruler and Princess Giovanna of Italy, the King has seemingly given up, for the time being, ideas looking toward the perpetuation of his dynasty.

Seeks 9 Boys for Breaking Windows

Forty-six panes of glass have been broken in the new Hamilton school, Nichols st., Everett, it was made known, when school officials appealed to the police for protection. The panes of glass have been broken within the past three days and police are seeking nine boys who are said to have been throwing stones at the windows.

REAL HUB BEANS A TREAT

One of the most welcome visitors we've seen in the Martha Lee Kitchen for a blue moon appeared one morning this week—one who enjoys calling herself Grandmarm Ida, but who is certainly the youngest looking grandmother—and great grandmother—east of the Great Divide.

She came to talk over wine flavorings in holiday cookery, but we button-holed her long enough to get from her a long promised recipe for real Old-Fashioned Boston Baked Beans. Better we almost persuaded her to come down to the Martha Lee Kitchen and supervise the baking of some on the next rainy Tuesday.

Grandmarm Ida's beans are justly famous and are the final answer to the frequent question, "How should real Boston beans be baked?"

"Use yellow-eyed beans," commenced Grandmarm Ida, "and I want them to be two years old or older, if possible. To be sure of this, I have mine sent to me from Maine, but you will have to take your grocer's word. The remainder of my ingredients includes 1 lb of pig pork, 3 dessert-spoons of light brown sugar, 1 dessert spoon of clear, light molasses (or less, if you wish), an even salt spoon of mustard (No salt—the salt pork is sufficient).

I soak the yellow-eyed beans overnight and next morning pour off the water. Cover with fresh water and put on the stove. Bring to a boil and boil gently from 7 to 10 minutes for year-old beans, 15 to 20 minutes for two-year old or older. Drain the beans and add the rest of my ingredients in a cup of boiling water. Place beans in a jar so that they will come three inches from the top and fill up the jar with boiling water. Place the salt pork on top and be sure that the jar is kept full of boiling water from 10 30 in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Every half hour or hour you will find it necessary to add some more boiling water. Never let the water get below the surface of the beans. Up to 4 o'clock the bean should be tightly covered. At this time remove the cover and let the water slowly evaporate and the beans brown. They will be done at 5 30. And how!

To Use Fire Sign

Bethany, Nov. 15—A design which comprises a log of wood representing forestry, over which is thrown a yellow scarf and a letter F cut representing fire is the emblem adopted by fire wardens, and which will adorn the automobiles of the fire fighters from now on.

Thanksgiving Salad

2 tbsps. gelatine.
2 cups sugar
1 qt. cranberries
1 cup chopped apple.
½ cup nut meats.
1½ cups celery, diced.
3 cups water.
1 tsp. salt.

Soak gelatine in ½ cup of water 5 minutes. Cook cranberries in 3 cups cold water until soft. Strain, add sugar and cook for 5 minutes. Add gelatine and stir until dissolved, add salt and strain. When mixture begins to thicken, add celery and apple, and turn into square pan which has been rinsed in cold water. Chill, and when firm cut in squares placing a whole nut meat on each square. Serve on lettuce leaves and garnish with mayonnaise to which chopped nuts have been added. This salad serves 12.

Cranberry Applesauce

1½ cupfuls sliced apples
1½ cupfuls cranberries
1 cupful water
1 cupful sugar

Wash, pare and core the apples and slice before measuring. To these add the cranberries and water and cook slowly until soft. Then add the sugar and stir until the sugar is thoroughly dissolved. Remove and serve hot with meats or cold as a sauce for luncheon or supper.

Another Nice Recipe For Cranberries

Wash 4 cups cranberries. Add 2 cups sugar and one cup boiling water. Boil 20 minutes; then force through a strainer. When mixture begins to thicken, fold in one and one-half cups celery, cut crosswise of stalk in ½ inch slices. Turn into a large mould or individual moulds and chill. Remove from moulds and garnish with curled celery.

THE WATCH TOWER

If you are one of the fortunates "invited out" for the Thanksgiving dinner, why not have a dress rehearsal at home by ordering a native fresh killed turkey for Sunday's dinner? These extra specially delicious turkeys will be headline attractions on the meat counters around Thanksgiving—in fact the supply is sure to be unequal to the demand, so if you want to be sure of sampling these special birds, the time is right now.

At 65c to 70c a pound they are not too extravagant, considering the number of meals an eight-pound hen turkey will yield. (I've some interesting recipes for using turkey dinner left overs if you'd like to have them.) Cold storage turkeys are 42c to 48c. Native fresh killed chickens weighing 4.5 pounds are 48-50c with Western fresh killed 34-39c. Pork and ham prices are reasonable at 25-29c for a rib roast of pork and 27-32c for a whole wrapped ham.

Butter prices are lower than a week ago, praise be; so don't skimp on the butter for your cauliflower, Brussels sprouts and other seasonable vegetables.

Common yellow onions are plentiful and cheap (10 lbs. for 25c with a few small ones as low as 3 lbs for 15c). Sweet potatoes are another good buy right now and so is squash. Boston market celery, long noted for its splendid flavor, is 20c-25c a bunch of three stalks. Native lettuce is 5c-10c a head, and trimmed-down heads of California iceberg are 10c-15c a head. Spinach varies from 19c-25c for 3 lbs.

Small MacIntosh apples are as low as 25c-35c a dozen with the big fat, shining ones as high as 75c for 12.

MEATLESS MINCE PIE

By request, I'm repeating the recipe published last year in these columns for meatless mince pie.

MEATLESS MINCE PIE

Remove membrans from a pound of suet and chop. Chop a pound of raisins and a pound of currants and ¼ lb. each of candied citron, lemon and orange peel. Pare and chop a quart of sour apples; the peelings can be covered with water and boiled to extract the flavor and used in place of cider.

Mix 1 lb. brown sugar with 1 tbsp. each of cloves, cinnamon, ginger and nutmeg. Blend all ingredients thoroughly, adding a pint of cider or a pint of the apple juice. May be used at once or put into jars and processed.

Here's a Good Recipe for a Lemon Pie

LEMON SPONGE PIE

Mix together 1¼ cups sugar, 3 tbsps. flour, and ¼ tsp. salt. Add the grated rind and juice of 3 lemons, 3 egg yolks, 1 tbsp. melted butter, 2 cups milk, and last of all the beaten whites. Bake in one crust (unbaked) from 35 to 40 minutes. All the material should be ladled.

STUFFED BAKED TOMATOES

Wash the tomatoes and cut off the stem ends. Do not peel. Scoop out a little of the inside and chop this with a green pepper, a medium size onion, and simmer in a tablespoon of butter until the pepper and onion is tender. Then add a cup of cold boiled rice or a cup of bread crumbs, salt and pepper to taste. Fill the tomatoes. Put a bit of butter on top of each and put in a buttered baking dish.

Appraiser Dead

Andrew Lumsden died at his home, Summer st., Everett, in his 66th year. He was nationally known as an appraiser of the Lumsden-Van Stone Corporation, one of the largest piping contractors in the East.

Ends Police Career

Major, 18-year-old horse, that served with his rider, Eric Mitchell, as a member of the mounted police at station 16 of Back Bay for 14 years, has been retired from active service.

ARMS 'CACHED' IN PRISON FOR A BIG BREAK

Canon City, Col., Nov. 15 (AP)—An imposing array of improvised weapons, apparently manufactured by convicts at the State penitentiary here against the time when an organized prison break would be possible, has been discovered by guards working under the direction of Warden Francis E. Crawford.

Daggers, metal blackjacks, pieces of pipe and other weapons, weighing in the aggregate more than 300 pounds, were removed from hiding places in the penitentiary by guards. Warden Crawford announced the search would be continued until every possibility of finding weapons had been exhausted.

Some of the daggers apparently had been made from sheet metal in the plant where automobile license plates are manufactured. The weapons were ingeniously hidden—some in walls where they had been camouflaged and others in beds where it was made to appear that they were parts of the springs.

The discovery of the weapons was coincident with the resumption of the investigation by Governor Adams' committee into the causes of the riot at the penitentiary October 8 and 4, in which 13 deaths occurred. Eight of the 13 men killed were guards.

France Cuts Down on Naval Construction

Paris, Nov. 15 (AP)—New naval construction to be laid down in 1930 calls for 48,000 tons of ships, or 5400 less than the average quota adopted in 1924.

Under the terms of a bill, M. Leygues, minister of marine, introduced in Parliament, the program calls for one cruiser of 10,000 tons, six destroyers slightly larger than the present class, six first class submarines, one submarine mine layer, one surface mine layer, two dispatch boats for the colonial service and one submarine net layer.

Mutiny in British Army Unexplained

London, Nov. 15 (AP)—Revelation in the House of Commons of the fact that there had been a mutiny of British troops in Jamaica aroused considerable mystification and curiosity here. The government, while admitting the mutiny, was unable to state when or the circumstances.

Answering a question in Commons, Tom Shaw, war minister, said three soldiers of a Scottish regiment in Jamaica had been convicted by court martial on two charges of joining a mutiny

DEMOCRATS TO ASK BIGGER TAX CUT

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—Prompt congressional approval of the Treasury's new schems of tax reduction was betokened today by an almost unanimous agreement among party leaders that the nation's taxpayers should benefit as quickly as possible from the prosperous financial condition of the Government.

Factional spokesmen of both houses, save only those of the Western independent Republicans, were in virtual accord in sanctioning Secretary Mellon's plan of lopping a full 1 per cent from all normal schedules of income taxation.

Administration supporters were quick to speak their approbation and were joined by the Democratic leaders of the House. Senate Democrats agreed, too, but held out the possibility of demanding an even greater reduction than that advanced by the Treasury, conditioning their full approval on more definite information as to prospective federal needs and revenues than is now available.

The Western independents were non-committal, although it was indicated that they would raise no serious objection. Their position has been that Treasury surpluses should be applied to a reduction of the national debt.

NATION WASTES ITS TIME ON CRIMINALS

Worcester, Nov. 15 (AP)—That "we are wasting our time on criminals—they are not worth it," and "that there is a general misapprehension of the whole situation," was the characterization of present day crime given by Charles P. Whitman, former Governor of New York, in an address before the Worcester Economic Club.

Other high lights on the ex-Governor's address were that "a great number of people in the country were talking irresponsibly, that there was a lack of sanity in the discussion of crime, and a lack of intelligence and knowledge in the investigation of it," and that the "inspiration to save the convict was noble, but was not working out."

He expressed a deep faith in the courts of the United States, and said, "on the whole, the trouble is not in convicting the criminal, but in catching him."

STUDENTS EGG DEAN'S HOUSE

Des Moines, Nov. 15 (AP)—Student revolt against the attitude of Drake University authorities toward campus warfare with Iowa State College as a prelude to the school's football game at Ames tomorrow flared into open indignation early today with egg bombardment of the home of R. O. Davies, dean of men.

Davies last night refused to consider a petition asking for the reinstatement of six Drake students who were suspended for painting signs on Iowa State buildings and dwellings. He told the group who presented the petition it would have to come through the student council before he would consider it.

In retaliation, a dozen or more students came to his home shortly after midnight this morning and as I was invited to the house and plastered its front with eggs.

Shortly before the egg episode an effigy of Dean Davies, bearing a sign "Dean Hawkshaw," was hung on the campus in front of the administration building.

Three suspended students interested the Drake cheer leaders.

ANNOUNCEMENT

THE PRICES of Zenith Radio receivers will not be reduced. The forced sale of distress merchandise at cut prices proves conclusively that the public has refused to purchase partially-developed, inefficient screen-grid sets...that radio buyers have refused to accept the obsolete non-screen-grid type radio of last year's vintage.

The public has judged and, as we anticipated, distress stocks are the result.

No radio manufacturer is powerful enough to force obsolete radio on the public, even at present cut prices.

Zenith Radio receivers are fairly, justly and honestly priced. The quality put into them, together with genuine Automatic Tuning, precludes their being sold for less money. Zenith has no distress merchandise and will maintain its position in the industry. More Zeniths are being bought than ever before in Zenith history.

When you buy a Zenith Radio receiver you are getting greater dollar-for-dollar value...in quality, design, construction, and performance, in year-ahead development, and in lasting worth ...than in any other radio.

Embezzled Funds Lost in Market

Philadelphia, Nov. 15—Embezzlement of $200,000 lost in the stock market was charged against Clarence F. Heitman, 33, former bank keeper in the brokerage house of Mackie, Heintz and Company.

Officials of the company said the firm was fully protected by insurance and will suffer no loss. Heitman was held in $100,000 bail for court.

Landlord Sued

Suits for $15,000 damages were brought by Mr. and Mrs. Pasquino Marchille of Somerville against Alfonso Spera, owner of an apartment, for injuries to Mrs. Marchille when plaster fell from a ceiling.

SALARY BOOST FOR JUDGES FAVORED

Increases in the salaries of judges and other court officials were advocated today by minor attorneys and others at a hearing before the special commission created to investigate and report on county salaries.

Atty. George R. Nutter wanted the pay of probate judges raised to the level of the judges of the Superior court. R. Loring Young, a former Speaker of the House, another speaker, wanted increases for the probate judges of Middlesex and Suffolk counties.

Judge Francis N. Thompson of Franklin County said the present salary of the probate judges should be not less than $500 a month. He would have the salaries fixed in all counties on an equal basis.

The work of the Boston Municipal Court was explained to the commission by Judge Thomas H. Dowd. He characterized this court as the largest in the country and paying the lowest in salaries.

He said that four-fifths of the criminal work of the superior court is on appeal from the findings of the municipal court.

Finds Store Colors Mar Town's Beauty

Sunderland, Nov. 15 (AP)—The two stores, setting forth the club's move of the Sunderland Woman's protest.

Club to bring about modification of the glaring colored fronts of two stores in the town, on the plea that the color scheme clashes with the colonial atmosphere of the town, is being whicked by women's organizations.

The injection of the vivid splashes that adorn the store fronts in the main street of this town, tree-bordered, sedate and typical of the New England town at its best, is held to be decidedly out of keeping and an inharmonious note to which the club women object.

While the women admit the right of any company to use any color paint it prefers, they hold that a vivid hue is no longer a distinctive but rather a disfiguring paint when applied to store fronts.

Violent hues, they also point out, are an irritating influence which, if persisted in, may easily produce a reaction detrimental to the concern using it.

The club at its last meeting voted that a letter be sent by the executive board to the managers of the Air Romance, Better Than "Chickie"

What Has Happened

MARY PATRICIA DAWN, beautiful, young brunette, meets the lad of her dreams in the person of Guy Elliott, aviator. Guy is developing a perfect airplane in the plant of old William Bryce. Happy days follow with Pat and Guy in love. Then comes Barbara Bryce, young widow of Bryce's son, with her seductive lure. Later Guy receives a visit from Barbara and her young son, upon whom old Bryce squanders a fortune. Tom Burns, a workman, rages about the unfairness of wealth. His invalid son is dying for want of necessities. When Bryce refuses a loan, Burns swears revenge. He robs the office safe and is captured after a gun fight.

CHAPTER II

PAT had been standing at the window. Idly—in a glow and day dream. Suddenly she sprang back and called to her mother with startled slowness: "Well—will you look what's coming up the drive. Just look at him!"

She turned, saw her mother's flushed, happy eyes: "You knew? And you never told me? Well—the pair of you!"

Then her father stopped the new little car, poked his head from the window and with a wide, boyish grin: "Come on out, girls!"

Pat flew across the patio. She stood with one foot on the running-board, her eyes full of big shine and a torrent of eager, excited questions rushing from her lips.

Without waiting for any answers she stood aside and surveyed the smutty little sport coupe. Very small it was—very inexpensive, but gallant and sturdy with trim lines and a jaunty air. It was painted a gleaming purple, with a long silver line streaming across the body.

"And you never told me a word! I don't see how you dared! That's why you asked what color I like the oil boat painted. Oh, it's lovely. It's a little dream."

Then, as Pat fingered the clock, the silk of inlaid wood at the window and cooled with the breeze: "Well, get in, won't you? Drive her down the road a bit."

"Oh, how'd better you, Mother, hadn't we? And Dickie'll be wild if I take the first ride without him. Where is he? Never mind! I'll find when you want him! Oh, dear!"

Laura pushed open the window and called. Dick hadn't gone yet, she gloated: "Try it out, Pat, dear."

They went humming and laughing down the drive.

"Purrs nicely, Pat."

"Oh, it's a bird. It's a thrill. It's just a darby. Dad, aren't you extravagant? We can't afford two cars, can we?"

"Oh, we'll scrape by. Do you really like it?"

"Do I? It's so easy and sinky to sit in. Are you going to take this one to work and leave the old one for your ladies?"

"Ye ladies would love that, eh?"

"Oh, is mother to have this one? No wonder she looked so thrilled Aren't you the old sport, though?"

"We'll toss for it."

Laura came out as they drove back. They all agreed there pretting happily, finding new qualities to praise as though each car had never before perched on wheels.

"Your's pleased, Pat?" said Laura

"Ash I? But what about you?"

"Perhaps you'll take me for a ride now and then."

"What do you mean, mother?"

"It's yours, of course."

"Mine? Why should it be mine?" She looked up almost with dismay. Her mother's brush her eyes; heard her mother laugh.

"Didn't you tell her, Richard?"

"I will now. It's yours, Pat, old thing."

"You mean it?" said Pat, completely stunned. "But why? I wouldn't feel right taking it. Oh, mother, why should he give it to me?" Then with a gay, teary appeal, "after all, he was your lover first!"

Richard Dawn came over and tucked an arm about Pat. "She wants you to have it, girl. We want you home every night. And, of course, you couldn't hike up these hills from the train every day. So we're sending you off to college like the lady we know you are!

Pat looked from one to the other her cheeks red, her eyes wet. She kissed them and said silly, half hysterical things. Then to cover her glowing, uncontrollable happiness she darted down the path, scrubbed the newly-arrived and astounded Dickie by the arm, hauled him, gabbering, explosive, protesting to the car. They waved excitedly and went rolling off together.

That night after dinner Pat and her father went out. They were to give the car a thorough tryout.

"Dad--but isn't it going to be awfully hard on you paying for this and keeping it up?"

"I've been lucky, Pat. The last few months Bryce has tossed me plenty of work. I'm making all the posters for his new residence park. I'm going to do all the art work in the advertising. So we can make the grade."

"Easily?"

"Well enough. We don't ever

GARRETT PAYS $527.01 TAX BALANCE

$4800 Was Previously Seized by Internal Revenue Collector

Oliver B. Garrett, former Boston policeman who was the storm center of the department until retired on half pay, today paid the balance of income tax he owed the government, after which the lien placed on his property and that of his wife by Collector of Internal Revenue Thomas White was lifted.

Garrett paid the government $527.01 today, which was the balance between the amount recently seized in banks by the government and what Collector White claimed was due from the former cop and his wife, Florence H. Garrett.

According to the lien placed by Collector White, Garrett and his wife owed as taxes and in fines the sum of $5,327.01. After the lien was placed the internal revenue collector located bank deposits of Garrett and his wife in various banks totaling $4,800, which he seized by legal process

Today Garrett came forward and voluntarily paid the balance between the sums seized and the amount Collector White claimed was due. If he had not done so the government would have foreclosed any real estate it could locate owned by Garrett and wife.

Now Garrett is liable to criminal prosecution, because of his former failure to pay his income taxes, but whether any action will be taken against will depend upon the report and recommendation of Collector White to the United States Attorney's office. Under the law such a report must be made.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Hubert C. Thompson, who has charge of the Garrett case, said he would wait until he received a full report from Collector White before taking any further action.

Military Editor, 82, Is Seriously Ill

Maj. Harry Hartley, military editor of the Boston Globe for nearly 35 years, is critically ill with pneumonia at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Alfred Tuttle of Georgetown. He is 82 and for some time has been suffering from diabetes. Little hope is held for his recovery.

Maj. Hartley, who was born in Halifax, Yorkshire, England, is dean of the New England military editors.

Arrest Engineer in Bad Check Case

Harry R. Snyder, 40, a mining engineer, of Belmont st., Watertown, was arrested by the Newton police on a charge of larceny resulting from the allegation that he tendered a worthless check for $200 in payment for an automobile. Snyder will be tried in the Newton District Court November 21. The complainant is Newton T. Turner, Newton automobile dealer.

Carmen to Nominate

Nomination of officers for the election of the Boston Carmen's Union on Dec. 2 will be made at the union's headquarters in the Kimball building Monday. Nominations will be in order from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., and the primaries will be held the following Monday.

Escapes From Auto as It Plunges in River

While police were diving in the Mystic river today seeking his body, Daniel J. Cullen, of Roxana ave., Medford, driver of the sedan which had plunged into the river, calmly walked into the Medford police station to report the accident.

Cullen's sedan skidded on the slippery Mystic boulevard at the Medford-Somerville line, crashed through the fence and dropped 18 feet into the river.

He escaped drowning by opening one of the doors as the machine was dropping through the water, but, while he was swimming ashore and trying to climb up the steep bank of the river, Patrolman Charles Graham of the Medford police had dived into the chilly water on the other side of the car and was searching for him.

Not knowing that the officer was in the water, Cullen got to the road, hailed a passing automobile and was driven home for a change of clothing. Meanwhile the police, unable to locate anyone in the submerged machine, called firemen to chop holes in the roof.

The police and firemen were still working when Cullen strolled calmly into the police station to report the affair.

ALLEN WINS IN EXTRADITION

Gov. Allen, through the attorney general's department, today learned that he has been successful in securing the extradition to Chicopee of a former resident of that city wanted in connection with an illegitimacy case.

According to Asst. Atty-Gen. Stephen Rachlupko, this is the first extradition of its kind that the state of Pennsylvania has recognized in 11 years.

The fugitive, Francis Stock, after leaving Chicopee, took up residence in Granberry, Pa. Following the approval of the rendition petition by Gov. Fisher, it was learned, counsel for Stock secured a writ of habeas corpus but when the case came up in court Stock and his counsel failed to appear.

Stock was later arrested and turned over to Lieut. W. A. Coutre of the Chicopee police. The lieutenant and his prisoner are en route to Massachusetts.

GIVES TEST IN CHOOSING FRIENDS

W. W. Porter, Christian Science Lecturer, Speaks at the Tremont Theater

A test for choosing companions was outlined at a lecture this noon in the Tremont Theater on Christian Science by William W. Porter of New York, member of the board of lecturers of The Mother Church

"Do your mental companions bring inspiration, ability, joy, courage, strength and health?" was the question asked. Such people were classed as a man's real friends, and conversely his real enemies to his mental progress are those who "impose on him a load of fear, discouragement and of failure."

George S. Cook, First Reader of The Mother Church in Boston, introduced the speaker. The theater was filled to capacity. His subject was "Christian Science: Its Value to Humanity."

Among the points brought up by the speaker was that Christian Science reveals "man as a free agent, a thinking creature, expressing the intelligence of the divine mind, and choosing always right and noble companionships."

The speaker continued: "Christian science shows clearly that the false appetites, sinful desires, evil tendencies and vacillating weaknesses are not of God, and do not belong to man, and that they are not the inevitable companions of mankind upon the highway of human existence."

TWO LOST BOYS BACK HOME

"We were just out for a walk, and got lost!"

This is the explanation given by Morris Greenblatt of 392 Norfolk st. and Moe Katz of 383 Norfolk st., Dorchester, both three years old, who today were returned to their parents.

The youngsters had wandered away from home, and when seen crying were picked up in Milton by a young woman. She turned the boys over to the police, who later learned their identities through the missing persons bureau.

Indians Plan Show at Children's Museum

Real live Indians in paint and costume.

Braves, squaws and papooses, all members of the famous Sioux tribe, whose battles and buffalo hunts on the Western plains form a picturesque chapter of our history.

This is the treat in store for children tomorrow morning at the Children's Museum, opposite Mayor Curley's home in Jamaica Way.

Through the courtesy of the 101 Ranch and Circus the Indians will be present to furnish living illustrations of the special exhibition of a Sioux Indian minature habitat group which opens at 9 a. m.

The exhibition, model, which has never been seen here, is seven feet long and four feet high and shows the family life of Indians on the plains.

The live Sioux will stay at the museum until 12 noon, when they must return to the Boston Garden for the afternoon show.

Admission will be free to the exhibition, which will not be shown anywhere else in Boston. The model was made by Dr. Samuel J. Guernsey, curator of archaeology of the Peabody Museum, Cambridge, and Theodore B. Pitman of Brookline, trustee of the Children's Museum. Dr. Guernsey is trustee of the Buffalo Museum of Science to which the model will go at the close of the exhibition at the Boston museum November 24

CAMBRIDGE MAN HELD IN $5000

Trapped by Angry Wife After Long Search; Got $750, Is Charge

George C. Jacobs, of Lee st., Cambridge, trapped in his home by Mrs. Anthony Coyne, from whom he is alleged to have obtained $750 by means of extortion, was arraigned in East Cambridge District Court today on charges of extortion, larceny and impersonating a police officer.

To each complaint Jacobs, also known as Williams, entered a plea of not guilty. He was held for trial in default of $5000 bail.

Jacobs is alleged by police to have extorted money from Mrs. Coyne and Mrs. Alice Sullivan by impersonating himself as a police officer and threatening the arrest of Mrs. Coyne's husband and Mrs. Sullivan's son, Leonard, after he had watched the two men violate a rule in passing through a restricted section of the Harvard College yard

Jacobs' alleged theft from Mrs Coyne was the ultimate cause of his downfall. For ten days Mrs Coyne had searched the streets of Cambridge, vowing she would never abandon the hunt for Thief

Apparently losing hope, Mrs Coyne dropped into St. Mary's Church and offered a prayer for strength to continue her search Ten minutes after she left the church Mrs. Coyne trapped Jacobs in his home on Lee st., Cambridge.

Jacobs told them, police say that he was prompted to his acts by his wife's illness and the lack of money to send her away for her health.

NECK BROKEN IN AUTO CRASH

His neck broken when he was tossed 20 feet by his own machine, Martin Yazejian, 34, of Pearl st., Everett, is in the Malden hospital on the danger list as a result of an auto collision on Wellington bridge between Medford and Somerville.

The crash occurred at 9:30 o'clock today on the Medford end, when Yazejian was leaving the structure at the same time Andrew Amato of 46 Burnside st., Medford, was entering. The car driven by Amato is said by witnesses to have skidded on the wet flooring and smashed against the other.

Yazejian was thrown from his automobile, but his left foot caught in the door frame of his car and there he hung 20 feet with his head hanging down, bumping up and down on the ground.

Hospital attendants say that the neck fracture is very severe, and that recovery is doubtful. In addition the man has a deep gash on his left leg.

The machine operated by Amato is owned by Annis Spera of 35 Chipman st., Medford. The police are investigating but at noon had made no arrest

LINER IN HUB FOR REPAIRS

Nosed in by six tugs, despite a receding tide, the U. S. liner George Washington was floated into South Boston drydock today for repairs to a damaged hull

The big liner, next in size to the Leviathan, picked up the harbor through a heavy fog that delayed her arrival two hours.

She was due here an hour before the 9.33 high tide but dense fog as she rounded the Cape delayed her several hours. As she headed for the s.ll of the drydock a stiff northeast wind developed, forcing the navy tug Nottaway and five commercial tugs to swing her far into the ship channel before they started the big push

The work on the big vessel was brought to Boston through the efforts of Governor Allen, who telegraphed J. E. Sheedy, president of the U. S. Lines, shortly after the accident.

WHERE ARE BOOKS BANNED IN BOSTON SOLD? WHY, IN CAMBRIDGE

Weeks Tells Women How the Watch and Ward Makes Hub a Laughing Stock

Great mystery alived!

Where do the books banned in Boston go?

"Most of them are loaded onto trucks and taken straight to the Harvard Co-operative Bookstore," said Edward A. Weeks of the Atlantic Monthly Co., when a member of the Boston City Federation of Women's Clubs asked this question at the Y. W. C. A. auditorium today.

The greater number of the 68 books suppressed in the past two years under the state law were banned only in Boston," Weeks smiled. "Over in Cambridge these books sold like hot cakes. The bookseller there asks for the Boston list, runs his eye over it and takes all the supply of the juciest of them immediately.

NOT ONE ON BLACKLIST.

"Not one of these 68 books were on the federal blacklist. But like the bureaucrats in Washington who feel themselves capable of judging everything, whether they understand it or not, the vigilance committee of the Watch and Ward Society pounces upon every book in which objection is made by anyone. They prosecute under an obsolete law, placed on our statute books in 1711, which attacks a single page or chapter in a book and condemns the book on that."

Weeks had been explaining the "censorship by threat," which, he said, the Watch and Ward Society wages against booksellers and the campaign for a revision of the present law, "through which the word obscene runs like a refrain."

OLD AUTHORS LUCKY

"When it comes to books that are condemned on grounds of exciting obscene thoughts and thus corrupting youth, the Bible, Shakespeare and many of our best contemporary novels in the hands of a minor would come under this phase of the law," Weeks declared. "I am told the 'Scarlet Letter,' 'Tess of the D'Urbyvilles,' "Tom Jones" and a number of similar books considered good literature are not being published today, for they would certainly be suppressed in Boston.

"This law is inconsistent and ridiculous. The vigilance committee of the Watch and Ward Society has an agreement with booksellers to give them 48 hours notice when a book is to be condemned. This makes the society unofficial censors by threat, but they invariably win every case brought into court under two obsolete laws.

NEW IDEAS IRRITATING

"New ideas are often irritating to the point of offense. Weeks continued. "But in time we come to accept and believe them. I agree with the novelist who said that a book should not corrupt the reader but there is no reason why it should not shock him."

There are booklegers as well as bootleggers, he added, who surreptitiously print banned books in Boston, for distribution wholesale [illegible] are prosecuted for selling obscene books because [illegible] of them have enough money to defend the case and the publishers must [illegible] what they print, he explained. The bookseller buys the censored output from a "dummy" showing the title page and first chapter only and cannot know the content of every book placed upon his shelves.

ONE JEALOUS MINISTER

"Yet [illegible] prosecuted on 48-hour notice [illegible] questionable passage that offends his idea of pure language or thought. The Watch and Ward Society was responsible for the suppression of 21 books declared offensive because they approached the subject of sex in an anti-Victorian manner. And one zealot, a retired minister, compelled the suppression of 20 books and would have gone on indefinitely if not stopped by a more capable judge than he was.

"I ask, is not the hurt to literature, the notoriety and contempt heaped upon Boston directly due to the unofficial censorship of the Watch and Ward Society?"

Judge's Parking Area Short Lived

A "No Parking" sign placed on the grounds of the Quincy District Court, to insure a place for the honorable justices thereof to leave their cars, was demolished by a careless motorist less than three hours after it had been posted by Custodian Amos Loring.

An associate justice of the court who recently left his automobile in the street when the court parking place was crowded, found a ticket on his steering wheel.

Can't Get Paid for Rum Items 'on Cuff'

A man who sells liquor "on the cuff," in violation of law, cannot resort to the law to collect for it according to a ruling by Judge Elisha M. Stevens in Lynn District Court.

The ruling was made after Harry Brades, a grocer, of Laconia st., Lynn, appeared to press a claim for $32.80 against Michael Nartino of Summer st., Lynn.

Brades claimed the money was due for groceries. Nartino testified that he owed nothing for groceries but might owe for some liquor Brades had illegally sold him.

Nartino maintained that, inasmuch as the sale was against the law, he was not legally bound to pay the bill.

CHARGE SALE TO CARETAKER

Richard Jermys, caretaker of the Hebrew cemetery in Peabody, where an alleged "night club" was being maintained, will appear in Peabody District Court on Monday morning to answer liquor charges.

A complaint, charging Jermys with illegal manufacture of liquor and keeping with intent to sell, was issued.

It is alleged that Jermys with 30 or more other men and women were staging a "whoopee party" when police raided the place. A quantity of liquor was seized and confiscated by Peabody police, it is alleged.

No charges will be preferred except those against Jermys, police say.

Tufts Frats Hold Pledge Dances

The pledge dances of the more prominent of the Tufts fraternities will be held this week-end and the first two weeks of December.

MAN IS HELD BY POLICE IN VICE INQUIRY

Is Taken From a Fashionable Back Bay Hotel as Suspicious Person

Taken from a luxurious suite in a well known Back Bay hotel, a man was held today by the police as a suspicious person, pending the results of an investigation into charges involving girls.

While the police would not say that white slavery was at the bottom of their inquiry, it was learned they are checking activities of the suspect in connection with employment agencies.

Several girls were taken to the Back Bay station for questioning and representatives of welfare societies were also on hand.

The man was arrested by Sergt. John P. Maune. Liquor and empty bottles were found in the suite and Sergt. Maune said he would apply for a warrant on a holding charge of keeping and exposing liquor for sale.

It is understood that for some time the suspect has called at employment agencies seeking girls. Some of them went to his suite, it was said, and were made propositions which led them to inform persons who notified the police.

2 EXPERTS TO TEST TRIPPI

Commissioner of Corrections Al Warren Stearns has designated Drs. James V. May and Abraham Myerson, two of the foremost psychiatrists in the country, to make the examination of the mental condition of Charles Trippi, Jr., whose sentence of death in the electric chair for the murder of a prison guard during the week beginning Nov. 17, was extended to Nov. 29 by Governor Allen and the executive council.

The two physicians will be given a free rein as to the course they will pursue in making the tests, the commissioner said today. The examination, he said, may take place at the prison or at one of the state hospitals.

When the examination is finished, the commissioner added a report will be made to the Governor.

Employment in Bay State Gains

Marked improvement in the industrial employment situation in Massachusetts is reported by the U. S. Employment Service. During the past 30 days a majority of the shoe factories in the State operated at capacity and metal working establishments were so busy they reported a shortage of skilled workers, according to the report of the bureau.

Released textile workers were absorbed by other industries. Jewelry plants operated on a satisfactory schedule. A surplus of male office workers in large cities and farm help in the rural districts was reported.

Manning Warns Lynn City Council

Mayor-elect J. Fred Manning of Lynn has warned the City Council that he would refuse to recognize the post of assistant city clerk carrying a $1500 annual salary if it is created by that body.

The mayor-elect claimed that it was a political move and that the city clerk could ably handle all business of that office without aid.

Seeks Recount of Quincy Council Vote

S. Olaf Mulstrom of Quincy, who failed by 27 votes to be nominated for the city council from Ward 6, Quincy last Tuesday, today petitioned the city clerk for a recount. Rechecking the ballots is expected to start early next week.

Old Boston in Pictures—No. 108

The Art Union, the exhibition rooms of which were in Tremont row, was much patronized three-quarters of a century ago and most by the elite of Boston society. Many fine paintings were exhibited at the Union. At the time the above picture was taken (1852) Edward Everett was president of the Art Union and Franklin Dexter and Prof. Henry W. Longfellow of Harvard were vice-presidents. More pictures of Old Boston will be printed in the Boston Evening American.

Reward for 'Beads' to Pay for Furniture

The $3500 reward which he received for restoring a $25,000 string of pearls to a New York woman will be used, first, making the rest of the payments on his new furniture and the rest of the money will be used for providing a few luxuries for "Ma" Hudson, Thomas E. Hudson of Newburg st., Roslindale, says.

He is still stunned from the shock of the size of the reward which he received for restoring the "beads" to Mrs. Elizabeth Saunders of East 61st st., New York.

In his 30 years as a taxi driver and starter, Hudson has found scores of strings of beads. Most of them he gave away to the first little girls who wanted them for her doll. This set, which he found in the gutter in front of the Huntington ave station of the B. & M. Railroad, looked better than the rest to him and he took them home to "Ma" Hudson.

They looked just like beads to her, but she saved them, and when her husband read in the papers that a string of 90 matched pearls had been lost, she counted up the string of beads and found that there were just 90.

Her husband, who is 71 years of age, admitted that he has been somewhat worried about what he was going to give his wife on their golden wedding anniversary, which occurs three years hence.

HUB FINANCIER GOES BULLISH

William H. Danforth of Boston, who is credited with having amassed a fortune on the "short" side of Wall Street market in the last few weeks, announced that he was through with "bear" operations, and is now a buyer of stocks.

"I finished up so far as the selling side of the market is concerned, and am now bullish," Danforth says. "It is my opinion that many stocks will not again reach their lows of Wednesday."

EDSEL FORD IS TO SEE BOAT LAUNCHED

Son of Auto Magnate is Expected to Attend Ceremony in Neponset

To witness the launching of his new $300,000 power driven yacht, Edsel Ford is expected to visit the Lawley shipyard in Neponset tomorrow forenoon.

The ceremony will begin shortly after 9 o'clock. The vessel is ultra-modern in type, with all the latest comforts adaptable to 28 people besides crew. It is 130 feet long, with 23 feet beam and 7 6 draft.

The yacht has been under construction since July 1. It is powered with two huge Ressemer-Diesel engines, equipped with twin screw propellers, capable of developing 300 horsepower and 400 revolutions per minute.

This power will drive the ship at about 16 knots an hour.

On the superstructure there are a dining-room, living-room, luxuriously fitted captain's room and a pilot house.

B. U. French Club to Dance This Evening

Novelty dances will feature the informal dance which members of the French Club of Boston University's College of Practical Arts and Letters will hold this evening at the Southern House in Brookline.

Marguerite Burke of Chestnut Hill, chairman of the annual standing committe, will be in charge of the affair. In the receiving line as patrons and patronesses will be Dean and Mrs. T. Lawrence Davis, Prof. and Mrs. Jose Onate and Mr. and Mrs. William Holbrook.

FISHING CRAFT WRECKED IN FOG, ONE SUNK; EIGHT MEN RESCUED

WEATHER IS NEAR NEW RECORD

Heavy Mist and Rain Mark One of New England's Warmest November Days

Capt. Fay Dion and crew of seven men of the mackerel schooner Alice N. Wilson were rescued today by other fishermen and coast guardsmen 10 minutes before the schooner sank after striking a ledge near Brace's Cove, Gloucester.

The accident was due to a dense fog along the coast from Highland Light, Cape Cod, to Halifax, N. S. It was so thick at Highland Light that the keeper reported "no observation." According to Boston's weather forecaster, the fog was caused by a low pressure above the St. Lawrence valley, Canada.

The official temperature in Boston at 8 a. m. was 63, or 20 degrees higher than normal.

The schooner Wilson had 7000 pounds of mackerel aboard when she sank. The coast guardsmen said they had considerable difficulty in the rescue because the sea was very rough

ANOTHER CRAFT ASHORE

Heavy fog was also responsible for the beaching of the fishing schooner Newcastle on Milk Island, near Gloucester She, also, had a cargo of mackerel for Gloucester. Coast guardsmen stood by ready to take the crew off if the vessel did not float at high tide

Owners of the sunken schooner Wilson, the masts of which were visible several hours after she sank, said they would attempt to salvage the cargo and raise the vessel.

The United States Lines steamship George Washington, second largest of the fleet, was delayed nearly four hours today in reaching Boston from New York. Because of this delay placement in dry dock at South Boston was put over until high tide tomorrow morning. She is to be docked for overhauling.

According to the weather bureau the fog was very dense at Halifax, N. S., as well as Highland light Reports from various places indicated Cape Cod was fog-bound.

Light rain fell in Boston and other parts of New England today It will probably clear tonight and be colder tomorrow, the weather forecaster said.

MERCURY NEAR RECORD

At 10 a. m., when the official temperature in Boston was 67 indications were it might exceed the record for the date—Nov. 15, 1902, when the mercury mounted to 70. The highest temperature for a November day in Boston was 72, Nov. 27, 1896. On Dec. 5, 1912, it was 60, and on Jan. 1, 1876 it was 70.

It was raining throughout New England today as well as in much of the area east of the Mississippi river. The rainfall in northern Maine the 24-hour period ending at 8 a. m. exceeded half an inch.

Official forecast for Boston and vicinity: Partly cloudy and colder tonight. Saturday, fair and moderate west to northwest winds. The minimum temperature tonight will be near 43.

SCHOOL BOARD TO NAME MAN

Members of the school committee, it is expected, will name their choice Monday for the new schoolhouse commission, one of whom is to be elected by the school committee, another by the mayor and the third by these two appointees.

The new commission, as a result of the referendum vote, will supersede the old schoolhouse commission. It is to be an unpaid body.

Several well-known names have been mentioned as likely to be elected by the school committee, among them two former chairmen, Joseph Lee and Richard J. Lane. Former Representative Ralph of Dorchester and William H. McMasters have also been spoken of for the place.

One of the duties of the commission will be to elect a superintendent of construction. The position will carry a salary, not to exceed $12,000 a year, according to the provisions of the statute.

Sophomore Shuffle to Be Held Tonight

Second year students of Simmons College will hold their annual dance, the Sophomore Shuffle, tonight at Longwood Towrs, Brookline. Bert Lowe and his orchestra will furnish music.

BARES THROAT SCARRED BY ALCOHOL

Hingham Contractor Admits Telling Doctor to "Take Care of Nona"

Displaying her scarred throat to the jury, Mrs. Nona E Watson of Atlantic told a jury in Suffolk Superior Court that it was caused by burning alcohol, thrown at her, she alleges, by John J. Moore, wealthy Hingham contractor.

She took the stand to press charges upon which she bases suits for $75,000 against Moore.

The burning of her throat took place during a private dinner party in 1926 at the Boston Tavern, she stated. When she entered the room, she said, a lobster dinner was awaiting her, while Moore sat at a table whose chief decoration was two quarts of whiskey.

As she entered, she says, he produced a quart of alcohol and added that to the array of drinks on the table.

Then, she said, he placed sugar in a spoon and poured whiskey over it and set it afire. She scolded him, she says, until he became angry and flipped the flaming spoonful of alcohol and sugar at her.

She admitted that she kept dates with him before her husband died Mrs. Watson claims in her suits that as a result of the burns Moore agreed to furnish her with living quarters for life and to pay her $50 a week.

Moore was called earlier as a witness against himself. He explained that he was burning brandy with sugar on a spoon and Mrs. Watson asked for it.

He said that as she poured more brandy on the flaming sugar it flared up and ignited her necktie He wrapped his coat about her and smothered the flames.

He admitted he had said to a doctor, "For God's sake take care of Nona. I'll pay all the bills."

ONE INJURED IN $7000 BLAZE IN SALEM

Essex St. Fire Caused by Gas Explosion in Barber Shop

One fireman was injured and a restaurant, barber shop and a women's apparel shop were badly damaged by a $7000 fire in Essex st., Salem, the heart of the city, today, caused by a gas explosion

Harry Wilson, aide to Chief Howard Kimball, of the Salem fire department wrenched his right knee, when struck by a falling beam

An explosion, according to the Salem police, from a gas pipe in the basement of the New York Waist store, tore part of the partition down. The flames mushroomed to the kitchen of the Mayflower Lunch, next door.

Five employes in the lunchroom were slightly burned and fled to the street.

The fire made its way up into the second floor where a barber shop is located. A printing plant on the third floor was not damaged. The New York Waist store was badly damaged by smoke and water.

City Marshal Daniel Phalen, with local and state fire officials, are investigating the cause of the explosion.

CURLEY STILL IN LEAD IN MAYOR RECOUNT

Gain Has Made Curley's Plurality 17,795, With a Week's Work Ahead

As the fourth day of the official recount of Boston's mayoralty election got under way today, Mayor-elect Curley had gained 278 votes in the 117 precincts thus far tabulated. The gain has made Curley's plurality 19,795, with a week's work ahead to complete the remaining 222 precincts.

Mansfield's staff of 16 observers did not appear at the offices of the election commission to check the figures of the assistant registrars, following his withdrawal of the previous night.

Completion of the recount in Ward 3 revealed that in the Lomasney stronghold there were only 33 changes out of a total of 4321 votes, which was regarded as a good record for election night accuracy. Of these 33 votes Mansfield gained 19, Curley lost 11 and Coakley gained three

The surprise of the recount is a gain of 202 votes by William A. Reilly of Jamaica Plain, who ran second in the school committee contest and won a seat on the board. This makes his plurality 724 votes over Dr. Charles E. Mackey of South Boston, who petitioned for the recount.

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

WHEN it was all over and you found yourself groping for a taxi in the early morning mist, you knew by your watch that "Fifty Million Frenchmen" was about the largest order of musical comedy the town has played host to for many months. But the size of the order was not to be measured altogether by the time consumed in its transit. That was only a fraction of it.

ONE might have been really hard pressed at the Colonial last night if suddenly asked to decide on the spot whether stage trappings are more important than book and score, or whether actors should feel at home or lost in so much luxury and grandeur of production. The players, of course, spoke for themselves—and did it right smartly. Still there was much besides dialogue, ditty and dance to catch your attention and hold it Norman Bel Geddes, who also was designing on the grand scale, gave "Fifty Million Frenchmen" about seven carloads of scenery that will stand for some time to come as an object lesson for other ambitious builders.

IF you can imagine a flock of happy Americans scouring Paris for excitement you will gather a fair idea of what makes up the story. The motive is the love of a rich young man for a girl from Terre Haute. For two acts and nine scenes the pursuit leads through Mr. Bel Geddes' best scenery, and in this first performance William Gaxton and Genevieve Tobin made the most of their hampered romance. Miss Tobin brought to the narrative dramatic talents not usually discovered in the more hit and miss musical flurries.

MR. GAXTON found himself at ease in a purely comedy role. It was no new task for him to play lover to laughing accompaniment from the friendly side of the footlights. No member of the cast toiled more earnestly, nor, it might be added, with more vigorous energy. For other moments of good humor, Helen Broderick quietly, but insistently, supplied every need, while Jack Thompson and Betty Compton, on occasion, hopped into the proceedings with an engaging variety of dance numbers.

WHEN the doctors, professors and engineers now on duty with "Fifty Million Frenchmen" have ironed out its few wrinkles, the playgoer will come into possession of an entertainment impossible to resist. It's that way already.

"Disraeli" Is Held at Fenway Third Week

Proof of public appreciation of the high quality of dramatic art exhibited through the medium of the so-called talking screen is given in the interest in George Arliss' masterful portrayal of Disraeli," which is being held over for another week at the Publix Fenway. This is the third week of the engagement at the Fenway and the fourth consecutive week of showing of the picture in Boston.

Expert opinion stamps "Disraeli," with Arliss, as among the finest things yet produced for the sound screen. It is, in fact, the great stage play transferred to the screen with all the advantages of the spoken lines and without the limitations of stage accommodations.

TROUPER TRUE IS COLLEEN

THE CAST

Pip O'Leary.....Colleen Moore
Jimmy Wilkes.....Raymond Hackett
Gregory Fyne.....Frederic March
Claire Fyne.....Phyllis Lee Corbin
Call Boy.....Mickey Bennett
Chandler Cunningham Edw. Martindel

By HARLEIGH SCHULTZ

COLLEEN MOORE technicolors charmingly. Her fans will be hugely delighted with her work, no doubt, in "Footlights and Fools," now at the Metropolitan. Miss Moore has numerous captivating features. This new picture of her reveals yet more of her charms than we have previously been privileged to see. For in and behold! She traipses forth clad only with chastity, partly after fashion of Lady Godiva. True, the beautiful Colleen has on more clothing than the damsel of the legend, and yet much, very much is bared, all very captivating indeed. In good form, all of it; for in the film Miss Moore is a trouper with background, so this new revelation of her is nothing more than is usual in the long, long line of backstage movies that have followed in the wake of "Broadway Melody" and "Close Harmony."

Frederic March

THOUGH Miss Moore has marked screen personality, she is by no means a shining actress. Once the light does break through, however, there is a scene where she tries to smash an admirer's ideal vision of her by making herself out a tough one; she is tiptop in this. She sings quite well and in the technicolor sequence lends a good deal of life to the screen. Unfortunately, the plot doesn't help her at all, as in the tail-end portion. Here it swings from the humdrum, so that the conclusion is worth the price.

THE story is just another one of those behind-the-scenes concoctions. It fails to develop any real interest in the fate of anybody concerned, and its one virtue is that it refuses to succumb to the proper finish of having the heroine find happiness in the arms of the hero, the blindly nobleminded who plays good angel for her and her crock sweetheart. Frederic March as the good rich youth and Raymond Hackett as the sweetheart are satisfactory. That old-timer of the musical comedy era who once pleased with his baritone, Edward Martindel, is fine in the little given him to do Virginia Lee Corbin is amateurish And the best of the comedy fell to the lot of Mickey Bennett as the call-boy. In brief, the picture is chiefly one that will please the Colleen Moore fans.

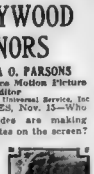
BLONDES TAKE HOLLYWOOD HONORS

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Universal Service Motion Picture Editor

Copyright, 1929, by Universal Service, Inc

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15—Who said blondes are making way for brunettes on the screen?

Whoever said it wasn't in the know, for there are ten times more blondes leading ladies being signed this season than ever before in the history of the movies. And a few of our brunette girls are even turning blonde to meet the popular demand. Witness Aileen Pringle and Eleanor Boardman.



Louella O. Parsons

Little Jeanette Loff, who is a combination of Constance Bennett, Carol Lombard and Claire Windsor, has just put her name on a contract for an important part in Paul Whiteman's revue, which, believe it or not, is now being made at Universal Studios. Miss Loff will sing and, come to think of it, why shouldn't she warble a bit since she was an organist and played in a motion picture theater before the urge came to her to leave Oregon to seek her fortune in Hollywood.

All the best talent possible is being cornered for the Whiteman picture. Joseph Schildkraut will be featured in a phantasy called "The Nightingale and the Rose." 'Tis a sketch owned by John Murray Anderson, who is directing the revue. John Boles will sing and Stanley Smith will have the leading juvenile role. It won't be Universal's fault if the Whiteman movie doesn't surprise the world and turn out a ten-strike.

WONDER what these Broadway producers think when they have to come to Hollywood to borrow talent? Time was when any well known stage actor would refuse to get tied up with the movies for fear he would lose out on Broadway. Now he is afraid he won't get tied up. Anyway, George Jessel has a contract with the Fox Co and John Golden happens to want him for Bertram Brock's new stage play, "Joseph." Hence Mr. Golden has arranged with William Fox to lend him George Jessel for the run of the play, which, as I understand it, is a modernized version of "Joseph and His Brethren." Things are looking better for Mr. Jessel, who was disappointed a few years ago when his play, "The Jazz Singer," was handed to Al Jolson, Shows it doesn't pay to be discouraged.

I SUPPOSE the recent stock disaster has its funny side, that is, if you weren't caught in the tide. Anyway, Edward Small seems to think it is worth a few laughs, for he is planning to produce a picture called "Playing the Market," in which Charlie Murray will be starred. That probably means that Charlie Murray is coming back from his vaudeville tour. When I saw him in New York he was playing the two-a-day, and living his job.

SNAPSHOTS of Hollywood collected at random: Hollywood enjoying the John Charles Thomas concert. Among those who listened and applauded were Conrad Nagel, Edith Nagel, Adela and Conway Tearle, Kenneth Thomson, Edmund Breese and Robert Edeson, the Bachelor Club at the Brown Derby entertaining Buster Collier's dad, William Collier, Sr., and Ben Bard entertaining the club with a monologue. Sally Eilers and Hoot Gibson lunching at the Brown Derby. Eileen Percy wearing a corsage of gardenias and walking along the avenue. All of Hollywood saying "I told you so" when news of Bessie Love's engagement was made public. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

MME. SAROYA SHINES AT OPERA

By MOSES SMITH

"FORZA DEL DESTINO," a Verdi opera popular elsewhere, but not often given in Boston, was produced by the Cosmopolitan Opera Company, last night, at the Arlington Theater, and attracted a good-sized audience.

If you asked even a well-informed musician what he knew about this opera, he would probably quote something of "Face, Face," the soprano aria so often heard in concert, and stop there. Of the story, which is involved, he would probably know nothing. Yet the audience of last night followed the proceedings with keen interest and applauded with great gusto on many occasions.

The writer discovered no good reason for this enthusiasm. The performance was routine, not only in the sense that there were no debuts or special incidents aside from an unfortunate entry of one of the singers; it was even more routine in that the singers were content to go through their paces. Irene Saroya, making her first appearance here in several years, was a good-voiced Leonora. Of her the singing was either undistinguished or good.

There was, however, one very effective ensemble at the close of the second act. Mme. Saroya's lovely tones at the close contributed to the beauty of this scene. Joseph Royer, as Don Carlos, could not approach his great work as Amonasro the night before. Mr. Pavanelli conducted with the efficiency one has come to expect from him.

Tonight's opera is "La Traviata."

Royal Dadmun Gives Jordan Hall Concert

ROYAL DADMUN sang an excellent program of songs at his concert in Jordan Hall before a large and cordial, almost cheering audience last night. Mr. Dadmun is well known here, for he has often sung in Boston in oratorio and concert. As recently as Tuesday night he was soloist with the Apollo Club.

His program included two old Italian airs, songs by Mozart, Grieg, Wolf and Grieg, a group by John Alden Carpenter, including two jazz numbers, a group of French and one of English lyrics. The baritone seemed intent on rendering his program with as much "personality" as possible, and occasionally to make his voice seem tenor. His exaggerated mannerisms, while pleasing to most of the audience, did not present a proper picture of his artistry. He has been heard here on previous occasions to better advantage.

SPANISH TOWN DUPLICATED

A COMPLETE Spanish town has been constructed on one of the huge stages at the William Fox West Coast Studios in Hollywood for the filming of Don Jose Mojica's first starring Fox Movietone musical romance. No title has been selected.

It is a complete replica from narrow cobbled streets to picturesque galleries and archways and niches in the walls containing religious statues.

Colorful posters advertising bull fights and fiestas adorn the walls and flowers bloom in quaint window boxes overhanging the cramped sidewalks.

Don Jose Mojica, former Chicago Grand Opera star and concert singer, plays the role of a romantic bandit who becomes the liberator of his countrymen.

Mona Maris, former UFA star, Antonio Moreno and Tom Patricola have featured roles.

A dozen song and instrumental numbers will be heard in the production.

SLAPSTICK IS FAR FROM PASSE

HAROLD LLOYD, star in "Welcome Danger," which starts its second week today, at the Uptown and Washington St. Olympia, admits that there are no definite rules for the compounding of a successful film comedy. He was asked recently to give theoretical ingredients of a sure-fire comedy preparation.

"You might as well ask me to tell you how long is a piece of string or how deep is the middle. I could only answer in this wise—it must be at least anyhow.

"Seriously though," the bespectacled genius of comic filmdom confided, "there is a certain general formula.

"Of course it is not such a definite set of rules as one would use in building a ship or going on a fishing trip or making a ginger cake.

"Public moods are varied and fanciful. One time they run to broad slapstick comedy. The next time the more subtle type of fun appeals most. That is one thing the successful producer has to watch. He must keep the feel of the public's amusement pulse, and anticipate this fluctuation of taste.

"Wholesome comedy has proved its efficacy. Audiences are so highly educated in comedy values these days, that one has to be constantly devising new gags, different situations, and you cannot get away with the old hokum, even in different guise.

"Frankly, slapstick comedies have created laugh riots during the last year. It would be foolish to assert that slapstick is passe; but, when you try to make pictures that have a logical basis, a foundation of solid story material, fishing have to get away from the hodge podge of slapstick. You cannot lead your audience to expect one brand of comedy and then give it another.

"I think the best prescription I can give for successful comedy producing is to constantly change the type of story in which one appears, introduce new types of characters, of surroundings, keep your material logical, even though it may stretch the imagination a little, and refrain from stooping to anything that might be construed as bordering on the smut."

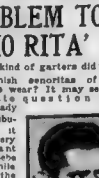
SHERLOCK RETURNS—and by the talking shadow route. Clive Brook portrays the master criminologist in a new venture, "The Return of Sherlock Holmes," coming to the screen at the Scollay on Saturday.

GARTERS GAVE PROBLEM TO 'RIO RITA'

WHAT kind of garters did the Spanish senoritas of a decade ago wear? It may seem a delicate question to the old lady from Dubuque, but it was a very important one to Bebe Daniels while enacting the leading role in "Rio Rita," which tomorrow starts its third week at Keith's. Not only does Bebe sing several of the songs that made the show a hit, but she also dances. And in that dance, dressed in a colorful Spanish costume, there was a chance that a sudden whirl might reveal a technical error on the part of the wardrobe department, if Bebe didn't get the proper answer to her all-important question.



Don Alvarado

Rolling them was probably unknown to the matrons of Mexico in 1998. But did they wear the buckle sort of gadget our American mothers used at that time to keep the silk hose smooth?

Luther Reed asked the garter department of Radio Pictures, and after matura deliberation and research they returned a verdict.

Whether they were right or wrong, local fans may judge for themselves as Bebe does her dance in "Rio Rita."

Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey play the comedy roles they created for Ziegfeld; Dorothy Lee, the baby-talk girl of "Synapatico"; Helen Kaiser, one of Ziegfeld's "glorified" girls; Georges Renevant, French stage star, and Don Alvarado are others of the featured cast.

"Broadway Scandals" Will Open at Midnight

Players in all the big shows in Boston are invited to the Park tonight for a professional midnight performance, as guests of the management, for a preview of the latest Columbia all-talking, singing and dancing musical revue, "Broadway Scandals." The public is invited.

RADIO NOTES -:- TODAY'S PROGRAMS -:- PERSONALITIES ON THE AIR

AT THE DIAL

By THE RADIO EDITOR

IN A SINGLE mail delivery come the names of John McCormack, Frances Alda, Harry Lauder, Ernestine Schumann-Heink, Pasquale Amato and a host of other expensive entertainers who are scheduled to step before the microphone in the immediate or near future. Truly our stay-at-home winter evenings should not be lacking in entertainment if we but accept the free-will offerings of our solicitous broadcast sponsors. The grand opera house, the concert hall, the vaudeville theater, movie palace, the boxing ring, the skating rink, the church, and even the government itself in its annual appeal all follow us into our remotest retreats, even as so many Gods of the Mountain.

THE NEAREST at hand from among these impending broadcasts is that one involving Signor Amato and Mme. Alda. These two operatic luminaries shine in the first radio performance of Leoncavallo's opera, "Mme. Butterfly," to go on the air at 7 tomorrow night through the N. B. C. stations. Mme. Schumann-Heink is the star in a Sunday night, 11:45 broadcast through the Red network, with Pedro de Cordoba and Giuseppe Bamboschek as colleagues. John McCormack has not been heard on the air for three years past. He is a Thanksgiving Day feature on a coast-to-coast network at 10 p. m. Sir Harry Lauder appears twice on Sunday evening, Dec. 3, in Ennette and Collier programs, singing on a coast-to-coast network from California.

FOOTBALL receives its usual radio attention tomorrow afternoon, with several games of major importance occupying the attention of Messrs Munday, McNamee, Husing et al. Yale vs. Princeton scrimmage will be pictured by Billy Munday on N B C stations, including WEEI. The Notre Dame-Southern California game will be heard on the Columbia System and the N B C Blue network, including WNAC and WBZ respectively. Nothing has been definitely stated regarding Harvard-Holy Cross clash at the Stadium. There's always the possibility that one of the two stations scheduled to take the Western game will receive a last-minute permission from the Harvard Corporation to air the trials of the day at the Cambridge gridiron.

OLD TIMERS Night will be the feature of the Howard Fashion Plates broadcast from WNAC and stations of the Columbia broadcasting System at 7:30 this evening. Harold Van Sleden and the Howard orchestra will feature numbers popular at the Winter Garden in Lillian Russell's time when they will be syncopated to cadence and with rhythm of present day music.

A NEW SERIES will be inaugurated at 8 o'clock tonight over the Columbia System which gives promise of novelty. The series, known as the Brown Bilt Footlites, will transport the radio audience to various parts of the world, whence the Footlites will be focused on variety entertainments, music and novelties of this land and other countries. Among those on the first program of Brown Bilt Footlites will be Buster Brown and Tige, Vee Lawnhurst, blues singer; Rosamund Johnson and Arthur Porter as Ajax and Tex, colored team, and Joe and Dan Mooney, the Sunshine Boys. The orchestra will be under the direction of William Wirges.

TWO piano solos by Frank Banta are featured in a program of modern compositions in the Cities Service broadcast through WEEI and the N B C Coast-to-Coast System at 8 o'clock. Rosario Bourdon directs the following program: Gigue, from "Suite Ancienne," Hadley; Lotus Blossoms, Felix; To be selected, Cavaliers; Selections from "Blossom Time," Romberg; On the Banks of the Wabash, Dresser-Buttolph, Cavaliers; Far East, Begue; To a Wild Rose, Mac-Dowell-Banta, Piano solo, Frank Banta; Ballet Music from "Henry VIII" Suite, Saint-Saens; To be selected, baritone solo, John Seagle; Au Bord d'Un Ruisseau (At the Brook) de Sonneffer; Sendemeer's Stream, Popular Dities Transcription, arr. Banta, piano solo, Frank Banta; To be selected, Cavaliers; Irish Washerwoman, Sowerby; I'se Gwine Back to Dixie, White-Bourdon, orchestra and quartet.

MARY and Bob will participate in the celebration of a football victory of a small college situated near Little Rock, Arkansas, in the True Story broadcast over WNAC and stations of the Columbia System at 9 o'clock.

Opera and Concert Tenor on Moxie Hour

Lambert Murphy, internationally famous tenor, will be heard through stations WEEI-WBZA on Saturday evening on the third of the Moxie Music Master Series. Murphy is a New Englander, educated at Harvard. He was a member of the Harvard Glee Club, lived for some years in Springfield, Mass., where his parents still reside, was a member of the Ruggles Street Church Choir, and now makes his summer home in Munsonville, New Hampshire. He will be accompanied by the 32-piece Moxie Concert Orchestra, under the direction of Henry Kalla.

Picture Star in Boston

Lily Damita, United Artists Picture star, who has scored hits in the "Cock-Eyed World" and other recent pictures, and now appearing at the Shubert Theater with Jack Donahue in "Carry On," is greeted by Jerome Rutherford, New England sales manager of the Grigsby-Grunow Co., manufacturers of Majestic electric radio sets.

TOUR EUROPE FOR SINGLE PROGRAM

William Spier, former critic of Musical America, has just accomplished one of the most extraordinary feats in the history of radio.

With his wife and two technical experts, he went to Europe in September with a portable sound studio packed in 44 trunks and cases and weighing five tons. In exactly six weeks he set it up in Berlin, Vienna, Milan, Paris, London and points between and made electrical transcriptions, by a process similar to the record form of making sound movies, of the music of nine nations. He came back, eight weeks after he had sailed, with 90 plates of music—enough to fill three solid hours on the air. He transcribed the performances of the band of the Garde Republicaine of Paris, the National Band of Germany, the band of His Majesty's Irish Guards, the Pipers of the Scots Guards, the Royal Air Force Band, the Milan Symphony made up of musicians from La Scala; the Lanner Quartet of Vienna, the Sta. Cecilia Chamber Quartet of Paris, the Palermo Sicilian String Orchestra, Dr. Felix Schmidt's famed male chorus of Berlin and a lot of assorted folk music, including the efforts of a Bavarian Swisslander brass and reed band that consumed 40 litres of beer in three hours in the studio. None of these has ever been heard on the air in America.

In New York he enlisted John Philip Sousa and his band for the American finale and got Deems Taylor, critic and composer of note, to contribute the announcements and explanatory notes.

The whole job will be ready for broadcasting on Thanksgiving Day in a two-hour program, called the Band Bakers' Birthday Broadcast, sponsored by the General Baking Co. It will go out independently over 41 radio stations, most of them broadcasting it between 5 and 7 p. m., local time.

Fresh Air Taxicab Partners on at 7

Amos 'n' Andy, radio comedians, have been accused of keeping children up past their ordinary bedtimes. And that's the reason given by the National Broadcasting Co. for the change in time of broadcast of the Amos 'n' Andy program.

Beginning next Monday night, Amos 'n' Andy will be heard through the N B C System from 7 to 7:15 p. m., every night except Sunday. Previously they went on the air at 11 p. m.

Thousands of letters from young listeners and from parents were held responsible for the change in the time of the broadcast.

OLD BALLADS FOR SCOTCH FEATURE

In response to the appeal of an 84-year-old Methuen woman, Sandy MacFarlane, in his broadcast tomorrow evening, from 9 to 9:30 over stations WEZ-WBZA, will sing "When You And I Were Young, Maggie."

The elderly fan in a letter to Sandy lauded his type of offerings and expressed her preference for the mossy worn melodies. Sandy himself enjoys singing old favorites as much as the folk songs of the present era. The consensus of hundred of letters received since the last broadcast indicates the return of simple ballads to popular favor. Sandy, a Coloradan, a song written by an ex-Boston letter carrier who, as far as is known is now in the Navy taking a health cure, has also been requested and will be included in Saturday's broadcast. Besides a program of melodies of 50 years ago as played by Charlie Frank and his Public Scollay Square Theater Orchestra, Sandy will sing "Loch Lomond and "I'll Take You Home, Kath leen."

Sonatron Boys Sing to Family Circle

Al and Pete, known as Son an Tron, the Sonatron boys, have a simple but effective formula for building up the popular programs which they broadcast every Sunday evening during the National Union Radio Corporation's half hour on the air.

We never forget that we must remember our audience as made up of little family groups all over the country who are looking to us for amusement," says Pete, the spokesman for the pair.

Marquette Confident of Defeating Boston College

BETTING ON CONTEST IS EVEN

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 15—The invasion of one of the best college teams in the East and the celebration of "Dads' Day" is expected to attract one of the largest crowds in history to the University Stadium when Boston College and Marquette, Catholic college opponents, meet here tomorrow afternoon.

The contest is billed as an even-money affair here in Milwaukee. Coach Frank Murray and the local student group are confident that the Golden Avalanche will be the winner but are expecting a close and hard-fought melee.

Coach Murray, who is a resident of Maynard which is close by Boston, will put the finishing touches on his team today. Murray will have but one regular, Honkamp, the end, out of his starting lineup.

Marquette played a strenuous game with Creighton under the floodlights last Friday night, losing by one touchdown. The Blue and Gold was slightly shaken up in this fray but Honkamp is the only one to be forced to the sidelines.

SISK IN FINE FORM

Johnny Sisk, who has been the main cog in the Marquette offensive, is in the best of trim for the visit of the Hub towners. His presence means that Marquette will be hitting on all cylinders.

Sisk, a sophomore find, has done the major portion of the running, kicking and passing for the Blue and Gold. He's rated by Western sports writers as one of the best triple-threat men in the country.

Boston College also has a sophomore in its ranks who boasts the talent of performing three phases of the grid game. His name is George Colbert who will start at quarterback for the Eagles.

Colbert is an expert passer and drop-kicker and does a bit of the punting, usually surprising the enemy with quick kicks. Colbert is also a dangerous man running back punts and advancing from the line of scrimmage.

Marquette fans are expecting a thrilling battle of triple-threat vendors between Johnny Sisk of the locals and George Colbert of Boston. Sisk, bigger and more powerful than his rival, is expected to have the edge.

B. C. DRILLS TODAY

Boston College, which lost its first game in two years last Saturday, arrives in town today headed by Coach Joe McKenney. There are 28 players making the trip. The B. C. coach, who graduated from B. C. three years ago and is only 23 years of age, will work his charges in a warming up drill at the field today.

B. C. had an Eastern championship eleven a year ago but lost many stars by graduation. However they've gone through seven games this season with but one set-back. That happened last week when they lost a hard-fought contest to Fordham. B. C. may show the effects of that game today.

The Eagles are without their captain on the trip. Paddy Cassidy had to be left at home because of an ankle injury. And another regular backfield man, Mirley, was also unable to leave the Boston infirmary.

Colbert and Marr will take the places of these injured stars tomorrow. According to reports the B. C. club will lack little of its usual strength for Colbert and Marr are both highly experienced and were seen in action with Brandon and Mirley for regular positions on McKenney's production.

Marquette lost its first intersectional clash with Heyl Cross at Worcester, Mass., and is very anxious to even up matters with the East. Murray's team is primed and it will be a hard loss if his club should fail to clip the "Eagle" wings.

Terrier Yearlings in Final Game

Boston University's freshman eleven will wind up its season against St. Anselm's Prep of Manchester, N. H., at Nickerson Field this afternoon. The kickoff will be at 2:30 o'clock.

The Terrier yearlings are making their first start since they defeated the Springfield cubs two weeks ago but it is not expected that this layoff will affect their showing today as Coach Moose Washburn has not let his charges remain idle and has sent them against the varsity in several scrimmages recently.

Although St. Anselms has not enjoyed a very successful season to date, having dropped games to the Dartmouth and Boston College freshmen and Exeter, the schoolboys are expected to put a strong team on the field this afternoon and give the freshmen plenty of competition.

HERE ARE CRUSADERS WHO HOPE TO CRUSH HARVARD TOMORROW

HARVARD SET FOR GAME WITH H.C.

EVERY man on the Harvard varsity squad may see action against Holy Cross tomorrow, Coach Arnold Horween announced today.

The Crimson coach in making this announcement indicated that he had two reasons for using his entire strength against the powerful Cru aders.

In the first place, Horween says that for some of his players, the tilt with O'Donnell's aggregation will be the last for them in the Stadium.

And in view of the fact that Harvard has apparently caught a tartar in Holy Cross as a wind up game, Horween is anxious that none of his A team should suffer serious injury tomorrow.

The Crimson will need its full strength to stop Albie Booth and the rest of the Bulldog team, and a well padded injury list will be no help to Harvard.

SHORT DRILL TODAY

The Cantabs appear for a brief session at soldiers Field today in which they receive last minute instructions for tomorrow's encounter. A short drill for the ends and back and a few practice kicks-off are all that the boys will do before going to the showers.

Horween's official lineup for tomorrow names the identical team that faced Michigan last week.

The Cantab eleven is regarded as anything but a pushover for Harvard. Time I will have Jim Douglas, who is completely refreshed from the Ann Arbor gruelling, at left end. At left tackle, Capt. Jim Barrett, who seems in fine condition after his short layoff from practice, will rub elbows with Johnnie Tranter. Tranter's average so far is 1000 in Harvard's starting lineups, and his shoulder is expected to be a big factor tomorrow.

HONOR AT CENTER

A veteran for Harvard will be

Braves Give Players, Cash, for Coast Star

THE Braves have bought Outfielder and First-Sacker Walter Berger, a 22-year-old right-handed batter, from the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast League, according to a statement by President Emil E. Fuchs of the Tribe.

For Berger the Angels get Pitcher Arthur Delaney and Outfielder George Harper and a substantial amount of cash, probably about all that the Braves recently obtained from the Chicago Cubs for Lester Bell. In fact, this Berger acquisition is the second chapter of the Bell trade. The owner of the Cubs, William Wrigley, Jr., also owns the Los Angeles club in the Coast League.

The Cubs would not let any major team have Berger for cash alone. The recent World Series demonstrated that the Cubs had a big weakness at third base.

The Cubs, thanks somewhat to the way in which Rogers Hornsby boosted Bell, decided that Bell would be a big improvement at the hot corner. But the Braves refused to give up Bell for cash alone. And the somewhat involved deal for Berger is the result.

William Kitty Brandfield, one of the scouts for the Braves, who worked the coast last summer, put a 100 per cent O. K. on Berger as an outfielder, and it is a matter of record that Berger was sought by the Braves avidly when Rogers Hornsby was traded to the Cubs a year ago.

This last season was Berger's second with the Angels. In 1928 he batted for .325 in 160 games and in the 1929 season, in which he played 198 games, he hit for .334.

"We are trying to strengthen the team, patch the weak spots and give McKechnie the sort of material which he ought to have and must have if he is to get the Braves up toward or into that first division," said Fuchs, commenting on the deal.

CORNELL TEAM AT HANOVER

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 15—The Dartmouth football squad went through its last thorough workout of the week in preparation for the Cornell game Saturday. A chalk talk, a defence against Cornell plays, and a short signal drill marked the high spots of the day's session.

The Cornell outfit arrived in Hanover this morning by train and will share Memorial field with the Indians for brief workouts.

Coach Dobie comes to Hanover with a championship eleven and in spite of the fact that his men are not too heavy, he has developed an attack that has been the worry of more than a few well meaning aggregations.

In tomorrow's game the big Green is to have the edge over the Red and White as far as weight is concerned and it's going to be the Dartmouth line that brings a conclusion to the Ithacans' winning streak if such end is to materialize this week-end.

Maine Eleven on Eli Grid Schedule

Orono, Me., Nov. 15—Yale University is a new name on the University of Maine 1930 football schedule announced by Graduate Manager Benjamin C. Kent. The game will be played at New Haven on Sept. 27, taking the place of Bowdoin College.

Maine has never beaten a Yale team, but it has held the Bulldog to low scores. The Bears' best achievement was in 1916, when the teams played a scoreless tie.

Others on the Maine schedule are the same as for several years. They are the New England Conference games with Rhode Island State, Connecticut Aggies and New Hampshire, and the regular State series. The schedule: Sept. 27, Yale at New Haven; Oct. 4, Rhode Island at Orono; 11, Connecticut Aggies at Orono; 18, New Hampshire at Durham; 25, Bates at Orono; Nov. 1, Colby at Orono; 8, Bowdoin at Brunswick; 15, open; 22, Massachusetts State at Orono.

$700 BONUS TO DAVE MOREY

Lewiston, Me., Nov. 15 (AP)—A bonus of $700 each has been received by David B. Morey, coach of Bates' first state football championship in 23 years, and Leslie Spinks, his assistant.

Prof. Oliver J. Cutler, athletic director, in making the announcement today, said the action was taken by the athletic council last night "as an appreciation of their splendid and remarkable success with the football team this fall."

The council also voted to award gold footballs, emblematic of winning the state championship, to 18 football lettermen.

Bowdoin President Denies Seeking Morey

Brunswick, Me., Nov. 15 (AP)—Dr. Kenneth C. M. Sills, president of Bowdoin College, today denied that Bowdoin was seeking the services of Coach David R. Morey, who in his first year at Bates College gave that institution its first state football championship in 23 years.

"Bowdoin is not after Mr. Morey and did not contemplate going after him," Dr. Sills said. "No college can tender better conditions as to Mr. Morey's ability than Bowdoin is now tendering to take coaches from friendly colleges because they have winning records."

Bates defeated Bowdoin 26 to 0 and also won over Colby and Maine.

Mal Morrell, athletic director at Bowdoin has coached the gridiron teams the past three seasons, all of which have been successful.

C. C. N. Y. Will Play Duquesne Five

City College closed negotiations with Duquesne University of Pittsburgh for a game with the Lavender basketball team of March 1 at the C. C. N. Y. gymnasium.

Traveling Injuns

The Haskell Indians play in Ohama, Indianapolis, New Orleans, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Tulsa and Grand Forks besides nearby games.

Bruins 5-2 Victors in Opening Battle

DETROIT, Nov. 15—The Boston Bruins, world champion National Hockey League hockey team, opened their 1929-1930 season with a smashing 5 to 2 victory over the Detroit Cougars in a rough and tumble battle that brought a total of 29 penalties to the two teams.

The free scoring Bruin defense man [illegible] received four trips to the box during the fray but was the big star. It was a nip and tuck affair during the first period, ending up in a two-all score. Then the Bruins turned loose a driving attack that left the Cougars far behind, in spite of brilliant passing and skating by Capt. Reg Noble, Cougar defense man, and Bobby Connors, Detroit wing man.

Connie Weiland, Bruin wing man, was the pivot of the Bruin offense, scoring two goals and engineering passes that resulted in two more. Norman "Dutch" Gainor and George Owen, Bruin forwards, upset the Cougar offense strategy and repeatedly turned back the Detroit passing attack.

The game had hardly started when Reg Noble stick handled his way through the Bruin defense and slammed the puck past Tiny Thompson for the first Cougar score.

The Bruins then swept into Cougar territory. Clapper took a short pass from Melland and drove the puck past Dolson to tie the count. A few minutes later, with Rockburn out for crashing Hitchman, Shore sped down the ice alone, feinted to draw Dolson and slipped the puck in to give the Bruins a 2-to-1 lead. With 45 seconds to play, and Weiland and Shore out for tripping, Hay fed Cooper a pretty pass and the latter slipped it past Thompson to knot the count. The period ended with the score 2 to 2.

The Bruins were back at full strength on the ice when Lewis Hicks and Conners were sent off in order for tripping and roughing.

The cougars and their goalie for a time fought off the Bruins, but before their men could get out of the penalty box Weiland slipped past Dolson and flipped the puck into the net to put the Bruins ahead, 3 to 2.

A second before the period ended, Gainor slipped a pass to Connie Weiland, who beat Dolson to put the Bruins two goals ahead.

Bobby Connors crashed with Eddie Shore in middies at the start of the third period and Connors was carried off the ice.

With two minutes left to play Weiland gave Owen a pass which the former Harvard star converted into the fifth Boston score.

Wilson to Lead Andover Next Year

Andover, Nov. 15—Francis B Wilson of San Jose, Costa Rica was elected captain of the Phillips-Andover academy football for the next season.

Wilson is a member of the junior class at the academy and has played good ball in two meets with Exeter. He is a member of the academy swimming team and considered one of the fastest and most versatile swimmers.

Heavyweights Will Mix at St. Joe's

Entries from all parts of Massachusetts are pouring in for the weekly amateur tournament of St. Joseph's T. A. S., to be held in Mechanics Building tomorrow night.

The heavyweights will be featured, and "Father Bill" Cuddy, director of the shows, announced that he expected a turnout of six of the big fellows. The class is open to all comers as are the 160 and 126 pounds divisions, and there will be hot and heavy firing in the open classes.

In addition, the 118, 135 and 147 pounds classes will be limited to novice. The novice classes have provided the most thrilling fights of the year in recent weeks. Cuddy is developing boys in order that they may take part in the big Golden Glove tournament next month, and he expects some new prospects to make their debut in

Cav Offered One-Year Contract

New York, Nov. 15—Mal Frank W. Cavanaugh, coach of the Fordham football eleven, has been offered a one-year contract to lead the Rams again.

As yet, Cavanaugh has not made any decision on the offer. It was expected early in the season that this would be the major's last year at Fordham.

Williams May Lose Game, But Goal Posts Are Safe

Amherst, Mass., Nov. 15 (AP)—Amherst College students can be as enthusiastic as they like in event Amherst wins its Saturday game against Williams at Williamstown, but their opponent's goal posts must remain perpendicular.

That ultimatum was delivered to the undergraduates in John-dent Arthur Stanley Pease. The president referred to last year's contest here, when exuberant Williams students ripped up the posts and in the ensuing melee several participants were injured.

In accordance with tradition, all Saturday classes here have been called off and faculty and student body planned, almost to

B. C. H.-Brookline Game Tops School Grid Card

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

OLD RIVALS WILL MEET TOMORROW

BOSTON COLLEGE HIGH'S unbeaten and untied eleven will be tested tomorrow afternoon when it goes to Brookline to play the Wealthy Town school team.

The rivalry between these two schools extends back many years, and their annual clash is one of the best of the football season.

Art McManus' Eaglets are a formidable team. They are not a very heavy team, but each member of the regular eleven is a real all around gridiron.

B. C. high decidedly is not a team which gets its power from the presence of one or two individual stars in the lineup. All the players are capable boys who have learned the fine points of school football very quickly from Coach McManus.

The James at school is not a prep school so to speak. It is a high school, and it lives up to the letter of the regulations. The high school eligibility rule. The present eleven averages about 17 years of age.

PLAYED STIFF SCHEDULE.

Having played a stiff schedule, B. C. high and Art McManus deserve a great deal of credit for the showing of the team. The Maroon and Gold squad practices under difficulties. Scholastic requirements are strict, and each boy is required to put in a full day of class work before departing for grid practice.

There is no field at the high school, so the boys must travel all the way to Franklin Field for practice. It is after three o'clock before the squad is ready to work out. And then, when the practice session is over, the lads face a long trek home.

Students from practically all parts of the state attend B. C. high, and many of the football players do not arrive home until the evening is well advanced. So it is evident that boys must have a splendid sense of loyalty to their school and coach when they will work hard all fall, under the conditions mentioned.

B. C. H. UNDEFEATED

In spite of all these disadvantages, B. C. high has rolled through to a win in every game this season. And the team will go right after a victory tomorrow over Brookline high.

Capt. Maurice Kelley, right tackle of B. C. high played his first game in several weeks tomorrow. He has been kept on the sidelines by an injury.

The regular backfield starts the game tomorrow against Brookline. Cronin is at quarter, Soffredi and Stapleton at the halfback posts, and Ort at full.

Brookline is ready for this battle, though the team has had only a fair season. It has shown improvement in its last two games and should give B. C. high a tough time.

Naylor, center of the Brookline eleven, makes the center of the Brookline line formidable. Hatheliis and Kelley, tackles, are good. The other linesmen do a lot of nice work, too. So the frontier of the Brookline team ought to be hard to pierce tomorrow.

Woodward, pilot of the home team, runs the eleven nicely, and the attack of Brookline should give B. C. high trouble. All in all the B. C. high-Brookline game tomorrow should be closely contested.

Country Day plays at Brookline and Nichols today, and Roxbury Latin goes to Rivers school. Either of these battles should be worth watching.

Roxbury Latin has a fine end in Frank Allen. He is going to Harvard next year, and judging from the quality of his playing this fall the Harvard Freshman team have at least one good man to play in 1930.

HARVARD SET FOR H. C. TILT

Ben Teknor, as always, and the Milton giant will cause plenty of bother for Holy Cross around the pivot position. Beside him at right guard is Bus Talbot, whose fortunes have led him back and forth from Team A to team B. Apparently Talbot has finally established himself as the pick of the guards.

Bill Teknor and Dick O'Connell are Horween's choice for right tackle and right end, respectively. O'Connell is another veteran who has come to bat every Saturday this season with the exception of the Dartmouth game.

Wood, Putnam, Devens and Harper will be the backfield four to test the Holy Cross wings and secondary.

Glen O'Donnell also named his starting lineup today, and from reports of what he has selected, the Cross ought to put up a great exhibition.

HUB MAY LOSE SOCCER TEAM

Fall River, Nov. 15—Unless a purchaser can be found for the Boston Soccer team before tomorrow, Sam Mark, owner of the Fall River team, who took over the Boston team during the recently ended soccer war, will disband the team.

However several parties are still negotiating for the franchise, and one of the best Saturday towns in the league may be saved.

If the team is disbanded, Fall River will secure the service of five members of the club. Those to come to Fall River are Dave Priestly and Bobby Ballantyne, halfbacks; Charley McGill and Jock McArthur, fullbacks, and Scotty Nilsen, forward and halfback.

New Bedford has won out in the scramble for Bill Harper whose services were sought by Bethlehem, Brooklyn and the Nationals.

Jimmie Barrie, now with Fall River, Gordon Burrnss and O'Hara will join the Providence club and Malcolm Goldie of the Marksmen and Bob Fleming, the lanky halfback, are listed for Pawtucket. Dave McEachran, when reinstated, will be with New Bedford. Brockton was wrong for Burrnss but Providence won out.

90-Player Limit for $25,000 Golf Prize

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 15 (AP)—The $25,000 Agua Caliente open golf tournament, which will be played in January on the new Mexican courses south of here, will be limited to 90 entrants.

The prize said to be the highest ever offered for a tournament, as expected to draw the pick of the professionals of golfdom, and a rich array of trophies attend the ceremonies.

Decision to limit the field to 90 players was reached at Agua Caliente officials, sponsors of the tournament.

Two tournaments, the championship of the Professional Golfers Association and the Los Angeles $10,000 open, will be the selection mediums to determine the field for the $25,000 competition.

B. U. Eleven Primed for Game With Geneva

COACHES REGGIE BROWN and Ed Robinson have their Boston University squad primed for the Geneva game tomorrow, and the Terriers are all set to make a strong bid for victory.

B. U. has lost the last three games and is due to come out on the long end of the score again and with the holding of the game on its own gridiron, plus the good condition and awakened interest of the players, the local team has a good chance of turning the trick against the visitors.

Geneva is expected to show a fast and tricky offense, but this should not catch the Terriers napping, as they have spent much of the time this week in drilling against their opponent's plays.

The Terriers have looked weak against forward passes in most of the games this fall, but such will not be the case tomorrow if the backs show the same alertness against Geneva passes as they did against the seconds.

Al Bass did the aerial tossing against the varsity and although he is the best passer on the team with the sole exception of Cobb Walke, he did not have any luck and only completed one forward for a short gain.

After six weeks of struggling with the seconds, Santo Marino has been promoted to first string quarterback and will start the Geneva game at that berth. Marino started the opening game of the season with West Point but gave way to Palombo shortly after and has served as a sub until his recent promotion.

The only other changes likely to be made in the starting lineup against Geneva is the shifting of Lou Lobel from right to left tackle and the promotion of Lee Stone to varsity right tackle. Stone is another deposed regular who is making a comeback after many weeks with the seconds.

Eddie Curley and Salvadore Battle

Eddie Curley of Roxbur, has been signed to meet George Salvadore of Oak Bluffs in a 10-round bout at New Bedford on Monday night. The boys are evenly matched and are expected to furnish a lively tilt.

GUS COMING TO DEFEND TITLE

Still champion of the world, Gus Sonnenberg is rushing across continent and will arrive here next Tuesday to defend his title against Pat McGill in the Arena Thursday night.

Sonnenberg is the most colorful figure the sport of wrestling has ever known, and the more Boston sees of other wrestlers, the better it likes the savage, hard-hitting Sonnenberg with his flashing flying tackle.

McGill is training every day at the health school at the Statler, with a corps of training mates.

Promoter Paul Bowser is arranging a long preliminary card which he believes will rank with the best ever presented here.

Martin and Kosky Clash in Bout at Arena Tonight

MIDGETS SET FOR FAST RING BATTLE

Complete Card At Arena

TEN ROUNDS

Andy Martin, Boston, vs. Fay Kosky, Chicago.

EIGHT ROUNDS

Frankie Moore, Medford, vs. Nadeau, Somersworth, N. H.

SIX ROUNDS

Stanley Winneryk, Lawrence, vs. Frankie Messina, Boston.

Johnny Gonzales, Los Angeles, vs. Billy Hindley, England.

Freddie O'Connor, So. Boston, vs. Eddie Erne, Medford.

Al Hacklew, Winthrop, vs. Al Linzi, Italy.

FOUR ROUNDS

Joe Dow, Lawrence, vs. Bud Dempsey, Boston.

First bout, 5 o'clock; main bout 10 o'clock.

By JACK CONWAY

ANDY MARTIN, sturdy South End featherweight, will try to even his fistic score with Fay Kosky when he clashes with the Pacific coast battler in a 10-round bout at an Arena A. C. show at the New Boston Arena tonight.

When these featherweight rivals met at Providence, Kosky furnished one of the biggest boxing surprises of the season by winning the decision up to the Martin tussle Kosky was not very well known in the East Out on the Pacific Coast and in the Middle West he had piled up 113 straight victories, but it was felt that the clever Martin would halt his ring surge.

Jack Conway

This writer saw the Martin-Kosky match at Providence. It was a hard, bitter affair right down to the wire. Kosky, a southpaw, keeps going forward every second he is in the ring. He is a good puncher, while he stands up well under punishment.

Tom Walsh, who piloted Jock Malone when the latter crashed through with 14 straight wins in Boston, is directing Kosky. Walsh isn't the least bit bashful in declaring that his heavy-socking protege will tip Martin over.

BOSTON and New England fans are anxious to get a peek at Martin against such rugged opposition. They saw Andy polish off Bud Taylor and Bushy Graham in the Garden and know he is blessed with a world of class.

Martin was recently rated as one of the world's foremost featherweights by Edward G. Foster, chairman of the championship committee of the National Boxing Association.

Andy has worked hard for tonight's bout, as he realizes he must win to retain his present lofty position in the featherweight group.

Martin's South End supporters will be out in force to see him do his stuff.

BOUTS between midget warriors have usually produced the most action. The heavyweights have the crowd appeal, but the average featherweight show usually proves much more satisfactory than the affairs where the heavyweights are featured.

As Martin and Kosky are men of high standing, they should make the fans forget all about some of the recent dismal heavyweight offerings.

FRANKIE MOORE of Medford and Young Nadeau of Somersworth, N. H., youngsters who always pack action into their fights, will meet in the eight-round semi-final bout, and in the six-rounders Stanley Winneryk of Lawrence will be paired with Frankie Messina of the North End. Johnny Gonzales of Los Angeles with Billy Hindley of England, Freddie O'Connor of South Boston with Eddie Erne of Medford, and Al Linzi of Winthrop with Al Linzi of Italy.

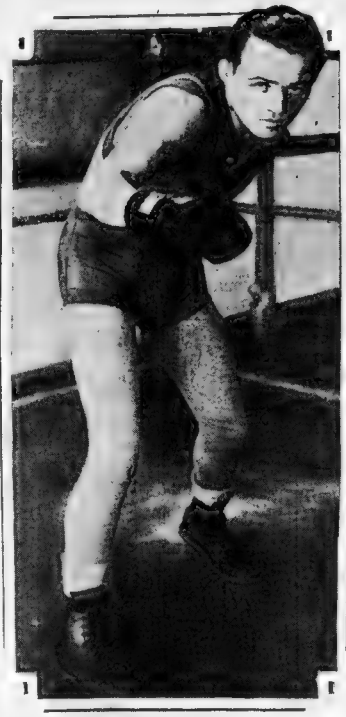
The opening four-rounder will bring together Bud Dempsey of the North End and Joe Dow of Lawrence.

Hillsides Meet South Boston T. T.

The Hillside A. A. of Ashmont will be after its 30th victory in four years when it clashes with the undefeated and unscored-on South Boston Town Team at the Hemenway Playground, Dorchester, on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Joe Kodad and Lon Lyons will be in the backfield for the Hillsides. Both are stars of the team. Capt. Kavanaugh will start at end. The forward pass combination of Kodad to Kavanaugh is expected to cause the South Boston team a lot of trouble.

OUT TO REPEAT



Fay Kosky, above, Pacific coast boxer, who meets Andy Martin in 10-round feature bout at Arena tonight, is confident he will repeat his recent victory over the South End featherweight.

Tufts Eleven Favored to Beat Bowdoin Tomorrow

ARTHUR SAMPSON will give his Tufts football men only a light signal session this afternoon in the last practice before the Bowdoin game at the Oval tomorrow.

The Jumbos are the heavy favorites over the Maine team, and should experience little difficulty in coming out on top.

The Jumbo mentor has intimated that his starting lineup will be the same as that which started the Amherst game last week, with the exception of Joe LeMaistre the punter and Staffon at tackle. Holland Pittock will be in LeMaistre's place and Red Butters will get the call at tackle over Staffon.

Arianson and Godfrey will again hold down the ends, with Littleton and Butters, tackles, Rachouf and Ruggeiro at guard with Gene Tobey at the pivot position round out the probable starting line. In the backfield LeCain, Holland, Ingalls and Pittock will be the men to carry the Jumbo hopes.

McCoy Wins Mat Bout With Meyers

Bob "Ebbie" McCoy, ex-Holy Cross football player, scored a victory in the feature bout at the Grand Opera House, in toppling Freddy Meyers of Chicago for two straight falls.

The Cambridge boy registered the first in 41 minutes, 41 seconds, with a combination reverse headlock and back fall, and the second in 13 minutes with a cross body scissors and double wristlock.

Duke Travels

Duke University has one of the traveling teams this year with trips to Macon, Annapolis, Philadelphia, Boston and nearby points.

Jap Grid Coach

Art Matsu, Japanese, who formerly starred in the backfield for William and Mary, is now the football coach for a high school in Asheville, N. C.

Albie Booth Facing Big Test Tomorrow

By RALPH GILROY

Former Princeton Star and All-America Halfback

TWO mighty football wars will be waged along the Eastern front tomorrow afternoon when the Crusader eleven invades the Harvard Stadium, and the Princeton Tigers crowd into the Yale Bowl to take a smack at the Bulldog.

The Harvard A. A. reports 50,000 pasteboards already paid for with indications of an early sellout, whereas the Yale A. A. hands out the news that every available space of the Yale Bowl, 80,000 to be exact, have already been delivered in the mail.

The Pigskin enthusiasts realize the football season is getting along toward the finale and are anxious not to miss the windup battles.

THE Yale and Tiger squads have completed their final scrimmages and now await that 2 o'clock whistle, which, when blown, tomorrow afternoon will send these traditional rivals into combat in their 53rd annual classic.

Coach Mal Stevens of the big Blue team has served notice that he will send his brilliant ace, Albie Booth, into the opening lineup rather than withhold him for the "psycological" situations of the fray.

The Eli mentor is changing his policy of withholding his "ace" which he has employed in the previous battles with Brown, Army and Dartmouth, because Stevens realizes in this Princeton skirmish tomorrow afternoon those openings to permit Albie to score may not arise unless the Eli's ace is in there making them for himself.

So much glamour has been thrown around exploits of little Albie Booth that he must appear to the football sport public as a superback. The Yale backfield star because of the volume of publicity surrounding his gridiron assets will carry into tomorrows battle with the Tiger and Yale's final game with Crimson a tremendous handicap.

Albie carries a world of "stuff" in his diminutive 145 pounds, but the best back that ever donned moleskins needs support and plenty of it from his teammates.

Whether Booth is to maintain his brilliant gridiron prowess in the Princeton and Harvard battles depends largely on the work of the Yale forward wall.

If the Yale "ace" falls down in these two games he won't be any less a brilliant runner, but he faces that great handicap of being a "marked" man to be watched at all costs by the enemy, and yet the thousands of pigskin followers will be expecting Albie to do his stuff no matter what the opposition.

IN the Dartmouth struggle Yale's "ace" wasn't hit hard. The Hanover players had evidently been instructed to "trap" Booth rather than dive for him for fear if a few flying tackles missed him Albie would scamper away for a touchdown.

Coach "Bill" Roper of the Tigers never taught his charges to "trap" any ball carrier and it is doubtful if he will start at this late date of his coaching career. Bill will have his men in there tackling Booth and tackling him hard.

There are many skeptics wondering whether Albie with his 145 pounds can stand up under constant pounding. Tomorrow's battle in the Yale Bowl should tell the story.

THE record of the Blue eleven has been a good one. But in scoring victories over Brown, Army and Dartmouth, Yale has looked like a great eleven with her backfield "ace" in the fray and a floundering disorganized unit with Booth on the sidelines.

In my estimation a one-man team is not a strong one, and although football history has demonstrated one brilliant star can break up a football game, such a lineup hasn't proved very successful for long against a well coached eleven.

Princeton and Harvard, both have better balanced teams than Yale depending on no particular star to bring home the bacon. Tomorrow's battle with the Princeton Tigers and the following Saturday's struggle in the Harvard Stadium should prove or disprove this idea, that a football team with eleven mediocre stars is superior to a team with one brilliant star.

LOCAL football lovers will witness a great battle out in the Harvard Stadium tomorrow afternoon. Any one who likes Arnie Horween will hold out his first eleven for the Yale game is grossly mistaken.

There have been rumors to that effect this week, but anyone visiting the Cambridge scene of action can be assured right now of seeing the best of Horween's equal in action against the Crusaders.

Nothing would please the Crimson mentor any more than to be able to rest up his first string for Yale, but Holy Cross holds a place of such importance on the Crimson schedule that Harvard wants a victory, and Arnie Horween realizes only too well that only his best lineup can achieve this end.

CLEO O'DONNELL is bringing down from Worcester a big heavy line that will test the Crimson forward wall to the last ounce. Capt. Clancy, Klarmen, Manfreda, Garrity and O'Connell, the Purple eleven has a versatile backfield which can put on a running or aerial game with equal ability.

The rival lines from tackle to tackle are almost equal in strength, in favor of the Crimson, due the brilliant work of Ben Tickner, Harvard's snapper-back. The Crimson wingmen seem to have it over their Holy Cross rivals.

The rival backfields are about even as regards running ability, but Harvard has a pigskin tosser in Barry Wood superior to anything the Crusaders can offer. The Crimson will stick to the running game with the lateral pass coming in for considerable attention as long as possible.

Harvard would like to stay away from the aerial game tomorrow

Dedicate New Everett High Stadium, Nov. 24

It was announced by the Everett Stadium Commission that dedicatory exercises are to be held at the Everett high school stadium, Chelsea st., Everett, on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 24.

All patriotic and fraternal organizations of the city are to take part in the exercises. Plans are being made to have a civic demonstration through a parade that will pass through the principal streets of the city.

Mayor Roche and the members of the stadium commission are in charge of the dedicatory program. The stadium will be dedicated to the members of the Everett high school who made the supreme sacrifice in the World War.

Tigers in Top Form

Boston Tigers came through the one-sided triumph with Philadelphia Arrows without a scratch or a bruise and are in prime condition to continue their winning ways against Springfield Indians in Springfield tomorrow night.

Manager Eddie Powers was much pleased with the performance of the Tigers against the Arrows, who had beaten the world champion Bruins in an exhibition game. Against the Calumet champions, the Arrows never had a chance and except for good goaltending on the part of "Mush" Roberts, the Tigers would have improved on their total of seven goals.

"Yank" Boyd, new right winger, stood out in the Tiger offensive at Philadelphia and showed skating speed of the type cut loose last season by Bobby Taylor. Boyd has demonstrated great scoring power. He has played in two professional games and has scored a goal in each.

BABE RUTH TO ASK FOR $85,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Col. Jacob Ruppert and Edward Barrow of the Yankees, departed for French Lick to sign Ruth to a new contract.

The Babe has just served out a three-year term calling for $70,000 a season.

It was predicted that Barrow would off the home run slugger terms for a one-year term, even if they came a bit higher than the figures Ruth would demand in a two-year contract.

Ruth has informed friends that he will ask $85,000 for one year or $75,000 a season for two years.

Negotiations with Ruth, Barrow said, would not be completed until some time in December. The business manager himself will return from French Lick in time for the Notre Dame-Army game at the Yankee Stadium on Nov. 30.

FEAR SHERIFF IS SLAIN BY GIRL BANDIT OR PALS

Chicago, Nov. 15 (AP)—Fears were expressed today by Northern Indiana officials that Deputy Sheriff O. D. Jarman of Rome, Ga., had been slain by companions of Elizabeth Brooks, alias "Honey" Sullivan, alleged "bandit queen," who he was taking back to Georgia.

Jarman—or a man purporting to be him—presented extradition papers, signed by Gov. Harry G. Leslie of Indiana to Sheriff Lyle of Lake County Tuesday for the young woman. She was wanted in Rome with two male companions in connection with a $12,000 payroll robbery.

Since Tuesday nothing definite has been heard of either Jarman or Miss Brooks, although it was learned that the deputy's superiors Wednesday received a telegram, saying that he was having difficulty in securing the extradition papers.

Authorities believe that Jarman either was waylaid and slain after obtaining the extradition papers from the governor and that his documents were stolen and used by the young woman's companions in that he was slain while en route back to Georgia with her. Lake County officials said they did not know how the bearer of the extradition papers planned to take Miss Brooks to Georgia, but a check of railroad failed to show any passages engaged for Rome.

STOCK THRIFT PLAN BLOWS UP

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—The North American Thrift Association of 578 Madison ave. which sold stocks and bonds on an installment basis, today filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court.

The petition, signed by Albert G Ambrose president of the association, set forth that the company had been in business about 10 years. Schedules of liabilities and assets were not filed, but were promised within 10 days.

The association's attorneys explained that it had operated on a "perfectly straight" basis, purchasing shares of stock when first payments were made on account by patrons in many instances putting up the full value in purchase price of stock shares which had dropped during the market slump, did not want to pay the full amount due under the terms of their deals even though the association had been obliged to pay it or to hold itself to pay it.

Cat Drowns With Autoist in Dive

Kingston, N. Y., Nov. 15 (INS)—Ernest Hoffer, 23, was drowned on his way to work when his car careened off the road and plunged into 10 feet of water in Bonnie creek.

For three hours police and firemen worked to lift the car out of the water. When they succeeded Hoffer was dead.

He was a pet kitten which had been riding in the Hoffer machine

SUGAR LOBBY'S ATTORNEY IS ON GRILL

Washington, Nov. 15 (INS)—The Senate lobby committee began today to delve into the extensive sugar lobby that has been carried on in Washington throughout consideration of the tariff bill.

Edwin P. Shattuck, attorney for the U. S. Sugar Association, admitted coming to Washington last March and "working two or three days a week" to defeat increases in the present bill.

Senator Smoot (R), Utah, chairman of the Senate finance committee; Watson, Indiana, Republican floor leader, and Edge (R), New Jersey, were all visited often, Smoot almost every day, Shattuck said.

Shattuck said he expected to receive $25,000 or more for time spent in Washington this year and that his organization has paid all his expenses. Although denying entertaining on any extensive scale, Shattuck said his office "pays for everything I spend here."

Shattuck was on the sugar equalization board during the war and said he was retained afterward by a number of sugar interests.

The sugar association maintains an office here, Shattuck said, with Lester Johnson, a "statistician," as head of it.

3 BOMBERS GET LONG TERMS

Winsted, Ct., Nov. 15 (AP)—Joseph Costa of Torrington was found guilty today of dynamiting the home of Thomas J. Wall, former Torrington prosecuting attorney. He was sentenced to from 10 to 15 years in State prison.

Frank Bosco of Torrington and Pasquale Brunl of Stamford, who has previously pleaded guilty to the same charge, were each sentenced from 7 to 12 years.

The Wall residence was bombed in the morning of March 18, 1925. No one was injured.

Wall testified during the trial, which started Wednesday, that before the explosion he had prosecuted Costa for a liquor law violation.

MAY PASS TAX BILL BEFORE CHRISTMAS

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—Representative Tilson of Connecticut, Republican House leader, predicted after a call at the White House today that the Treasury tax reduction proposal would be passed by the House before the Christmas holidays.

Tilson said he canvassed the possibility of early passage of a tax bill with the President, and was confident no objection would be interposed in the House to this course.

The Treasury proposal is for a 1 per cent reduction in the individual and corporation rates.

The House leader said he had held conferences with various groups in the Senate and felt little difficulty would be met there.

"The plan of the secretary of the treasury is simple and involves no material changes in the revenue laws and should be passed quickly," he said.

Best Man Is Nearly Wed by a 'Mistake'

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 15 (AP)—R. V. Robinson was just passing by. He did not intend to get married, but he had, in his own words, "a very narrow escape."

Leave Mr. Robinson for a moment and consider Sebastian Ferslinger and Miss Etta Frame, who did want to get married. They said as much to Justice of Peace Harrison.

"If you insist upon being married," said the justice, "I won't argue. However, you need a best man. Pardon me while I get a best man."

Justice Harrison went outside. He met Mr. Robinson. "How," said Justice Harrison, "would you like to be a best man?"

"I don't mind," said Robinson. "Anything to help out."

Back in the justice's courtroom the folks lined up. "Do you," inquired Justice Harrison, "take this woman to be you lawful wedded wife?"

"I should say not," said Mr Robinson, reaching for his hat. "I'd be willing to be the best man, but I won't marry anybody."

Justice Harrison reached for his glasses, put them on and looked the situation over. He had placed the best man where the bridegroom should have been, and vice versa.

"My error," said the justice; and soon thereafter Miss Frame became Mrs. Ferslinger, and Mr. Robinson went home.

Last Survivor of Old Cumberland Dies

New Haven, Ct., Nov. 14 (AP)—Charles J. Shute, who, according to United States naval records, was the last survivor of the U. S. S. Cumberland, sunk by the Merrimac off Hampton Roads during the Civil War, died here today. He was 91.

Hub-Bound Ship in S O S Off Ireland

London, Nov. 15 (INS)—The British steamer Volumnia today sent out an S O S for assistance from a position 300 miles off the coast of Ireland, according to dispatches to evening newspapers here. The vessel was bound from Philadelphia by way of Boston. Its displacement is 5600 tons. Details regarding the steamer's predicament were lacking in dispatches.

The S. S. Volumnia, reported in distress 300 miles off the coast of Ireland, carries a crew of 35 men, and was making her first trip to Boston and Philadelphia with an cargo of China clay. According to officials of the Furness Withy Co., Ltd., agent of the steamer, the cargo was bound for the English China Co. of Boston and New York.

Dry Agent Says Job Has 'Ostracised' Him

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 15 (AP)—A plaint on the life of a prohibition official was given today to members of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, in convention here, by Maurice Campbell, administrator in New York city.

"I am virtually ostracized from [illegible] of many friends, because [illegible] without any [illegible] bargaining them and myself," he said in an address during which he urged women of all state to unite upon a state enforcement act.

Many distinguished hostesses feel morally obliged to serve bootleg liquor in their homes. And in most instances, to get it, they have to associate themselves with criminals, with only the made before such have fired a bullet into the [illegible] a banner hanging. If [illegible] protect him how many of [illegible] some liquor."

Engineer Crushed to Death in Wreck

Wilmar, Minn., Nov. 15 (AP)—George Rothwell, 62, of Sioux City, Ia., engineer, was killed today when two Great Northern passenger trains sideswiped at an intersection here. He was crushed under his locomotive, which turned over.

WITNESSES IN AUTO CASE DECLARE SULLIVAN WAS NOT DRUNK

CONTRADICT TESTIMONY OF POLICE

School Committee Member Is on Trial in the Municipal Court After Crash

Testimony that Edward M. Sullivan of Melville st., Dorchester, member of the Boston school committee, was not drunk when arrested was given at his trial today in municipal court.

Sullivan was charged with drunkenness, operating a car while under the influence of liquor, operating so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public and leaving the scene of an accident without making known his identity.

He was represented by Atty John P. Feeney, and the government's case was presented by Sergt. John P. McArdle of the Back Bay traffic division.

OFFICER TESTIFIES

Although Traffic Officer Martin J. Heffron, who arrested Sullivan following a crash on the night of Sept. 28, testified he was drunk and staggering, several witnesses declared the school committeeman was sober and operating his car properly.

The first witness, Edward P. Rohlard of 762 Columbus ave., testified he was driving on Tremont st. when a dark car struck four other cars. He said he followed the machine as well as he could in traffic, and saw it turn to the left of a trolley and then turn right into Massachusetts ave., from there going into Columbus ave.

At the corner of Massachusetts and Columbus aves., the witness said Officer Heffron jumped on the running board of his car and ordered him to follow a machine which it later developed was operated by Sullivan.

COULDN'T IDENTIFY CAR.

The witness said he could not identify the machine, which was green, as the car involved in the accident.

John F. Poole of 2 Myrtle st., Roxbury, said he was on the front end of a trolley when he heard a crash and got off. He saw two bad cars, one green and the other dark he said, go to the left of a street car and turn into Massachusetts ave. The witness said he followed and, the machines being held up in traffic, got on the running board of the green car.

He rode there until it was stopped by the policeman at Eugles st., and Columbus ave., but had no talk with the driver, Sullivan. He said he could not identify Sullivan as driver of the car involved in the crash, and could not say he was drunk.

He did not see Sullivan stagger, Poole said, and declared he operated the car in a proper manner. He added there were no marks on Sullivan's car.

BATTLE ON RUNNING BOARD

Henry Thornberg of 1374 Columbus ave. testified he was riding with Rohlard when the crash occurred. He told of Officer Heffron getting on the running board of Rohlard's machine. He could not say that Sullivan was drunk, the witness declared, adding that Sullivan had instructed him in starting the car. He did not see the deendant stagger. Referring to a bottle which was introduced as evidence, the witness said he picked it up on the running board of Sullivan's car and that it fell out of the machine.

Harry Goran of 740 Tremont st. and James F. Keefe of 218 Hancock st. testified their cars were struck in the crash. Goran was in his tailor shop at the time and Keefe was unable to identify the machine which struck his.

BOOKED AS DRUNK.

Officer Heffron said when he talked with Sullivan after stopping his car, his breath smelled of alcohol, and on getting out of the machine at Station 5 the defendant staggered. The witness said he booked Sullivan as drunk.

In response to a question he said he found a bottle of liquor on the running board of Sullivan's car, and that it had dropped from his person.

Lieut. Burns testified Sullivan was drunk at the time Officer Heffron brought him into the station.

Burglar Suspect Is Wanted in California

Bridgeport, Conn., Nov. 15 (AP)—Frank Wagner, arrested several weeks ago in Darien, when he was driving an automobile which contained burglars tools, and weapons, has been identified, it is said by Darien police, as Charles Eisenhart, who escaped from San Quentin prison in California, where he was serving a long term for burglary.

Wagner will be held for extradition to California.

RICH WOMAN IS A VICTIM OF SWINDLERS

Got $300 for Family of an Injured Prohibition Agent

Noted for her many philanthropic acts, Miss Mabel Lyman, Waltham Millionaire, proved to be a gullible victim of three confidence men who are alleged to have swindled her out of a total of $300 by relating a sad story of poverty being endured by the families of prohibition agents.

The story of the $300 loss suffered by Miss Lyman, was revealed today when Edward P. Condry, of Tremont st., South End, was arraigned in court on a charge of larceny of $100.

According to the Waltham police Condry is alleged to have gone to the exclusive Lyman residence, in Waltham, where he told the women that a prohibition agent had suffered a broken leg and his family was in dire circumstances.

To make his story sound legitimate Condry is alleged to have asked her to make the check out to Chief of Police Richard Currin, of Waltham. The check was later forged and cashed.

The police officials today revealed that on two previous occasions two other men had obtained $200 by using the same story, but by naming different prohibition agents. Suspicious that too many prohibition officers were suffering broken limbs, Miss Lyan decided to have the police investigate. Chief Currin told her that he had never assigned anyone to seek aid for any federal officers.

Cosmetic Industry Fights Regulation

Concord, N. H., Nov. 15 (AP)—The prospects of obtaining legislation soon for the regulation of cosmetics were characterized today as "gloomy" by Dr. Charles D. Howard, state chemist, in an address before a group of nurses assembled here for a public health institute.

A "spokesman" for the cosmetic industry, Dr. Howard said, has "announced the intention to spend any sums that may be necessary to prevent the achievement of legislation." Dr. Howard is widely known as a proponent of cosmetic legislation which would require standardization of products of that industry.

"Vigorous opposition coming from all sections of the country," he said, seem to place the quietus on any attempt to require the same degree of purity and the same honesty of labeling of drugs for toilet uses as has been required under the food and drug act.

"While the humbuggery practiced in the cosmetic industry is of itself sufficient to warrant demanding reforms, yet we have another vital reason in the very real health hazard entailed through extensive distribution and indiscriminate use in the homes of potent drugs and chemicals.

How America's best dressed men looked at

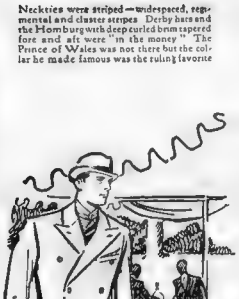
at Belmont Park, Long Island, Tuesday, November 5

by Hart Schaffner & Marx artists and style observers

Necktes were striped—widespaced, regimental and cluster stripes. Derby hats and the Homburg with deep curled brim tapered fore and aft were in the money. The Prince of Wales was not there but the collar he made famous was the ruling favorite.

Above: Sketch of spectator who is considered one of the best dressed men in America; derby, wing collar, polka dot Ascot tie, covert topcoat.

The covert—which seemed to be the ruling favorite in the field of topcoat entries—olive tan and fly-front. Easy fitting lines.



Here we are at Belmont Park—the official closing chapter of the racing season—and an opening chapter of "what men will wear this fall and winter." The United Hunts has the distinction of attracting America's best dressed men and women—recognized leaders in finance, in society, in sports—the group that is the real pace setter for a great part of America's fashion.

The refreshment tent outside the Turf and Field Club—note the fitted double breasted overcoat; broad shouldered, trim waist—black and white weaves were worn by many of the well groomed members of the United Hunts.

In the Paddock we found well-turned-out judges of horses. On the left the authentic English double breasted in Corona brown—right navy blue double breasted—a bit less formal yet with a definite air of smartness.

Left: Trouble at the barrier. Three button single breasted (who is in hopes of squaring his accounts for the season) wears a brown self-pattern weave. Diagonals and plain-colored Corona browns and Pyramid greys were occupying the enclosure chairs and boxes.

DOES DAN CUPID FAVOR OFFICE FRIENDSHIPS?

Many Couples Have Found Their Romance There

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
An Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

DOES companionship between employes and employers or between fellow employes further the plans of Dan Cupid? The experience of many couples goes to show that an office shop or factory may prove to be a school of romance as well. But the Heavy-Hearted Reader feels that she would get on better with her friend if he were not her employer.

Beatrice Fairfax

"DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

"During the early part of Spring I started working for a concern that was run by five brothers. Four were married and the youngest was single. The youngest is rich, and I am sure that any girl who gets him will be well off.

"I worked for him several months, and all during this time I don't think there was a day that he spoke to me, or I to him, unless it was in regard to business. He is a very quiet type of fellow, but I notice that he always has something to say to the girls working in the shop. By the way, I am the only girl in the office.

"When I started, the girl who worked there previously told me to try and vamp him as he would make a very good husband. But of course he was out of question, as I did not care for his type at all.

"After working there for about three months the place closed down for business reasons during July and August. In the latter part of July, while I was walking with my girl friend, he saw me and followed me up the street. It surely did surprise me to think he would ask us to go riding with him, after paying no attention to me during working hours. He also had a boy friend with him. Well, anyway, I accepted and a good time was had by all.

"After that first evening he called me several times during the week we went out together. But every time he came he brought a boy friend along, and naturally I had to get a girl for him.

"I must admit I didn't act very nice to him, but I tried to be as sociable as possible. We went out together exactly a month, and the last time he left me he said he would call, but he didn't.

"Don't let me forget all the time I worked there a girl used to phone him several times a day. When we started going together I mentioned the fact and he claimed that she meant nothing to him, and that I was the only girl and he really loved me. I asked him why he treated me so coldly at work and he said since that evening he met me on the street his mind had changed. He was quite serious about our friendship. But then, again, why did he always have his boy friends around?

"He is not such an easy fellow; I mean you can't get your way so easily with him. About three weeks ago the plant opened again and his brothers asked me to come back to work for them. When he saw me he looked displeased and again treated me coldly.

"I really can't understand him. I would like to ask him up to the house some day and talk things over. Would that be proper? I would like to go out with him again. The girl still calls him at the office. He often tells me she makes him sick. But I think he didn't want her to also wouldn't call. What do you say to that? It hurts when you have treated as coldly at work. And to think he was just as nice as he could be when we went together! I will gladly follow your advice.

HEAVY-HEARTED READER.

Men sometimes are puzzling, are they not, my dear? But then so are girls! I find it a little puzzling, for instance, to figure out why you want to go about again with your employer, since you say you do not care for his style at all and did not treat him very nicely when you did go with him. Can it be you are impressed by the idea that the girl who gets him will be well off? Happiness is not found by marrying for money.

I am glad you are not in love with him, for the fact that the other young woman phones him every day suggests that she is an intimate friend of his. He could easily stop her telephone calls if he wished.

Possibly, he does not believe in mixing business and social life and for that reason does not go about with you, now that you are back at the office. If I were you, my dear, I would attend strictly to work, treat him with friendliness and dignity and center my thoughts and interests on more enthusiastic friends. You may be sure that if he cares for you, he will not let you go. He will seek you out and make every effort to win you if he loves you, whether or not you and he work in the same office.

Pat Is Given a Spiffy Little Sport Car

"It's yours, Pat, old thing!" said her father as the girl exclaimed at the beauty of the new auto.

"If I love some one, why can't I come-out freely with them?" queried Pat with a pretty pout.

Miss Pat

want life to be easy. Never ask that, Pat. Takes away all the spice and rollick. Why, if I could toss you this car without motor and I having to scheme a bit, where would be the thrill of it? Easy lives are bored lives—an easy life is but a weak substitute for death. I hope you'll never have it, Pat.

"But listen, Pat—one favor I'm going to ask. Don't drive beyond thirty mile. Make that your speed limit."

"Couldn't you let me have thirty-five?"

"No. Thirty will get you anywhere quickly enough. Keep up that pace through the day, and you'll find yourself speeding dangerously no matter what destination, you're linked. It's the jump sparks that go eighty today, ten tomorrow and not at all the next day that never arrive."

"All right, then, thirty."

"And you'll need to keep an even pace with all this new world opening. Pat."

"Dad, you don't feel that you're giving me up to the raging sea they way mother does, do you?"

"Oh, the sea may rage, but you're pretty strong swimmer. I think I'd trust you to buck the current."

"You're gorgeous," said Pat, feeling gulpy and blinking.

He thought her fine; expected strang, brave things of her and no ado about it. She wanted to reach up and meet this happy, beautiful trust.

She gave a quick toss of her head and looked with wet, shiny eyes into her father's face. "You're a peach, Dad. Gee, if I ever meet any one like YOU!"

"You'll meet plenty."

They were parked on a little plateau in the hills above San Mateo. Through the sunset haze the bay shimmered—the boats skimmed gracefully like fairy things over the water.

Pat gazed into the distance and the quiet. She sighed: "Dad—can it mean and small to calculate about love? Why should a girl pretend and hold back? If I love someone why can't I come out freely and tell them?"

"Pat, you can answer that yourself. If you were absolutely sure of that. If he kept telling you with every other breath how marvelous he thought you, you'd not be going hot and cold with suspense, would you?"

"Yes, but if he did care like that, he WOULD say it. It's only the girl who has to worry about keeping him guessing. It's not fair."

"Life isn't fair—it doesn't have to bother about being fair. You play the game with the cards you get and be wise as well as brave."

"Can't a girl ever EVER come out wildly and just throw her whole heart and soul into it?"

Thrilling Airplane Romance

"I'm not telling you to be a nigard with love, Pat. Love with all your heart and soul, of course, when you meet the man you really want. But don't be a spendthrift.

"Wait till you're sure you're getting the great return. Wait till the man shows that he values and consummately wants your gifts. And let him ask for them first. Let him ask many times and in many ways. It's only human nature to regard as precious the things difficult to get. So hold back a little—even to the end."

"I tell you that I love you," said Pat, dreamily. "Does it make you care any the less?"

"Oh, you don't make me too sure, Miss Pat. You forget to kiss me. I have to keep to keep myself in your graces."

"Gosh, I must be GOOD! I don't hold much back that I can."

Perhaps it's an unconscious artist at loving." So I shan't have to worry! Thanks for telling me that, dad, do you mean to say that mother never let you know she was simply nuts about you? Well, if she never told it. I'll tell you in on it. She thinks you're the whole earth. She told me that nothing—absolutely NOTHING—counted from the first moment she looked in your eyes or you looked in hers. And she pretended exactly when that first glance was."

Richard Dawn colored and smiled and threw back his head with a laugh "What else art she say, Pat?" blue eyes kindled.

"Oh, you conceited thing! Your destiny is settled I'm the person we're talking about."

She hooked her chin on his shoulder. Her hair brushed his cheek. He smiled, inhaling the perfume and rubbing his hand on her soft, brown neck.

"Dad, after you wrote that dearest letter, didn't she go quite out of her head and let you know you had her in the hollow of your hand?"

"What letter? She didn't show it to you, Pat?"

"Oh, don't get alarmed, though why you should be stingy with your offspring, I don't understand. No. But one day I was asking her just what you looked like when you used to come a-courting. She told me where I could find some old scrap-book I guess she'd forgotten that they were done up in that letter. I opened it. I saw the first line. That's all. And you needn't begrudge it to me. I've thought gorgeous thoughts of you ever since. Dad—for all beautiful things, oh, beloved'—That's the way it began.

"If a man ever wrote such glorious words to me, I'd die on the spot."

"They will, Pat. Plenty of them will," said Richard, penetrantly aware of her sweet, glowing youth. "I hope so," sighed the girl. "Oh, I hope it!"

To Be Continued Tomorrow

Listen, World!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

I've just read a long letter bewailing the fact that family ties are so quickly broken in these rapid sanit days.

Well, maybe I'm opposed to sob in unison but frankly it sounds like great news to me.

FROM A LOT OF RED HOT OBSERVATION AND PERSONAL EXPERIENCE I'M CONVINCED THAT THE SOONER MANY FAMILY TIES ARE BROKEN, THE BETTER FOR THEM AND THEIR NEIGHBORS

Elsie Robinson

It's a beautiful theory, this idea that families should hang together, but in practice it is accountable for more cussedness than any other human institution. An appalling amount of bunk has been written about the Sacred Family Circle, but lots of them are no more sacred than a good cat fight, which they closely resemble.

The mere fact of kinship doesn't guarantee that you'll have a taste or trait in common. You're supposed to love your brother and sister but actually you may be just as congenial as a dose of hives. The grocer's wife may understand you far better than your own mother and you may really have far more admiration for the butcher than your own father! And yet, because we're related, we feel that we must hang together, though we bore and irritate each other to the point of tears.

Consider the doggoned foolishness of our attitude toward family rows. If you and a mere acquaintance consistently exasperate each other, you finally get it out of your systems in one, grand brawl and thereafter proceed to avoid each other. That is normal, healthy human behavior. But suppose that you and some member of your family continually mix? Can you firmly, and sensibly, refuse to have anything more to do with that relation? Just try it!

At once you are branded as a heartless monster by the whole community. "How could she treat her poor dear sister so!" they moan. It matters not that sister is a First Class Cat, and that they know it as well as you. She is YOUR SISTER. . . . That settles it. Therefore, you must endure each other and present a united face to the world.

And the Family Gathering is quite as deadly as the Family Row. Consider the hours and hours spent in discussing such vast matters as Hester's lumbago and Alison's fishing trip, and Rita's new neckpiece and little Johnny's measles. Or in hectoring Harry because he got a Dodge instead of a Chevy. Outside, in the busy world, there are books to be read, causes to be promoted, interesting people to be met. But there you sit with the Family, advising Daisy about her sandwich! Is not this a great way to promote human progress? Yes, it is NOT.

As for me, I decided long since that relations are humans, like other people, and that I have a right to Love 'em or Leave 'em, just as I do other acquaintances. Just because mama and papa have produced a brother or sister for me is no reason why I should have it hung on me for life. I have met dozen of people whom I like better than some of my blood kin. . . . AND I HAVE EVERY REASON TO BELIEVE THAT THIS IS THE ONE POINT ON WHICH I AND THE FAMILY ARE IN PERFECT AGREEMENT! So why bluff?

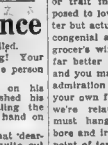
The Truth

ABOUT ACQUIRING KNOWLEDGE

By ELINOR GLYN

I HAVE been reading a book lately written by a young American friend of mine, who has been living in England a bit of the war. (I haven't it with me, so I cannot remember the name, but the heroine is called "Joan Kennedy.")

If it is ever published in America you should read it because it shows a very good picture of England's peculiar wistful charm and peace.



Elinor Glyn

Quite unconsciously it gives an object lesson upon one of my pet theories—the fate of weaklings and those who drift on with no definite aim, and no consciousness of the obligation incurred by motherhood, or any sense of the necessity of uplifting your own personal soul. If you stay at home or go abroad, girls, I would like you to have a desire to advance week by week.

To acquire knowledge and polish your sense of values is the only way. Here is an illustration of what I mean. Supposing you went into a dark museum, and lamps were slowly lit one after another, you would be surprised to find the dozens of interesting objects.

You had not perceived them in the gloom, but you would become conscious of them gradually.

Apply this similarly to the acquirement of knowledge. At first you will only recognize dimly its advantages, but presently will come the illumination.

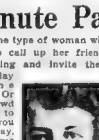
Minute Party Suppers

ARE you the type of woman who likes to call up her friends in the morning and invite them over to play bridge in the evening? Or when the crowd has been out to a show do you like to say, "Come on home with me and have a bite?" Even if you don't do this all the time, it is fun to do so occasionally



Martha Lee

But such a supper takes preparation. If you have time to do it in the morning, there is a lot of work that can be got out of the way. White sauce can be made and the meat cooked to go in it chopped. Then a simple heating of the two will provide the main food. If you want sandwiches, make the filling in the morning.

The following menu, prepared for eight people, takes a minimum of last minute preparation and yet is delicious:

CHICKEN AND OYSTER PATTIES

Potato Chips Fig Sandwiches
Salted Nuts Hawaiian Layer Cake
Coffee

CHICKEN AND OYSTER PATTIES

In the morning make a cream sauce of 1½ tbsps. of butter, 1½ tbsps. of flour, 1 cup of thin cream, ½ tsp. of salt, ½ tsp. of celery salt, and paprika. In the evening reheat in the top of a double boiler and add 1½ cup of shredded, canned pimentos, 2 cups of oysters and 2 cups of sliced chicken. Then go to boiling. Serve in patty shells.

FIG SANDWICHES

Drain the juice from a 10-ounce can of figs very thoroughly, cut them up and mash them with a fork. Add two cream cheeses, and mix together. Spread between buttered slices of whole wheat or graham bread.

Faithfully yours,
MARTHA LEE

Making Your Child's Room More Attractive

By CONSTANCE CAMERON

IN my last article we considered the ideal nursery for the infant up until he was nearly three or four years of age. Today let us see how we can easily change the nursery to suit the tastes of our five-year-old.

If you remember, we did away with the nursery in a warm gray with a cherry trim. Now we all enjoy a change in color scheme, so let us do the five-year-old's room, which is the same nursery, of course, in a good warm ivory trimmed with a tiny bit of good, bright blue.

Constance Cameron

If the linoleum shows signs of wear, replace it with ivory and blue covering. If youngster hasn't been very rough, it may do with a good washing and two coats of colorless shellac to freshen it up. Plain white curtains with a blue dot or edging will change the effect materially.

The small person will now need a good-sized desk with the best mattress and springs you can buy. Rest is most essential to a growing child.

The maple beds made like the old Colonial ones, either with spool turnings or headboards, are attractive and go with almost any kind of furnishings. A gay cretonne cover will please the tiny occupant.

Father can build another and higher bench into the low one, boards now and paint the whole affair ivory with blue edges.

A small table is almost a necessity and will be used constantly for play and will be excellent for meals for the small member of the family. Many a tea-party will be enjoyed with the table and two tiny chairs, and the doll dishes.

Another and most important addition to the furnishings will be a blackboard. If children have a legitimate place to write and draw, there will be no excuse nor inclination to use walls for this purpose. We saw an exhibition I saw one of these was made of two good-sized pieces of plaster board, painted with blackboard paint. They can easily be attached to a wall, to be removed when the child has outgrown the need of a blackboard.

Careful consideration should be given to the pictures in your child's room. We all like pictures which connect up in some way with something we like or know about. It is only the acquired sense of art which appreciates art for line and composition. Children and many grown-folks only choose pictures through their literary interest, or the story they tell or suggest. I have found that the Angelus is a favorite with young people. Pictures of animals appeal.

Framed immediately pictures which hold negative, unhappy suggestions. Let the child go through old magazines and choose many of his own pictures. The modern publications abound in well-executed, well-colored pictures which look pretty in inexpensive frames which the five-year-old may obtain at the stores which handle cheaper merchandise. Let him use his allowance for a frame or a candle for his room. You are building a home instinct then as well as giving the child a room.

Housekeeping toys will appeal to the child of this age. A toy stove, ironing board with an electric iron, rope for a clothes line, a good sized cart, wooden soldiers and animals, a small sandbox in one corner, weaving sets and modeling clay and, of course, dolls, will keep the fingers busy and happy. A miniature telephone will be used constantly in play, too.

Next we will consider how this room can be made over for the older child

Etiquette of Tipping

By MRS. BEECKMAN

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1—Will you please tell me if it is correct to tip the "boss" barber or only his assistants?

2—What is the correct position to hold the hands when they are not being used at table? R. W.

1—The customary idea is that one does not fee the owner of a barber shop or any other such establishment. But there really is no definite rule about this and it depends on the circumstances and on the type of place it is. Indeed, I am interested to see how the owners and heads of many establishments are meeting this tipping issue; they are not to be tipped. I have noticed often now that one price is charged you if you have an assistant do your work, and a much higher price is assessed if you have the head or owner of the place.

2—In the lap.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: Is it proper to take pickles from the plate on which they are passed and eat with the fingers?

2. When the so-called oyster crackers, about the size of a ten-cent piece, are served with soup, what is the proper way of taking them from the dish in which they are passed?

CURIOUS

On the dish with the pickles should be placed, if the service is perfect, a silver utensil that is convenient for the size of pickles. Often the double serving method is used: that is, the serving set for the pickles, if there is one, and the fork. This is the rather long-handled, deep-bowled, pierced spoon and fork and the two pronged fork on the right. These are most convenient. If either or both are placed with the pickles, serve yourself and take the pickles onto the bread-and-butter plate, or if there is one on your dinner plate. If they are tiny pickles, they may be eaten with the fingers, but they are best eaten with the fork.

3. There should be placed in the dish or with it a spoon for serving yourself to these crackers. If there is none, you take a few with your fingers.

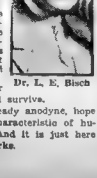
Hope Is Ever Like a Healing Ointment

By Louis E. Bisch, M.D., Ph.D.
Famous Authority on Health and Psychology.

IT is self-evident truth that we could not live without hope. Hope is like healing ointment on a wound. It soothes, quiets, lessens the sting of disappointment and failure.



Dr. L. E. Bisch

Hope keeps us going, it propels our imagination into the future, it promises us respite and contentment, it rouses our downcast spirits and makes us stick.

Were it not for hope few could survive.

As an ever-ready anodyne, hope is a blessed characteristic of human nature. And it is just here that danger lurks.

It is so easy to conjure up false hopes!

At one time or another probably everyone, without exception, has built on hope only to find it tumble to the ground like a house of cards. Then what happened?

You were more miserable and despairing than ever. You felt forlorn and forsaken. You became convinced you could not trust your own childish fancies. You may even have said: "My only hope is gone!"

Of course, you regained your balance. Your mind somehow got round the disappointment. You turned your face to the sun, smiled and went ahead.

But! Wasn't it just a wee bit harder to hope again? Did not that shattered hope leave in its wake something of disillusionment, of worldly-wise detachment, of dampened ardor, perhaps even a touch of cynicism?

Hope all you can, but do not build upon the shifting sands of possibility. Hope on probabilities! Don't take chances!

Always figure out carefully, honestly and without flinching, whether you are justified in hoping!

Consider the thousands who have hoped to become great musicians when common sense might have told them they lacked the necessary ability.

Imagine the numbers of people who hope some day to be extremely wealthy, their childish trust in such fanciful hope being the very avenue of approach through which unprincipled speculators fleece them of the little they possess.

Hundreds want to write plays, novels, moving picture scenarios or even invent something startling. Their only preparation for such achievements being, however, hope!

How often young men and women flock to the large centres all ready to set the city on fire with what they intend to accomplish. But what have they in stock? Of what does the imaginative fireworks consist? Nothing but hope!

And be careful about creating false hope in others!

Better tell the truth, even if it hurts, than lead people on—hopefully—until too late to mend the damage done.

People grasp at hope eagerly, needily

And when it is mustending hope it almost amounts to living a lie to take care how you handle hope. Use it sensibly and wisely. Always figure whether you have a right to hope if you would avoid torturing heartaches

Hope is a blessed humane trait but it must be built upon a foundation of facts.

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

The Boston Evening American will pay $1 for published smart sayings. Address "Smart Sayings," Boston Evening American.

"Mother," asked little Jack, "is it correct to say that you water a horse when it is thirsty?"

"Yes, dear," replied his mother.

"Well, then," said Jack, picking up a saucer, "I'm going to milk the cat."

Bluffs Last Short Time

By LUCY LOWELL

MISS LEILA M— who lives and works in Boston—writes me that she is discouraged.

"Miss Lowell, writes Leila, "but I am conscientious and my work really is important to the office which employs me. But there is a manager — one of those men who cultivate a breezy manner and a smile — and something ought to be done about him. When things go right he takes all the credit but when things go wrong he shoves off the responsibility on someone else. And that someone usually is myself, since I am next in line.

Lucy Lowell

"As I say, something ought to be done about him—but what? And who is to do it, since no one would be safe in going over his head? Please give me your advice."

Advice, my dear Leila, is more easily asked than given on this particular heart-breaking problem.

Did you think your position unique? My dear, there are hundreds of buck-passers besides your breezy-mannered manager.

And there are hundreds of conscientious hard workers lost sight of in the shuffle while folks like him bluff their way into favor with a, "We're coming through, boss—we're sure delivering the goods!" I can imagine how hearty that sounds to the boss—and how hollow to you.

But did you ever stop to think that bluff, after all, is no more than empty air? No substance to something it at all—and truth touches it. Then it explodes like a pricked balloon and when this happens to one who thinks to promote himself by bluff—or by buck-passing, which is essentially the same thing—usually moves rapidly to the floor.

It seems a long, long while to wait sometimes for this to happen. But it does and it always does happen.

Accordingly, if you think it worth while to wait, Leila, and will try to be very patient, I believe your problem will solve itself some fine day soon.

Fads and Fashions

Diamonds are Trumps in the hosiery world. The glittering parade of formal wear is to be augmented by diamond studded stockings. These hose are of cobweb silk and are offered in black and sunburn, with diamond studded clocks in a variety of intriguing designs.

A brown study is the result of amber costume jewelry with a brown outfit. One lovely set is of antique amber with flat disks with faceted edges. The bracelet is of beautifully carved amber disks, and the carved earrings are much darker. Cloudy and Chinese red amber are seen.

A new merger is that of white chiffon and red fox fur for an evening gown. Shown recently was a lovely frock of that material with a flaring peplum edged with a lavish border of the fur. The skirt was composed of ruffles and was posed over an underskirt of white satin.

A dual personality is the attribute of the new bags from Vienna that are reversible. These bags are developed in gay colors and the square fastening that secures the bag revolves to release it so that it can be turned inside out. Turn back corners indicate the contrasting colors.

Noted Tenor Will Sing Tonight at Debut of Miss Mary Ryerson Frost

Miss Rosamond Holton | Miss Constance Young | Miss Edith Milton

Miss Elizabeth Gray Morison and Miss Helena Apthorp Thompson Feted

THE SECOND LARGE BALL of the week is taking place this evening in honor of Miss Mary Ryerson Frost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McK. Frost of Exeter at and Frostfield Dover. The interesting feature of the evening is the musicale which is to commence at 9.30. Mr. Edward Johnson, famous tenor, is to sing. The ushers' dinner is to take place at the Chilton Club. The ushering corps in charge of F. Murray Forbes, Jr., include Alexander Forbes, Roger Warner, Jr., Moses Williams, Jr., Sargent Collier, Thomas Whiteside, Beekman Pond, F. Essenden Wilde, Augustin H. Parker, Thomas L. Robinson, Potter Palmer 3d, Percy Musgrave, Charles Jackson, Jr., Hiram Sibley, Nathan Hayward, Jr., Palmer H. Fulcher, George C. Homans, Edwin A. Locke, Jr., Thomas U. Perkins, Jr., Alden F. Megrew, Howard T. Swain, Jr., Daniel Merriman 2d, Charles F. Bond, Richard Hale, Jr., Robert Livermore, Robert McDowell, J. Quincy Adams, Walter Channing, Jr., Budd E. Potter, Wyndham Southgate and J. Brooks Fenno.

THESE popular society girls are shown wearing the costumes they modelled in at the Florence Crittenden Bazaar fashion show which was held at the Copley-Plaza.

MISS ELIZABETH GRAY MORISON and Miss Helena Apthorp Thompson made their debut this afternon at a tea dance at the Women's Republican Club. Their respective mothers, Mrs. Samuel E. Morison of Brimmer st., and Mrs. Henry Thompson of Fairhaven Hill, Concord, were becomingly gowned, the former in black velvet combined with lace, and Mrs. Thompson in ecru lace. Miss Morison had chosen to wear chartreuse green; Miss Thompson eggshell; both dresses were evening ones of moire, fashioned long in back.

Miss Sylvia Grinnell of New Bedford Is Presented at Hub Dance

THE CHARMING BEVY OF pourers was headed by Miss Juliet E. B. Greene of Commonwealth ave., and included Miss Elizabeth Holmes, Miss Pauline Shaw, Miss Lorraine Warner, Miss Leslie Grinnell, Miss Mary Lovering, Miss Frances Burnett, Miss Lois Lindon Smith, Miss Mary Potter, Miss Pauline DePries, Miss Betty Blake, Miss Jean Lamont Proctor, Miss Dorothea Newman, Miss Alice Dalton, Miss Mary Bigelow, Miss Mary Cleveland, Miss Elizabeth Busley, Miss Rebecca Hallowell, Miss Barbara Wendell, Miss Hope Richardson, Miss Katherine Davis, Miss Rachel Coolidge, Miss Nancy Fitzwilliam and Miss Mary Thompson.

ABOUT TWO HUNDRED and fifty guests attended the dance last night at which Mrs. Lawrence Grinnell of New Bedford presented her daughter, Miss Sylvia Grinnell, to Boston society. Miss Grinnell has been considered as a member of our this year's coterie of buds, so frequently has she been the guest at the many coming out parties which have already taken place. In a gown of white moire interwoven with threads of silver and gold and carrying a bouquet of talisman roses, the new debutante received her guests, and was with her mother hostess at the dinner of 28 which preceded the dance. Those having the honor of ushering were in charge of Lawrence Grinnell, Jr. They were: Charles G. D. Breckenridge, Waldo Howland, Samuel Lane, Channing Frothingham, Jr., James L. Madden, George W. Gibson, Edward L. Francis, Frederick Grinnell, David C. Forbes, Frederick L. W. Richardson, Jr., J. Harleston Parker, Jr., Joseph Frothingham, Nathaniel Parkinson, Sumner Putnam and John G. Lewis.

Swallow-Tail Coats, Worn With Long Skirted Afternoon Frocks, One of Fashion's Latest Hits

Helps to Preserve the Straight Svelte Line

Paris Bureau of the Boston Evening American

PARIS, France, Nov. 15—Even if one swallow does not make a summer, several swallow-tails are helping to make quite a winter for a clever couturiere who has created a coat that helps solve the problem of how to cover the long-skirted afternoon frock without acquiring a clumsy or bulging line in the coat.

However long or full the skirt, the straight svelte line must be preserved, if one is to present a figure which is part of the very decorative scheme of beauty to which every woman is expected to contribute through the medium of her personality, expressed by her poise and appearance. Dress has become more than an art, it is a science.

Jenny is the couturiere responsible for the swallow-tail coat, the first sketch of which we hasten to send you. This model is of long-napped broadcloth in lustrous black with black broadcloth, trimmed with black lynx that fashions the huge collar, and the bands around the elbow on each sleeve.

The swallow-tail opening is not very pronounced, but it certainly makes it much easier to wear the rather fuller skirts of formal daytime frocks, and in itself helps to create a coat of smart silhouette.

(SKETCHED IN PARIS)

THE very graceful evening gown is from the establishment of Maggy Rouff. It consists of a tight-fitting body of black and silver lace, having a large flower design in shades of rose and green.

A FLUTTERING flounce of black chiffon edges each side of the deep decolletage and ripples down to join fine chiffon flounces which form the skirt and trail in a short, pointed train. This model, called "Camelia," is worn with black suede gloves of elbow length.

EVENING New York Stocks AMERICAN News of Street MARKETS

CONFIDENCE OF PUBLIC IS WON IN WALL ST.

By FRANK H. MELOON
Financial Editor

Signs that Wall Street had won back public confidence, at least for the time being, were not lacking in yesterday's transactions. Industrial stocks closed around the day's top, after rallies running into high ends of a share. Wall Street belief was rampant that the backbone of the bear movement had been broken, forced selling mostly cleaned up and faith in the soundness of leading security prices restored.

A few more days of rising markets will place hundreds of stocks on a more reasonable selling price level in relation to current and near-future earnings, according to the bulls. Future developments in trade and industry are expected to help in maintaining this rally.

Thomas Nelson Perkins is acting president of the Boston & Maine since the untimely death of the great constructive genius, George Hannauer. Who will be the permanent president remains unknown. Mayor F. W. Hartford of Portsmouth, N. H., well known publisher, suggests the election of John J. Pelley, president of the New Haven, as president of the Boston & Maine, believing that would be a practical step toward the New England railroad unification which so many desire.

Now that the stock market hysteria is subsiding, plans for bank mergers will go forward briskly. Stockholders' meeting of the First National Bank will be held December 14 to act on the consolidation with the Old Colony Trust Co. Following the approval by stockholders of Old Colony Trust Co. the merger with First National Bank of Boston, and as one step in consummation of the plan, Old Colony Trust Co. has entered into a contract with the newly-organized Old Colony National Bank of Boston, providing for acquisition by latter of assets which are to go to the First National Bank. Capital stock of the new bank, consisting of 200,000 shares of $5 par value has been issued to Old Colony Trust Co. and distributed by it to its stockholders. This distribution is a dividend in partial liquidation of Old Colony Trust. Par value of latter's shares has been reduced to $10 a share.

Early this week we declared that exaggerated stories about the automotive situation were being handed out by Wall Street bears and that more cars would be registered next year than in 1929. Confirmation of our own idea is held by Alvan Macauley, president of Packard and the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, who says: "No shakeup in the stock market can more than temporarily check the forward march of the motor car. It would be foolish to say that the recent events will not have some effect us. They have affected us, just as all business has always responded to periods of inflation and depression.

"But there has always been one peculiarity about the motor car business. It has always inflated ahead of any inflation period and it has never declined in proportion with other businesses in periods of depression. I am confident that it will be so this time.

"It is my thought that we shall have a quiet period until the first of the year, at the time of the opening of the show industry will see the interest and stimulation that has always attended shows will start our business again on an upward march to still greater things."

* * *

E. T. Strong, president and general manager of another big motor company, says economic conditions point to an unusually bright year for the automotive industry. "There is every indication, in general economic conditions throughout the country that the coming months will show a reasonably high degree of prosperity. The need for automobile transportation continues to grow—and the product itself is finer than ever before."

* * *

Massachusetts is expected to pass the million mark in registrations this year for the first time. The Bay State would have passed that mark last year but our compulsory insurance law has kept many old cars off the road, incidentally sending them to the scrapheap sooner than is the case in other states. The economic loss in this direction is undoubtedly large but few will deny that it makes for great safety of travel, and many believe the compulsory insurance ought to be extended so as to cover property damage as well as personal injury. There are also those who think compulsory insurance ought to be repealed.

New York Stock Exchange

HIGHER PRICES ARE THE RULE IN WALL ST.

New York, Nov. 15—Higher prices were the rule in today's transactions on the New York Stock Exchange.

The sustained character of the first good rally in weeks sufficed to restore public confidence when combined with numerous other favorable developments in the past two days.

Blocks of from 5000 to 12,000 shares changed hands in early trading with buying assuming a most bullish tone. There was even talk in Wall St., as the bargain hunters rushed in, of the elimination of bullish pools for the favorites selling at too greatly deflated values.

The optimism in Wall St. was in marked contrast to the gloom of past weeks.

Call money renewed at 5¼ per cent, the highest renewal rate since August 17, 1928.

Sharp gains also took place in bank stocks which are traded over the counter. Initial advances in leading New York bank shares ranged from 10 to 120 a share.

Strong buying poured into the market with initial gains running from 2 to 12 points. The wild short covering movement was absent, and the buying was therefore of an even more impressive character.

The reduction in the New York rediscount rate to 4½ from 5 per cent was taken as a step toward the elimination of $710,000,000, carrying the total to the lowest level since June, 1928. Together with further assurances from Washington of an income tax cut, were prime factors inspiring renewed confidence.

Missouri Pacific common, R. H. Macy and Safeway Stores rose 5 points, 4 points, and Case Threshing 10. Missouri Pacific preferred, Texas Gulf, American Tobacco B, Bausman Nodak and North American can sold 6 points or more higher, and General Electric soon increased its gain to 8 points.

Shares showing early gains of 2 or 3 points included General Motors, Chrysler, Texas Corp., Texas Gulf, Columbia Gas, National Cash Register, Chicago Northwestern and Illinois Central.

American Telephone, after opening ½ point lower, soon showed a gain, and U. S. Steel extended its rise.

Underwood Elliott Fisher, directors of which increased the annual dividend from $4 to $5 yesterday, quickly soared $13 a share. Other Manhattan and J. I. Case extended their initial gains to $10 a share. Missouri Pacific Common and Preferred, Gould, Allied Chemical, Stone & Webster American Tobacco B, R. R. Macy, Eastman Kodak, Electric Auto-Lite, Bethlehem Steel, North American and Allied Chemical sold $6 to $8 a share higher in the first hour of trading.

Profit taking appeared in late trading, forcing numerous issues below their early high levels.

BOND MARKET IS HIGHER

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Liquidation of bonds for the benefit of stock market operations appeared to have run its course today and prices turned upward under the leadership of the Liberties and Treasury certificates, many of which made new highs for the year.

Further favorable developments in the credit situation gave added strength to the market's position. The reduction in brokers' loans, the cut in the New York rediscount rate, a new Bank's rediscount rate and further easement in bankers' acceptances, together with the appearance of a 5¼ per cent renewal rate for call money, the lowest in more than a year, made for increased confidence.

Bonds of the undertone of time money was again easier, and leading dealers were reported as bidding their 5 per cent rate could be placed on short term paper, and 6 per cent the maximum for long term accommodation.

There were still a few soft spots scattered through the general list, but gains far outnumbered losses during the earlier part of ten three-hour session. Advances of 1 to 3 points developed in the rail group, notably in Southern Railway A and 6½s, St. Louis San Francisco 4s and 4½s.

Erie 5s, St. Paul 5s and adjustment 5s and Denver Rio Grande Western first 4s were the big buying orders brought fractional improvement to New York Central 3s and 3½s, Pennsylvania General 4½s, Illinois Central 4½s and other high grade bonds affected by the recent declines.

Vote Next Thursday on Acushnet Mills

New Bedford, Nov. 15—The question of liquidating the assets of the Acushnet Mills Corp will be placed before the stockholders at the annual meeting next Thursday. It is understood that the directors plan only partial liquidation, disposing of the No. 3 mill and continuing operations in the No. 1 plant.

The corporation is capitalized at $1,600,000 and has paid no dividends since the first quarter of 1928.

Paris Bourse Firm

Paris, Nov. 15 (AP)—Today's opening on the Paris bourse was generally firm and showed an active continuation of yesterday's improvement. The three per cent rentes were quoted at 80.20 and the five per cent loan at 106.80.

Buy Cheap, Sell Dear; That's How Money Is Made

Vanderbilt Never Waited for Last Eighth; Don't Be Stampeded

—By B. C. FORBES—

B. C. Forbes

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Commodore Vanderbilt, when asked his secret for getting rich in the stock market, replied, "Never try, when either buying or selling, to get the last eighth."

This is a timely reminder for many people who are commencing to think that stocks are bargains at current prices but who are waiting in the hope of being able to buy at the bottom eighth.

Set this down as absolutely certain. Stocks will not always remain available at present panic prices.

The time has come to call a halt on needless throwing over of good stocks. Obviously, much if not most of the dumping during the earlier stages was the panic merchandise forced selling. Far too many refused to listen to words of caution and kept on climbing for chance at higher and still higher prices. They operated on the shallow, unfourish theory that because stocks were going up they would continue to go up and up. They were not buying for investment. They were simply gambling. They bought solely with the idea of reselling at a profit, usually a quick profit.

Forced selling, however, by such dabblers in the market premature was largely over before this week. It is very significant that the more recent liquidation has been more violent in the market's leading stocks, notably the highest-priced varieties.

This clearly suggests that the selling has come, not from Tom, Dick and Harry throughout the country, but from much more influential sources. Bluntly, it has had all the earmarks of institutional selling.

Misguided little speculators had no choice in most instances; they simply were sold out. Because they could not furnish called-for margins But banks which tided customers over the hysterical days of the panic are open to condemnation when they avoidably throw high-grade investment stocks into the market at sacrifice prices during the conditions which have ruled pandemic the week. Selling from important sources has been so insistent that "new lows" have been registered by innumerable issues.

By the exercise of businesslike prudence much of this latest disastrous decline surely could have been avoided. The ruthless choice investment stocks today is to sacrifice the best interests of their owners. Such action, where calmness and common sense could have averted it, is deserving of the severest censure.

Queer notions widely prevail concerning securities. When a housewife goes out to buy food or clothes or furniture or anything else she tries to obtain the lowest possible prices consistent with quality. When you or I want to buy, say, a horse, we take the price into consideration and are influenced to make the deal if the price be lowered.

But the lower stock prices become the less attractive they are in the eyes of most people. They tumble over themselves to buy stocks when they are high and run away when stocks—even the same stocks—become cheap.

But now that these and other stocks have dropped to half price or less in most cases, and in all cases to levels far below their intrinsic value, the whole feverish impetus is not to buy at these distinctly good attractive prices but to sell.

Could anything be more foolish? It could not occur and would not occur if calm reasoning set in.

Do you imagine for a moment that George F. Baker or Secretary Mellon or J. P. Morgan or John D. Rockefeller or the Fisher Brothers or other men of great wealth are unloading their investment securities at these panic quotations? You can safely assume that they are buying, not selling.

Why, even Jesse L. Livermore, noted for the fortunes he has reaped on the bear side of the market, is out with a statement that the decline has gone ridiculously far and that from now on he will be found on the buying side. He declares:

"Leading stocks, with good dividend records and a certain future are on the bargain counter right now. Many of them have been driven down too far. People throughout the country have become panic-stricken and are now throwing their sound securities over without regard to values. To my mind the situation should go no further. . . . Many good stocks will be found on the exchange list which yield 8 to 10 per cent. Yet we have seen within the last few days the stocks of these securities thrown on the open market by sellers, many of whom had no other reason than that they had been gripped by fear."

Fear never yet made any man rich.
